Rationing Put Into Effect In Berlin Crisis

U. S. Will Expand Air Service As Russian Blockade Continues

BERLIN, June 27 (AP)—Americans and Britons in Berlin were subjected to partial rationing today as the Russian land blockade of the city went into its second week.

Western Berlin has only a month's food reserves. Except for relatively small cargoes carried by planes and barges, supply shipments from Western Germany for the 2,000,000 Berliners in the American, British and French sectors remained shut off.

However, the United States Air Force's emergency cargo service into Templehof airport will be expanded to 100 planes daily, bringing in as many essential items as possible for the German population in addition to supplies for Americans here, it was said.

British transport officials said four barges loaded with flour for the German population arrived today and another 20 were "in the pipeline." They said they had no explanation why the Russians were permitting a few barges to pass after a thorough inspection at the zonal boundary and yet were halting all land traffic.

Maj. Gen. E. O. Herbert, the British commandant, announced the British army and control commission are introducing economies to save food, power and other supplies during the crisis. He forbade large parties. American authorities announced similar measures.

Germans looked to the Western Allies for decisive assurances that American, British and French troops will maintain their positions as joint occupiers here.

39 C-54s Ordered To Germany

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—The Air Force is sending a fleet of big transport planes to Germany to help supply the Berlin area which the Russians have cut off from normal surface contacts.

About 39 C-54 Skymasters, capable of carrying about seven tons per flight on the Berlin run, will be dispatched. The C-54 is the military counterpart of the commercial DC-4.

The planes will start within 24 hours. Air Force officers said, leaving their bases singly or in groups as they are readied.

Three-Power Step Expected

LONDON, June 27 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France are expected by qualified diplomatic sources to carry their attempt to solve the Berlin crisis direct to the Kremlin.

A Foreign Office spokesman said tonight that a joint three-power approach to Moscow is "in the cards," but no final decision has been made.

If such a step is taken, the three Western Powers possibly might ask the Russians for their views on how the problem can be settled.

But there was no indication here that the Americans, the British or the French intend to withdraw from Berlin.

Filipino Actress, Maid Slain; Killer Is Named

MANILA, Monday, June 28. (AP)—Dark-haired Lilian Velez, beautiful Filipino radio and film star, and her maid were stabbed to death early Sunday and a few hours later the actress' four-year-old daughter named the slayer.

Later, Film Actor Narding Anzures appeared at the home of Manila Mayor Manuel De La Fuente and announced he was surrendering voluntarily. Police said earlier they were seeking Anzures for questioning.

The child, Vivian Velez, told police she saw her mother slain.

Another maid said the slayer entered the house by cutting a window screen with an old hunting knife. Vivian told Manila police and constabularymen that she was peeking through a crack of her bedroom door when the man entered the room.

She said he stabbed the actress and that her mother "ran to my room."

TELLS OF ATTACK--At Tel Aviv airport in Israel, Count Folke Bernadotte (arrow), United Nations mediator, tells reporters of his protest to Egypt after Spitfire planes had fired on a white truce plane similar to the one in the photo. The craft, piloted by Lt. Col. M. L. Martin, Bluefield, W. Va., was hit by 15 bullets as it landed.

Czech Socialists Swallowed Up By Communist Party

Gottwald Continues As Party Chieftain

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 27. (AP) — The Communist Party swallowed up the 60-year-old Czech Social Democratic Party today. The ceremonies were held amid the blood red trappings of Lucerna Hall, largest auditorium in central Prague.

Delegates of the two parties, sitting beneath photographs of the prophets of Socialism, ratified the union, which threw another 250,000 party members into the Communist cardholder ranks. The Communist Party name was retained.

President Klement Gottwald, a Communist, continues as chairman of the combined parties, whose membership now is more than 1,750,000.

Rudolf Slansky, a powerful political figure and one of the founders of the Cominform, is the secretary-general. Deputy Premier Zdenex Fierlinger, the left-wing Social Democrat who led his party into the fusion after throwing out right wingers in the February revolt, is to be vice chairman of the merged parties.

Every mention of Gottwald's name drew prolonged cheering and applause, matched only by the response to a "long live General Stalin" voiced by one speaker.

Photographs of Marx, Engels, Lenin, Stalin and Gottwald were flanked by Communist Party flags. The three ranks of tables on the dais were draped in red.

The badge of the Social Democratic Party, which looks like a Rotary Club emblem surmounted by three heads of wheat, hung alongside the Czechoslovak Communist emblem.

Some foreign visitors were in the galleries.

Outside, a half block away, thousands of youths paraded through the Vaclavski Namesti in a Sokol demonstration celebrating the first international congress of the 80-year-old physical culture society since the war. Only the Czechoslovak flag, the Sokol flag and two American flags were seen in the parade.

The Sokol traditionally has been conservative, but all classes consider the Sokol a national institution. A delegation of Czechs from the United States was among the paraders.

Capitol Policeman Is Shot In Gun Battle

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP) — Fred J. Crenshaw, 66-year old member of the Capitol Police Force, was critically wounded today in an early morning gun duel with an unidentified man.

Crenshaw, a native of Walhalla, S. C., was struck in the chest and abdomen. The policeman was found lying on the ground near the Senate wing of the Capitol building by a Marine, who told officers he rushed to the spot after hearing five shots.

Jewelry Missing

Stranger Plays Hide-Seek With Boys—But For Keeps

HOLLYWOOD, June 27 — (AP)— Two youngsters told their parents today of the fun they had playing hide and seek with a stranger. The parents told police the stranger had been playing for keeps — $17,500 worth of jewelry.

Detective K. T. Belcher said the parents and boys reported it happened this way:

A man rang the bell at the home of Ben J. Weinberg Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Weinburg were out but their son, Howard, 9, and a playmate, Roger Camras, 8, went to the door.

The man gave his name as "Robbins" and asked the boys if they could use $10 apiece. The boys said sure.

"Okay," said the man, "we'll play hide and seek. I'll hide the $10 bills and if you kids can find them you can keep them. Now go into the bathroom and close your eyes."

The boys did. Then at a signal from the stranger they began to hunt. While they were looking he left and they kept up the search until bedtime.

This morning Howard told his parents about the game. Mrs. Weinberg rushed to her jewel box in a bedroom closet. She reported that a platinum bracelet covered with 287 diamonds and a valuable ring were missing.

There was a $10 bill under the jewel box but the Weinbergs haven't found the other one yet.

Fisherman Rides Whale After His Boat Is Attacked

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., June 27—(AP)—A 17-year-old lobster fisherman today came up with a whale story worthy of the pen of Herman Melville.

Frank Cabral, Jr., who says he isn't too familiar with Melville's thrilling stories of the old whaling days, insists his boat was hurled into the air by a whale. Frank and boat were thrown some 15 feet, he estimated. He landed on the whale's broad back.

Grasping a precarious handhold on the mammal's slippery back, Frank said he hung on while the whale sped along the surface.

The big fish sounded, Frank continued, and the young fisherman almost went down with it. However, he said he managed to swim clear and made for his dory floating nearby.

For proof of his amazing yarn, Frank pointed to a four-foot hole in his dory and scraps of blubber under his fingernails.

Span Withstands Rio Grande Flood

ZAPATA, Tex., June 27 (AP) — Zapata's little suspension bridge linking Texas and Mexico today withstood the raging flood waters of the Rio Grande.

Harvey Cunningham, inspector of customs at Zapata, said the Rio Grande reached a flood crest of 45 feet at 4 p. m. today, levelled off and a short time later began to recede slowly.

In normal times the Rio Grande is little more than a lazy creek.

He said the bridge would open for traffic at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

Carl E. Linde, Associated Press photographer, flying over the flooded Rio Grande today, said the river was "away out of its banks, especially at the bends in the river."

Linde said he didn't see any flooded houses along the stream between Laredo and Zapata.

"They don't expect any great damage downstream," he said.

Cunningham said the bridge at Zapata was closed early today after it was deemed unsafe. Only officials and persons on business were allowed to cross, he said.

"Amateur radios sent messages in here early yesterday that the flood was on its way," he said. "The sheriff was notified and runners went up and down the river warning people to move out."

So far no loss of life has been reported along the river as the result of the flood, which began last Thursday when torrential rains fell in the Del Rio area, approximately 200 miles upstream.

Irrigation farms on both sides of the river suffered crop losses. River shacks were washed away. Many families were made homeless. Some livestock and poultry were lost.

11 Youths Beat Man And Rape Companion

NEW YORK, June 27. — (AP) — Eleven teen-aged youths beat a man unconscious and then raped his woman companion early today on Manhattan's east side, police reported.

All the youths have jobs and none has been arrested before, police said. Ten were held in $1,000 bail each pending hearings Wednesday when arraigned in Felony Court on rape charges. The eleventh, under 16, will be arraigned tomorrow.

The victims, seated on a park bench when the gang attacked them, were identified as a 36-year-old woman and a 49-year-old man. Police said the youths slugged the man unconscious, then seized the woman, ripped off her clothes and raped her.

1,000-Mile Sunday Spin

Army, Preparing For Draft, Faces Officer Shortage

Enlisted Reservists Asked To Volunteer

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — The Army is hastening to line up instructors, officers and training facilities to handle its expansion in troop strength. It is having serious trouble getting enough officers.

Looking to the buildup of the Army to 12 divisions (from a present three) by the end of 1949, the Army has asked enlisted reservists, who are veterans of World War II, to volunteer for nine to 12 months service in the United States. These veterans are needed in the training of inductees.

At the same time, the Army is planning to accept applications from reserve officers for active duty at the rate of about 1,250 a month for some months to come. This would help increase the officer personnel in line with the proposed expansion of the Army to 837,000 from its present 548,000 level.

Officer Shortage Looms

But Army Department officials said today there is a "critical shortage" of officers in prospect, not only medical and dental officers but the junior grade line officers. Estimates are that as high 30,000 will be needed—and existing applications for active duty are well below that total. The difficulty in getting junior grade officers—lieutenants and captains particularly—is that the pay offered by the Army is below competing wages of business and industry.

The Army still remained silent about the total number of wartime camps to be reopened for training inductees. It was disclosed, however, that a total of eight special training centers are planned for training by divisions — with four already operating at Camp Dix, N. J.; Fort Knox, Kentucky; Fort Ord, Calif., and Fort Jackson, S. C. But the Army during recent months has pulled back from the list of installations up for surplus sale between 15 and 20 camps. From these it is expected that some will be reactivated for use as training camps, in addition to the eight division centers.

Enlistees Pose Problem

Aside from the draft inductees, the 19 through 25 year age bracket, the armed forces must reckon on handling up to 161,000 18-year olds who, while not subject to induction, may volunteer for one year of training in the services. The Army will take up to 110,000. Its problem won't be too great; it can give them basic training needed by ground soldiers.

But the Air Force isn't quite sure what it can do with the 15,000 youngsters it must accept. It can give them basic training, but a year is too short for giving them any specialized instruction in aviation.

The Navy probably will train its 18-year-old volunteers ashore, then let them go without any sea duty.

BOMBAY, India, June 27. (AP)—The newspaper Harijan said today that Hiralal M. Gandhi, 61, eldest son of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi died June 19 in Bombay.

GOP Leaders Laud Platform And Nominees

Vandenberg "Happy"; Democrats And CIO Hit Congress Record

[By The Associated Press]

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg and other leading Republicans rallied to their party cause yesterday. Both their 1948 platform and the record of the Republican Congress were again under fire from Democratic and CIO critics.

Sen. Vandenberg, who had been talked of as a possible nominee for President, returned to Washington from his convention labors saying "I am completely happy about the Philadelphia results."

He praised Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Gov. Earl Warren as fine men to lead the GOP ticket and the country. From his background as a top leader in the country's bi-partisan foreign policy, he told a reporter that the party's platform is "an unequivocal commitment to international co-operation for peace and security."

"Liberal," Baldwin Says

Sen. Baldwin (R-Conn) said in a radio talk:

"It's a very, very liberal platform. As to the Democratic Party's convention upcoming, I don't know what it's going to be because the Democrats have liberals, radicals and conservatives in unhappy combination."

Sen. Morse (R-Ore), who sometimes strays from the party's fold in the Senate, said in another radio talk that the old guard philosophy died in the Philadelphia convention.

"We can now look for a good many years of constitutional liberalism because Dewey and Warren are of liberal thought," Morse said. He added that the Republican platform guarantees that the government will "protect the politically weak and the economically weak against the politically strong and economically strong."

Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath saw the "old guard" as still strong in the Republican Party.

"Joe Grundy can still dictate the choice of a Republican convention in a series of 'smoke filled room' deals," McGrath said in a statement. He said Grundy, former senator and a power in Pennsylvania politics, engineered the choice of Dewey for the presidential nomination.

CIO Promises Voting Guide

The CIO News published an article saying that the "bad outweighs the good" in the record of the 80th Congress. It promised soon a voting guide with the records of lawmakers of major issues.

The CIO, and other elements of organized labor, are fighting the re-election of lawmakers who helped pass the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said meanwhile that Congress saved $2,741,481,291 for the taxpayers by lopping off money from President Truman's request.

Taber said in a statement that everywhere in the Truman administration "there is complete confusion and inefficiency."

Democrats got set to follow the Republicans into Philadelphia July 12. The District of Columbia will pick a six-vote delegation to the Democratic convention in a primary today. Virginia Democrats will complete the national delegate slate of 1,234 by choosing a 26-vote delegation Friday.

President Truman now has 670 pledged and claimed delegates. He would need 618 votes for nomination.

Five Held After Attack On Virginia Trooper

WISE, Va., June 27 (AP)—A Virginia state trooper was beaten into unconsciousness and thrown into a 40-foot ravine near Carfax, a Wise County mining community, today.

By late afternoon, posses of state and county police had arrested five men of the Carfax section and charged them with felonious assault.

The trooper, Cotton Williams, was not seriously injured and took part in the hunt for his assailants.

The attack followed by 16 days Gov. Tuck's order to Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond to take personal charge of the prosecution of 178 miners in nearby Buchanan County charged with a mob assault on a non-union strip mine.

Portuguese Says He Gave A-Bomb Plan To U. S. In '41

LISBON, Portugal, June 27 (AP)—A Portuguese scientist declared today he invented an atomic bomb and gave the plans for it to the United States in 1941.

The scientist, Artur De Albuquerque, told newsmen he had handed the plans to the United States "through the military attache at Lisbon, Col. (Robert A.) Solborg."

"My French assistant, Pierre Joseph Du Pont, carried out the first practical experiments in the Pyrenees," Albuquerque added, "exploding a tiny bomb that provoked a small earth tremor."

Dewey Relaxes On His N. Y. Farm

PAWLING, N. Y., June 27 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today put aside the harassment of political strife for the first time in weeks and spent a leisurely Sunday with his family.

The Deweys attended services at picturesque Christ Church on Quaker Hill, near his Pawling farm, and chatted with neighbors there for half an hour afterwards.

Then the Republican presidential nominee drove back to his farm with Mrs. Dewey and their two sons, ate a quiet dinner, took an afternoon nap and read the Sunday papers.

Mrs. Dewey is still suffering from a slight cold which persisted during the Philadelphia convention. The Governor said he was sure she would be all right after a good rest.

Although Dewey has no appointments on his schedule, he said he expects to discuss campaign strategy with his running-mate, Gov. Earl Warren, either here or at Albany before Warren returns to California.

Dewey said he had not had time for a real talk with Warren at Philadelphia. He will work on state business at his farm tomorrow and probably go to Albany about Wednesday.

He probably will take a formal vacation in July or August. He has not indicated where he'll go.

Md. Physician Reports New Drug Cures Typhoid

BALTIMORE, June 27. (AP)—Use of a new drug that can cure typhoid fever within three days was reported today by a Maryland physician and an Army doctor.

The drug, derived from a fungus, is chloromycetin. It has been administered successfully to 13 typhoid fever sufferers since its power over that disease came to light in Malaya last spring.

The drug was described by Dr. Theodore E. Woodward, of the University of Maryland's School of Medicine, and Col. Rufus L. Holt, commandant of the Army Medical Department Research and Graduate School in Washington, D. C.

Three National Guard Airmen Die In Crash

BLYTHE, Calif., June 27. (AP)—Three National Guard airmen were killed and two others parachuted to safety when two planes collided today.

The collision occurred directly over this city. Wreckage of the planes, a P-51 Mustang fighter and an A-26 bomber, fell outside the town and burning parts were scattered over a quarter-mile desert area.

National Guard officials withheld names of the dead pending notification of kin. The planes, based at Van Nuys, Calif., airport, were on training missions.

Greek-Bulgarian Conversations End In Deadlock

Can't Agree On How To Resume Relations

WASHINGTON, June 27 — (AP)— Bulgaria's minister Dr. Nissim Mevorah, today disclosed that Bulgaria and neighboring Greece have tried but failed to agree on a means of resuming diplomatic relations.

Mevorah said in an interview he intends to notify United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie that the Greek-Bulgarian negotiations in Washington have ended in a deadlock.

The talks began June 16 when Mevorah met with Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis as directed by their governments to find a basis for exchanging diplomats.

The two envoys did not meet again, the Bulgarian minister reported, because they found during this initial meeting they could not agree on what should be discussed in later conversations.

U. S. Watching Talks Carefully

"I had hoped these conversations would include all the questions outstanding between us," he said. "Unfortunately the Greek ambassador was only prepared to discuss the technical resumption of relations."

Greek Ambassador Dendramis, who was in Philadelphia today, said his government would make a complete answer to Mevorah. Dendramis said he had not been notified by the Bulgarian diplomat of the letter to Lie even though he said he had an understanding that he would be.

State Department and other Western Power officials had been watching the talks carefully, believing a change in Bulgaria's long-standing opposition to the present Greek government might herald a change in attitude by Russia and the other Eastern European countries.

No Plans For Further Meeting

The Bulgarian minister said he has no plans for a further meeting unless the Greek government broadens the field of the conversations.

The Bulgarian government believes the two Washington diplomats should tackle the basic differences separating Greece and Bulgaria, Mevorah said.

The two foreign offices in Athens and Sofia are capable of handling the "mere technical aspects of renewing diplomatic relations," he said.

Gunmen Wound Two Policemen After Robbery

T-Men Tracing Gun Numbers; Airplanes, Dogs Aid In Search

CHICAGO, June 27—(AP)—Treasury agents tonight were checking serial numbers on guns abandoned near an old quarry where a gang of robbers eluded police in the biggest attempted man-trap in Cook County history.

The T-men said they were tracing the gun numbers in the belief that the guns might have been stolen from the Army by the bandits who robbed an alleged handbook yesterday and shot two policemen during their getaway.

After a fruitless all-night search by more than 200 poicemen who surrounded the desolate quarry and swampland area the manhunt turned towards the southern suburb of Blue Island.

A trainman told police he saw three men board an Indiana Harbor Belt Line freight train near the quarry late yesterday and then leap off at Blue Island.

Tracking dogs and 11 airplanes aided in the all-night hunt for the bandits, who were chased after they held up the alleged handbook near Western Springs, a southwestern suburb.

Hundreds of spectators hampered the search around the quarry into which it was at first believed the robbers had fled. Searchlights lit up the eerie scene, an old quarry about two miles square which is filled with ravines, wooded tracts and swamps, and is bordered by steep walls.

After dawn came, officers followed tracks from the gang's abandoned automobile to the banks of the Des Plaines River, about a half mile south of the quarry. There they found three raincoats on the bank. One contained several rolls of coins. From the river they fished out a bank bag filled with bills, a sawed-off shotgun, a carbine rifle, two .45-caliber automatic pistols and 18 or 20 clips of machine-gun cartridges.

Machine Gun Found

Police also fished a machine gun from the river. They counted approximately $1,000 in the loot, mostly in bills of small denomination.

Searchers believed the gang waded the river, which is shallow at that point and about 150 feet wide.

They believed the men were hiding somewhere in a three-square mile area bounded by the river and a drainage canal on the east and west, and by Highways 171 and 175 on the north and south.

Illinois State Police officers were sent to watch the banks of the river and the canal. County highway and suburban police began to comb the area. Part of it is hip-deep in weeds. There also are some wooded tracts and several small farms in the region.

Police Chief Clarence J. Buehl, of Western Springs, said the gunplay started about 5 p. m. (EST) yesterday when the bandits stopped their automobile in front of the alleged handbook in a cottage near Western Springs.

One gunman shot the lock off the rear door and the gang rushed inside. They robbed the cashier's cage of an undetermined amount of money and raked money from the poker table. As they fled, they warn-

Girl's Bruised Body Found In Capital Park

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—The bruised and blood-stained body of an 11-year-old girl was found in Rock Creek Park today shortly after she had been reported missing from her home.

The victim was Carol Bardwell, daughter of William P. Bardwell, a Federal Trade Commission employee. She had not been raped, police reported.

The body was discovered under a fallen tree about 125 feet off a path leading from 17th Street and Colorado Avenue, Northwest, into the park. Discovery was made by a youth and two young men.

Tune Identified

Dog Leads N. Y. Housewife To $20,000 Radio Jackpot

NEW YORK, June 27 — (AP)— Puggy, a hungry Boston terrier, led a 42-year old grandmother from Manhattan's Lower East Side to a $20,000 radio jackpot tonight.

The woman, Mrs. Mary Farber, wife of a taxicab driver, won $20,000 in prizes for correctly naming the title of the "mystery melody" on the ABC network's "Stop the Music" program.

She explained she was at home in her three-room apartment to answer the jackpot telephone call only because it was feeding time for her pet terrier, Puggy.

Mrs. Farber said she had spent the day in Englewood, N. J., with her husband, Milton, 44, and several relatives, but had broken short the visit when Puggy's feeding time arrived.

Forty-five minutes after she reached her home, she was giving the title of the "mystery melody" over the telephone to Bert Parks on the radio program.

The correct title of the tune was "Get Out of the Wilderness." It was an 1860-vintage song, corrupted later into several other melodies.

Mrs. Farber said she learned the title of the song from a musician friend of her brother.

Mrs. Farber was the 100th person to get a chance at naming the song since it was introduced into the program eight weeks ago.

When neighbors heard Mrs. Farber identify the song on the radio, they flocked to her apartment and into nearby streets. Soon a block-party was under way outside the lower east side housing development where she lives.

Among her prizes are a $1,000 United States Savings Bond, a 38-day cruise to South America, a $1,000 fur coat, an automobile and a $1,000 diamond ring.

Rationing Put Into Effect In Berlin Crisis

U. S. Will Expand Air Service As Russian Blockade Continues

BERLIN, June 27 (AP)—Americans and Britons in Berlin were subjected to partial rationing today as the Russian land blockade of the city went into its second week.

Western Berlin has only a month's food reserves. Except for relatively small cargoes carried by planes and barges, supply shipments from Western Germany for the 2,000,000 Berliners in the American, British and French sectors remained shut off.

However, the United States Air Force's emergency cargo service into Templehof airport will be expanded to 100 planes daily, bringing in as many essential items as possible for the German population in addition to supplies for Americans here, it was said.

British transport officials said four barges loaded with flour for the German population arrived today and another 20 were "in the pipeline." They said they had no explanation why the Russians were permitting a few barges to pass after a thorough inspection at the zonal boundary and yet were halting all land traffic.

Maj. Gen. E. O. Herbert, the British commandant, announced the British army and control commission are introducing economies to save food, power and other supplies during the crisis. He forbade large parties. American authorities announced similar measures.

Germans looked to the Western Allies for decisive assurances that American, British and French troops will maintain their positions as joint occupiers here.

The planes will start within 24 hours, Air Force officers said, leaving their bases singly or in groups as they are readied.

Three-Power Step Expected

LONDON, June 27 (AP) — The United States, Britain and France are expected by qualified diplomatic sources to carry their attempt to solve the Berlin crisis direct to the Kremlin.

A Foreign Office spokesman said tonight that a joint three-power approach to Moscow is "in the cards," but no final decision has been made.

If such a step is taken, the three Western Powers possibly might ask the Russians for their views on how the problem can be settled.

But there was no indication here that the Americans, the British or the French intend to withdraw from Berlin.

Outside, a half block away, thousands of youths paraded through the Vaclavski Namesti in a Sokol demonstration celebrating the first international congress of the 80-year-old physical culture society since the war. Only the Czechoslovak flag, the Sokol flag and two American flags were seen in the parade.

The Sokol traditionally has been conservative, but all classes consider the Sokol a national institution. A delegation of Czechs from the United States was among the paraders.

Filipino Actress, Maid Slain; Killer Is Named

MANILA, Monday, June 28. (AP)—Dark-haired Lilian Velez, beautiful Filipino radio and film star, and her maid were stabbed to death early Sunday and a few hours later the actress' four-year-old daughter named the slayer.

Later, Film Actor Narding Anzures appeared at the home of Manila Mayor Manuel De La Fuente and announced he was surrendering voluntarily. Police said earlier they were seeking Anzures for questioning.

The child, Vivian Velez, told police she saw her mother slain.

Another maid said the slayer entered the house by cutting a window screen with an old hunting knife. Vivian told Manila police and constabularymen that she was peeking through a crack of her bedroom door when the man entered the room.

She said he stabbed the actress and that her mother "ran to my room."

Crenshaw, a native of Walhalla, S. C., was struck in the chest and abdomen. The policeman was found lying on the ground near the Senate wing of the Capitol building by a Marine, who told officers he rushed to the spot after hearing five shots.

Jewelry Missing

Stranger Plays Hide-Seek With Boys—But For Keeps

HOLLYWOOD, June 27 — (AP)— Two youngsters told their parents today of the fun they had playing hide and seek with a stranger. The parents told police the stranger had been playing for keeps — $17,500 worth of jewelry.

Detective K. T. Belcher said the parents and boys reported it happened this way:

A man rang the bell at the home of Ben J. Weinberg Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Weinburg were out but their son, Howard, 9, and a playmate, Roger Camras, 8, went to the door.

The man gave his name as "Robbins" and asked the boys if they could use $10 apiece. The boys said sure.

"Okay," said the man, "we'll play hide and seek. I'll hide the $10 bills and if you kids can find them you can keep them. Now go into the bathroom and close your eyes."

The boys did. Then at a signal from the stranger they began to hunt. While they were looking he left and they kept up the search until bedtime.

This morning Howard told his parents about the game. Mrs. Weinberg rushed to her jewel box in a bedroom closet. She reported that a platinum bracelet covered with 287 diamonds and a valuable ring were missing.

There was a $10 bill under the jewel box but the Weinbergs haven't found the other one yet.

Fisherman Rides Whale After His Boat Is Attacked

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., June 27—(AP)—A 17-year-old lobster fisherman today came up with a whale story worthy of the pen of Herman Melville.

Frank Cabral, Jr., who says he isn't too familiar with Melville's thrilling stories of the old whaling days, insists his boat was hurled into the air by a whale. Frank and boat were thrown some 15 feet, he estimated. He landed on the whale's broad back.

Grasping a precarious handhold on the mammal's slippery back, Frank said he hung on while the whale sped along the surface.

The big fish sounded, Frank continued, and the young fisherman almost went down with it. However, he said he managed to swim clear and made for his dory floating nearby.

For proof of his amazing yarn, Frank pointed to a four-foot hole in his dory and scraps of blubber under his fingernails.

Span Withstands Rio Grande Flood

ZAPATA, Tex., June 27 (AP) — Zapata's little suspension bridge linking Texas and Mexico today withstood the raging flood waters of the Rio Grande.

Harvey Cunningham, inspector of customs at Zapata, said the Rio Grande reached a flood crest of 45 feet at 4 p. m. today, levelled off and a short time later began to recede slowly.

In normal times the Rio Grande is little more than a lazy creek.

He said the bridge would open for traffic at 8 a. m. tomorrow.

Carl E. Linde, Associated Press photographer, flying over the flooded Rio Grande today, said the river was "away out of its banks, especially at the bends in the river."

Linde said he didn't see any flooded houses along the stream between Laredo and Zapata.

"They don't expect any great damage downstream," he said.

Cunningham said the bridge at Zapata was closed early today after it was deemed unsafe. Only officials and persons on business were allowed to cross, he said.

"Amateur radios sent messages in here early yesterday that the flood was on its way," he said. "The sheriff was notified and runners went up and down the river warning people to move out."

So far no loss of life has been reported along the river as the result of the flood, which began last Thursday when torrential rains fell in the Del Rio area, approximately 200 miles upstream.

Irrigation farms on both sides of the river suffered crop losses. River shacks were washed away. Many families were made homeless. Some livestock and poultry were lost.

11 Youths Beat Man And Rape Companion

NEW YORK, June 27. — (AP) — Eleven teen-aged youths beat a man unconscious and then raped his woman companion early today on Manhattan's east side, police reported.

All the youths have jobs and none has been arrested before, police said. Ten were held in $1,000 bail each pending hearings Wednesday when arraigned in Felony Court on rape charges. The eleventh, under 16, will be arraigned tomorrow.

The victims, seated on a park bench when the gang attacked them, were identified as a 36-year-old woman and a 49-year-old man. Police said the youths slugged the man unconscious, then seized the woman, ripped off her clothes and raped her.

Army, Preparing For Draft, Faces Officer Shortage

Enlisted Reservists Asked To Volunteer

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP) — The Army is hastening to line up instructors, officers and training facilities to handle its expansion in troop strength. It is having serious trouble getting enough officers.

Looking to the buildup of the Army to 12 divisions (from a present three) by the end of 1949, the Army has asked enlisted reservists, who are veterans of World War II, to volunteer for nine to 12 months service in the United States. These veterans are needed in the training of inductees.

At the same time, the Army is planning to accept applications from reserve officers for active duty at the rate of about 1,250 a month for some months to come. This would help increase the officer personnel in line with the proposed expansion of the Army to 837,000 from its present 548,000 level.

Officer Shortage Looms

But Army Department officials said today there is a "critical shortage" of officers in prospect, not only medical and dental officers but the junior grade line officers. Estimates are that as high 30,000 will be needed—and existing applications for active duty are well below that total. The difficulty in getting junior grade officers—lieutenants and captains particularly—is that the pay offered by the Army is below competing wages of business and industry.

The Army still remained silent about the total number of wartime camps to be reopened for training inductees. It was disclosed, however, that a total of eight special training centers are planned for training by divisions — with four already operating at Camp Dix, N. J.; Fort Knox, Kentucky; Fort Ord, Calif., and Fort Jackson, S. C. But the Army during recent months has pulled back from the list of installations up for surplus sale between 15 and 20 camps. From these it is expected that some will be reactivated for use as training camps, in addition to the eight division centers.

Enlistees Pose Problem

Aside from the draft inductees, the 19 through 25 year age bracket, the armed forces must reckon on handling up to 161,000 18-year olds who, while not subject to induction, may volunteer for one year of training in the services. The Army will take up to 110,000. Its problem won't be too great; it can give them basic training needed by ground soldiers.

But the Air Force isn't quite sure what it can do with the 15,000 youngsters it must accept. It can give them basic training, but a year is too short for giving them any specialized instruction in aviation.

The Navy probably will train its 18-year-old volunteers ashore, then let them go without any sea duty.

GOP Leaders Laud Platform And Nominees

Vandenberg "Happy"; Democrats And CIO Hit Congress Record

[By The Associated Press]

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg and other leading Republicans rallied to their party cause yesterday. Both their 1948 platform and the record of the Republican Congress were again under fire from Democratic and CIO critics.

Sen. Vandenberg, who had been talked of as a possible nominee for President, returned to Washington from his convention labors saying "I am completely happy about the Philadelphia results."

He praised Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Gov. Earl Warren as fine men to lead the GOP ticket and the country. From his background as a top leader in the country's bi-partisan foreign policy, he told a reporter that the party's platform is "an unequivocal commitment to international co-operation for peace and security."

"Liberal," Baldwin Says

Sen. Baldwin (R-Conn) said in a radio talk:

"It's a very, very liberal platform. As to the Democratic Party's convention upcoming, I don't know what it's going to be because the Democrats have liberals, radicals and conservatives in unhappy combination."

Sen. Morse (R-Ore), who sometimes strays from the party's fold in the Senate, said in another radio talk that the old guard philosophy died in the Philadelphia convention.

"We can now look for a good many years of constitutional liberalism because Dewey and Warren are of liberal thought," Morse said. He added that the Republican platform guarantees that the government will "protect the politically weak and the economically weak against the politically strong and economically strong."

Democratic Chairman J. Howard McGrath saw the "old guard" as still strong in the Republican Party.

"Joe Grundy can still dictate the choice of a Republican convention in a series of 'smoke filled room' deals," McGrath said in a statement. He said Grundy, former senator and a power in Pennsylvania politics, engineered the choice of Dewey for the presidential nomination.

CIO Promises Voting Guide

The CIO News published an article saying that the "bad outweighs the good" in the record of the 80th Congress. It promised soon a voting guide with the records of lawmakers of major issues.

The CIO, and other elements of organized labor, are fighting the re-election of lawmakers who helped pass the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said meanwhile that Congress saved $2,741,481,291 for the taxpayers by lopping off money from President Truman's request.

Taber said in a statement that everywhere in the Truman administration "there is complete confusion and inefficiency."

Democrats got set to follow the Republicans into Philadelphia July 12. The District of Columbia will pick a six-vote delegation to the Democratic convention in a primary today. Virginia Democrats will complete the national delegate slate of 1,234 by choosing a 26-vote delegation Friday.

President Truman now has 670 pledged and claimed delegates. He would need 618 votes for nomination.

Five Held After Attack On Virginia Trooper

WISE, Va., June 27 (AP)—A Virginia state trooper was beaten into unconsciousness and thrown into a 40-foot ravine near Carfax, a Wise County mining community, today.

By late afternoon, posses of state and county police had arrested five men of the Carfax section and charged them with felonious assault.

The trooper, Cotton Williams, was not seriously injured and took part in the hunt for his assailants.

The attack followed by 16 days Gov. Tuck's order to Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond to take personal charge of the prosecution of 178 miners in nearby Buchanan County charged with a mob assault on a non-union strip mine.

She told police the motorist stopped at a tavern, sent Earles to buy drinks, then drove away with her. She said she was held captive more than an hour.

Portuguese Says He Gave A-Bomb Plan To U. S. In '41

LISBON, Portugal, June 27 (AP)—A Portuguese scientist declared today he invented an atomic bomb and gave the plans for it to the United States in 1941.

The scientist, Artur De Albuquerque, told newsmen he had handed the plans to the United States "through the military attache at Lisbon, Col. (Robert A.) Solborg."

"My French assistant, Pierre Joseph Du Pont, carried out the first practical experiments in the Pyrenees," Albuquerque added, "exploding a tiny bomb that provoked a small earth tremor."

Dewey Relaxes On His N. Y. Farm

PAWLING, N. Y., June 27 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today put aside the harassment of political strife for the first time in weeks and spent a leisurely Sunday with his family.

The Deweys attended services at picturesque Christ Church on Quaker Hill, near his Pawling farm, and chatted with neighbors there for half an hour afterwards.

Then the Republican presidential nominee drove back to his farm with Mrs. Dewey and their two sons, ate a quiet dinner, took an afternoon nap and read the Sunday papers.

Mrs. Dewey is still suffering from a slight cold which persisted during the Philadelphia convention. The Governor said he was sure she would be all right after a good rest.

Although Dewey has no appointments on his schedule, he said he expects to discuss campaign strategy with his running-mate, Gov. Earl Warren, either here or at Albany before Warren returns to California.

Dewey said he had not had time for a real talk with Warren at Philadelphia. He will work on state business at his farm tomorrow and probably go to Albany about Wednesday.

He probably will take a formal vacation in July or August. He has not indicated where he'll go.

Md. Physician Reports New Drug Cures Typhoid

BALTIMORE, June 27. (AP)—Use of a new drug that can cure typhoid fever within three days was reported today by a Maryland physician and an Army doctor.

The drug, derived from a fungus, is chloromycetin. It has been administered successfully to 13 typhoid fever sufferers since its power over that disease came to light in Malaya last spring.

The drug was described by Dr. Theodore E. Woodward, of the University of Maryland's School of Medicine, and Col. Rufus L. Holt, commandant of the Army Medical Department Research and Graduate School in Washington, D. C.

Three National Guard Airmen Die In Crash

BLYTHE, Calif., June 27. (AP)—Three National Guard airmen were killed and two others parachuted to safety when two planes collided today.

The collision occurred directly over this city. Wreckage of the planes, a P-51 Mustang fighter and an A-26 bomber, fell outside the town and burning parts were scattered over a quarter-mile desert area.

National Guard officials withheld names of the dead pending notification of kin. The planes, based at Van Nuys, Calif., airport, were on training missions.

Greek-Bulgarian Conversations End In Deadlock

Can't Agree On How To Resume Relations

WASHINGTON, June 27 — (AP)— Bulgaria's minister Dr. Nissim Mevorah, today disclosed that Bulgaria and neighboring Greece have tried but failed to agree on a means of resuming diplomatic relations.

Mevorah said in an interview he intends to notify United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie that the Greek-Bulgarian negotiations in Washington have ended in a deadlock.

The talks began June 16 when Mevorah met with Greek Ambassador Vassili Dendramis as directed by their governments to find a basis for exchanging diplomats.

The two envoys did not meet again, the Bulgarian minister reported, because they found during this initial meeting they could not agree on what should be discussed in later conversations.

U. S. Watching Talks Carefully

"I had hoped these conversations would include all the questions outstanding between us," he said. "Unfortunately the Greek ambassador was only prepared to discuss the technical resumption of relations."

Greek Ambassador Dendramis, who was in Philadelphia today, said his government would make a complete answer to Mevorah. Dendramis said he had not been notified by the Bulgarian diplomat of the letter to Lie even though he said he had an understanding that he would be.

State Department and other Western Power officials had been watching the talks carefully, believing a change in Bulgaria's long-standing opposition to the present Greek government might herald a change in attitude by Russia and the other Eastern European countries.

No Plans For Further Meeting

The Bulgarian minister said he has no plans for a further meeting unless the Greek government broadens the field of the conversations.

The Bulgarian government believes the two Washington diplomats should tackle the basic differences separating Greece and Bulgaria, Mevorah said.

The two foreign offices in Athens and Sofia are capable of handling the "mere technical aspects of renewing diplomatic relations," he said.

Gunmen Wound Two Policemen After Robbery

T-Men Tracing Gun Numbers; Airplanes, Dogs Aid In Search

CHICAGO, June 27—(AP)—Treasury agents tonight were checking serial numbers on guns abandoned near an old quarry where a gang of robbers eluded police in the biggest attempted man-trap in Cook County history.

The T-men said they were tracing the gun numbers in the belief that the guns might have been stolen from the Army by the bandits who robbed an alleged handbook yesterday and shot two policemen during their getaway.

After a fruitless all-night search by more than 200 poicemen who surrounded the desolate quarry and swampland area the manhunt turned towards the southern suburb of Blue Island.

A trainman told police he saw three men board an Indiana Harbor Belt Line freight train near the quarry late yesterday and then leap off at Blue Island.

Tracking dogs and 11 airplanes aided in the all-night hunt for the bandits, who were chased after they held up the alleged handbook near Western Springs, a southwestern suburb.

Hundreds of spectators hampered the search around the quarry into which it was at first believed the robbers had fled. Searchlights lit up the eerie scene, an old quarry about two miles square which is filled with ravines, wooded tracts and swamps, and is bordered by steep walls.

After dawn came, officers followed tracks from the gang's abandoned automobile to the banks of the Des Plaines River, about a half mile south of the quarry. There they found three raincoats on the bank. One contained several rolls of coins. From the river they fished out a bank bag filled with bills, a sawed-off shotgun, a carbine rifle, two .45-caliber automatic pistols and 18 or 20 clips of machine-gun cartridges.

Machine Gun Found

Police also fished a machine gun from the river. They counted approximately $1,000 in the loot, mostly in bills of small denomination.

Searchers believed the gang waded the river, which is shallow at that point and about 150 feet wide.

They believed the men were hiding somewhere in a three-square mile area bounded by the river and a drainage canal on the east and west, and by Highways 171 and 175 on the north and south.

Illinois State Police officers were sent to watch the banks of the river and the canal. County highway and suburban police began to comb the area. Part of it is hip-deep in weeds. There also are some wooded tracts and several small farms in the region.

Police Chief Clarence J. Buehl, of Western Springs, said the gunplay started about 5 p. m. (EST) yesterday when the bandits stopped their automobile in front of the alleged handbook in a cottage near Western Springs.

One gunman shot the lock off the rear door and the gang rushed inside. They robbed the cashier's cage of an undetermined amount of money and raked money from the poker table. As they fled, they warn-

Tune Identified

Dog Leads N. Y. Housewife To $20,000 Radio Jackpot

NEW YORK, June 27 — (AP)— Puggy, a hungry Boston terrier, led a 42-year old grandmother from Manhattan's Lower East Side to a $20,000 radio jackpot tonight.

The woman, Mrs. Mary Farber, wife of a taxicab driver, won $20,000 in prizes for correctly naming the title of the "mystery melody" on the ABC network's "Stop the Music" program.

She explained she was at home in her three-room apartment to answer the jackpot telephone call only because it was feeding time for her pet terrier, Puggy.

Mrs. Farber said she had spent the day in Englewood, N. J., with her husband, Milton, 44, and several relatives, but had broken short the visit when Puggy's feeding time arrived.

Forty-five minutes after she reached her home, she was giving the title of the "mystery melody" over the telephone to Bert Parks on the radio program.

The correct title of the tune was "Get Out of the Wilderness." It was an 1860-vintage song, corrupted later into several other melodies.

Mrs. Farber said she learned the title of the song from a musician friend of her brother.

Mrs. Farber was the 100th person to get a chance at naming the song since it was introduced into the program eight weeks ago.

When neighbors heard Mrs. Farber identify the song on the radio, they flocked to her apartment and into nearby streets. Soon a block-party was under way outside the lower east side housing development where she lives.

Among her prizes are a $1,000 United States Savings Bond, a 38-day cruise to South America, a $1,000 fur coat, an automobile and a $1,000 diamond ring.

Attlee Says Reds Mischief Makers

SKEGNESS, Eng., June 27—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee denounced Communists today as mischief makers wanting a weak and disturbed Europe.

Speaking at a rally of about 25,000 agricultural workers and their families, Attlee said there were some who "denounce the United States as a state seeking to gain control over Europe."

"When you find anyone doing this look at him carefully," he said. "You will generally find that he is a Communist or a fellow traveler. Those people do not want to see Europe restored to health. They want Europe to be weak and disturbed because they think the more wretched the people are the greater the chance for Communists. They have a vested interest in chaos."

Referring to private enterprise in America, he said "I think that in due course they will have to depart from the extreme individualism, but in the meantime our way of life enables them to work with us and us to work with them."

Winston Churchill's address yesterday at Luton Hoo "simply was luton hooey and the same speech he had been making for a long time," Attlee said. (Churchill told a Conservative political rally that Russia's blockade of Berlin raised issues as grave as those at Munich, when Britain placated Hitler. He called for a firm stand against Russia and pledged Conservative support if the labor government follows such a policy.)

Cook To Assist In State Welfare Probe

State Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, Republican, has been named to the 15-member commission appointed by Governor Lane to investigate Maryland's public welfare program.

The group, headed by Attorney General H. Hall Hammond, will investigate the welfare setup and release a report December 1. Results will be used in preparing the budget of the department.

The governor suggested the investigation following a controversy in the General Assembly as to how much additional money should be allotted to the welfare department.

Italian Socialist Leader Urges Red Collaboration

GENOA, Italy, June 27 (AP) — Lelio Basso, retiring secretary of the Italian Socialist Party, urged 600 delegates to the 27th party congress today to continue all-out collaboration with Communism.

For two hours and 50 minutes Basso flayed everything west of the iron curtain and praised everything east of it.

Before he spoke, delegates learned of the resignation of Socialist Leader Pietro Nenni as political director of the Socialist newspaper Avanti. Nenni, assailed by some Socialists because of his pro - Communist politics, announced his resignation in an Avanti editorial, published in Rome.

Basso has been a power behind the Socialist Party scenes since its 1947 split over joint action with the Communists.

Windstorm Hits Hazleton Area

HAZLETON, Pa., June 27 (AP)—A windstorm of cyclonic intensity lashed the outskirts of Hazleton today, ripping a roof from a warehouse and hurling it at nearby homes.

Residents reported seeing a "silber ball" rolling down a rainswept street. All agreed the ball seemed to blow up as the warehouse roof was ripped away.

Unofficial damage was set at $100,000. No injuries were reported.

Billboards and trees were torn from the ground in the storm which was accompanied by severe lightning flashes and torrential rains.

At Philadelphia, 100-miles away, a similar storm hit the northern section of the city. A bolt of lightning struck 33-year-old Howard Mabie, a workman helping erect equipment at a carnival. His condition was reported serious.

Strong winds blew down a number of advertising signs, toppled chimneys and knocked down high tension wires.

Lightning struck a station of the Philadelphia Electric Company, disrupting electrict service in suburban areas.

Bendix Workers Vote To Go Ahead With Strike

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 27. (AP)—CIO workers in the big Bendix Aviation Corporation plant here voted today to go ahead with a strike in spite of a wage offer accepted by the United Auto Workers Council in New York.

Robert J. Mahoney, Local 9 president of UAW, said his group voted unanimously in a mass meeting today to reject the company offer of a 13-cent hourly wage boost. The decision to strike was made last night.

The council also agreed last night on an extra half-cent raise for workers in South Bend and Detroit. But Mahoney said the South Bend local is still demanding a wholesale rerating of jobs in the plant here to "correct inequities" among individual workers.

Wallace Says His Party Works "To Free" People

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 27 (AP)—Presidential Candidate Henry A. Wallace said today the major task of his New Party is to "set Americans free to control their own destiny in a world of peace and international brotherhood."

In an address before 200 delegates to the founding convention of the New Hampshire Progressive Party, he said:

"It can be done, for the chain that binds people today is forged from the base metal of concealment, distortion and lies.

"The fact that no existing political party is attempting to carry out a program to set he people free," Wallace declared, "is justification for forming the New Party."

New Shooting Star

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—A new Lockheed Shooting Star with a more powerful Allison turbo-jet engine giving it a speed of 600 miles an hour is in production, the Air Force said today.

The new fighter plane is the F-80C, whose new engine has a takeoff rating of 4,600 pounds thrust, the announcement said. It has a higher climb rate than the F-80B, the previous model of the Shooting Star series, the Air Force said.

Police said they were arrested after a brawl in front of a North Mechanic Street tavern Friday night. William Trozzo, 524, Essex Place, also involved in the fracas, forfeited $10 bond. William Radcliffe, 225 Maple Street, was committed to jail for five days in default of $5 fine Saturday on a drunk and disorderly charge.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

My missus is summering up at Mt. Kisco. I received the following note from her this morning:

Dear Billy:

I went to the village this afternoon to have my hair fixed, and almost got into a big fight. As I was sitting in a booth under the hair-dryer, I heard some dames putting the zing on you. They had just read the first installment of "Wine, Women and Words" in Look Magazine and were gabbing nine to the dozen.

Billy Rose

"I wouldn't want to be Eleanor Holm," I heard one of them say. 'I understand that since her husband wrote a book, there 's no living with him. The laundryman tells me that Rose wears a smoking jacket with blotting paper cuffs and pen-wiper lapels."

"Yea," said another of the cats. "And my maid tells me that their maid told her that he's having his shoes shined with printer's ink, and wears a pince nez suspended on a typewriter ribbon."

"That's a wonderful maid the Roses have," said cat No. 3. "When she heard her mahster was writing a book, she went to Eleanor and offered to take a cut in pay until her husband found himself a job."

Now, Billy, you're probably wondering why I didn't get out of the booth and tell these dames where they got off. Well, I couldn't. I was trapped under the hair-dryer.

"Rose will probably be joining the Author's League," was the next thing I heard. "It's my guess he'll hang his ceritficate between the letter of recommendation he got from the parole board and his diploma from the billiard academy.'

"He must have paid Look plenty," said an added starter, "to get them to run his book. I don't like to knock a neighbor, but the man at the circulating library tells me that Rose's literary background is bounded on the north by Nick Carter and on the south by Captain Billy's Whiz Bang."

"What I don't understand," said the chairman of the kitty-kat forum, "is how he ever managed to break into print at all. He uses 'which' when it ought to be 'that' and 'that' when it ought to be 'which.' Besides, he's always writing at the top of his lungs."

"What gets me mad,' said cat No. 2, "is when he starts to philosophize. He sounds off about something he doesn't understand and does it in such a way that the reader figures it's his own fault."

"I saw somewhere," said one of the meow merchants, "that Simon and Schuster is bringing the book out between hard covers this October. Do you think it will sell?'

"Of course it will," said the chairman. "Rose will probably buy the first hundred thousand copies himself."

"According to Look," said another of the well-wishers, "Salvador Dali is illustrating his book. Did you see that monstrosity they ran with the first installment—a broken-legged dame with a flower growing out of her neck?"

"You must have looked at it upside down," said one of the girls. "That was a codfish playing an accordion.'

By this time, darling, my hair was dry, and I wish you had been there to hear what I said to those dames. "I think you're being very unfair to my husband," I told them. "For a fellow who couldn't spell until he was over thirty-five, I think he's giving a fine account of himself. Billy may have less dash and more ham than Dashiell Hammett, but let's face it—he consisently casts a much thicker pall than Elliot Paul. And to show you how serious he is about his literary career, he's even thinking of having his pinkie broken so he can hold a teacup at the proper angle."

Well, that stopped them. The girls assured me they meant no offense—what they had said was only good, constructive criticism. They couldn't have been nicer, and when they agreed that your stuff showed promise of being promising, I took them all over to Jerry's for a drink. And it was money well invested. After the fourth Martini, the chairman made a speech and said that in her opinion, you out-pshawed Shaw and were drier than Dreiser.

I don't know about the rest of the country, darling, but I think they're going to sell a lot of copies of Look up in Mt. Kisco.

Your devoted wife,

Federation Of Blind Will Open Convention Today

BALTIMORE, June 27. (AP)—The National Federation of the Blind opens its four-day annual convention here tomorrow.

Members of the association are "blind people who have found confidence in themselves and are very normal, average people," one of the group, Leonard Hesterman, explained.

Hesterman, a 26-year-old law student, arrived here by plane today with six other Californians. He said that the organization included a good portion of the 10,000 self-supporting blind people in the United States.

Beat Child, Fined $50

BALTIMORE, June 27. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Broyles, 21, was fined $50 in Police Court yesterday for beating her six-year-old stepson, Walter, across the back with a strap.

The woman pleaded guilty to the charge. She said the boy was punished because he left the house without permission.

Warren Family Reach New York

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP) — Gov. Earl Warren, of California, weary from a week at the Republican national convention, arrived tonight in New York to attend church and then go to bed for "a good night's sleep"

The Republican vice-presidential nominee expects to remain here three or four days with his wife and their three blonde daughters.

Warren said he intends to be back in Sacramento, Calif., in about a week.

"I will return directly to Sacramento unless something of which I do not know now should intervene," he said.

While here he will consult again with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, the Republican standard-bearer.

"Just where or when must depend upon his program," Warren said on the train en route from Philadelphia. Dewey presently is at his farm in Pawling, N. Y.

"I have no other engagements in New York," he said, "and no other reasons to be here except that New York is always a magnet for those of us who live in the West."

His aides, however, said Warren undoubtedly would confer several times here with Republican leaders and that he would set aside a day for consultation with Dewey.

Warren acknowledged that his daughters might have had a hand in his decision to come here. They are Virginia, 19, Dorothy, 17, and Nina Elizabeth (Honey Bear), 14.

"I promised the girls I would bring them here and let them have a few days recreation," Warren said.

Student Kills His Wife, Two Children And Self

PORTLAND, Ore., June 27. (AP)—A psychology student who brooded over a college failure slew his attractive blonde wife, their two young children and then fatally wounded himself early today.

Police broke down the door of a cottage occupied by Robert C. Stoller, Jr., 25, after an anonymous telephone call was received asking for a coroner at the house.

Detective Capt. William Brown said Stoller had shot himself with a .22 caliber rifle. A kitchen carving knife was found at his side. The nightgown-clad body of his pretty wife, Lauralee, 24, was found in a bed. Three shots had been fired into her forehead. A stab wound pierced her heart. Her skull also was crushed.

Four-year-old Christian and 16-month-old Pam Jane were dead in their cribs. Each was slain with a single bullet in the head.

IN TRIPLE TRAGEDY—After a quarrel with his wife, Capt. Charles D. Leggett (above), military Air Transport pilot, is said to have shot and killed his two sleeping children and then committed suicide, according to authorities in Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Leggett said that the argument began when her husband accused her of pressing his trousers incorrectly.

Illegal Stills Increase In Maryland, Benson Says

BALTIMORE, June 27. (AP)—W. T. Benson, state director of the alcohol tax unit, says illegal stills in Maryland have increased sharply since the end of sugar rationing.

Furthermore, he said, modern-day bootleggers are making things doubly difficult for revenue inspectors because they are using faster cars and short wave radios.

Consequently, Benson said, inspectors must be given refresher courses so they can keep up with the streamlined moonshine tactics.

Benson predicted that because sugar controls have been lifted the number of illicit stills in Maryland will reach the prewar peak in about six months.

Budget Surplus Will Set Record

WASHINGTON, June 27 — (AP)—The budget surplus Wednesday—the end of the fiscal year—will set a vast new record. It may run close to $8,000,000,000. The previous high was $1,155,000,000 of 21 years ago.

But it will be just a figure on paper.

Most of the money itself—$6,683,000,000 — already has been used to lower the federal debt to about $251,600,000,000, an anlysis of treasury records showed today.

The rest, about $1,400,000,000, has gone into the Treasury's cash coffers, swelling its cash balance, (largely kept in banks over the country) to $4,800,000,000.

The surplus reflects the excess of government income over spending.

Technically, $3,000,000,000 will be cut out of this year's surplus and in effect transferred to next year when President Truman signs the foreign aid appropriations bill, into which Congress wrote a provision for the transfer.

This provision requires that $3,000,000,000 of the money that actually is to be paid out for recovery abroad in the 12 months beginning July 1 be charged as "expense" in this fiscal year's budget, upping the book figure on spending this year by $3,000,000,000 and reducing the surplus a like amount.

Purpose of the bookkeeping shift is to bolster next fiscal year's budget, which otherwise might show a deficit. This will be done at the expense of the current year's surplus. The latter, even if cut $3,000,000,000, will still be more than double the old record.

Attlee Says Reds Mischief Makers

SKEGNESS, Eng., June 27—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee denounced Communists today as mischief makers wanting a weak and disturbed Europe.

Speaking at a rally of about 25,000 agricultural workers and their families, Attlee said there were some who "denounce the United States as a state seeking to gain control over Europe."

"When you find anyone doing this look at him carefully," he said. "You will generally find that he is a Communist or a fellow traveler. Those people do not want to see Europe restored to health. They want Europe to be weak and disturbed because they think the more wretched the people are the greater the chance for Communists. They have a vested interest in chaos."

Referring to private enterprise in America, he said "I think that in due course they will have to depart from the extreme individualism, but in the meantime our way of life enables them to work with us and us to work with them."

Winston Churchill's address yesterday at Luton Hoo "simply was luton hooey and the same speech he had been making for a long time," Attlee said. (Churchill told a Conservative political rally that Russia's blockade of Berlin raised issues as grave as those at Munich, when Britain placated Hitler. He called for a firm stand against Russia and pledged Conservative support if the labor government follows such a policy.)

Cook To Assist In State Welfare Probe

State Delegate Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg, Republican, has been named to the 15-member commission appointed by Governor Lane to investigate Maryland's public welfare program.

The group, headed by Attorney General H. Hall Hammond, will investigate the welfare setup and release a report December 1. Results will be used in preparing the budget of the department.

The governor suggested the investigation following a controversy in the General Assembly as to how much additional money should be allotted to the welfare department.

Siam Bans Shaggy Hair

BANGKOK, June 27. (AP)—Irked at shaggy hair styles in imitation of matinee idols, the Siamese Ministry of Education has ordered that no schoolboy may wear his hair longer than one centimeter. That's less than four-tenths of an inch—real close clip. The ministry is considering but has not yet adopted a similar ban on waves and upswept styles for schoolgirls.

BACK TO LIFE — It took seven minutes to restore life to pretty Mrs. Julia Brittan (above) after her heart stopped beating while she was being anesthetized for an appendectomy in Chicago. Dr. Max Thorek made three incisions leading to her heart and then massaged it with his hand. A feeble beat rewarded him for his daring surgery. He then proceeded with the appendectomy and the patient is now "doing nicely."

Italian Socialist Leader Urges Red Collaboration

GENOA, Italy, June 27 (AP) — Lelio Basso, retiring secretary of the Italian Socialist Party, urged 600 delegates to the 27th party congress today to continue all-out collaboration with Communism.

For two hours and 50 minutes Basso flayed everything west of the iron curtain and praised everything east of it.

Before he spoke, delegates learned of the resignation of Socialist Leader Pietro Nenni as political director of the Socialist newspaper Avanti. Nenni, assailed by some Socialists because of his pro - Communist politics, announced his resignation in an Avanti editorial, published in Rome.

Basso has been a power behind the Socialist Party scenes since its 1947 split over joint action with the Communists.

Windstorm Hits Hazleton Area

HAZLETON, Pa., June 27 (AP)—A windstorm of cyclonic intensity lashed the outskirts of Hazleton today, ripping a roof from a warehouse and hurling it at nearby homes.

Residents reported seeing a "silber ball" rolling down a rainswept street. All agreed the ball seemed to blow up as the warehouse roof was ripped away.

Unofficial damage was set at $100,000. No injuries were reported.

Billboards and trees were torn from the ground in the storm which was accompanied by severe lightning flashes and torrential rains.

At Philadelphia, 100-miles away, a similar storm hit the northern section of the city. A bolt of lightning struck 33-year-old Howard Mabie, a workman helping erect equipment at a carnival. His condition was reported serious.

Strong winds blew down a number of advertising signs, toppled chimneys and knocked down high tension wires.

Lightning struck a station of the Philadelphia Electric Company, disrupting electrict service in suburban areas.

Bendix Workers Vote To Go Ahead With Strike

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 27. (AP)—CIO workers in the big Bendix Aviation Corporation plant here voted today to go ahead with a strike in spite of a wage offer accepted by the United Auto Workers Council in New York.

Robert J. Mahoney, Local 9 president of UAW, said his group voted unanimously in a mass meeting today to reject the company offer of a 13-cent hourly wage boost. The decision to strike was made last night.

The council also agreed last night on an extra half-cent raise for workers in South Bend and Detroit. But Mahoney said the South Bend local is still demanding a wholesale rerating of jobs in the plant here to "correct inequities" among individual workers.

Wallace Says His Party Works "To Free" People

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 27 (AP)—Presidential Candidate Henry A. Wallace said today the major task of his New Party is to "set Americans free to control their own destiny in a world of peace and international brotherhood."

In an address before 200 delegates to the founding convention of the New Hampshire Progressive Party, he said:

"It can be done, for the chain that binds people today is forged from the base metal of concealment, distortion and lies.

"The fact that no existing political party is attempting to carry out a program to set he people free," Wallace declared, "is justification for forming the New Party."

New Shooting Star

WASHINGTON, June 27. (AP)—A new Lockheed Shooting Star with a more powerful Allison turbo-jet engine giving it a speed of 600 miles an hour is in production, the Air Force said today.

The new fighter plane is the F-80C, whose new engine has a takeoff rating of 4,600 pounds thrust, the announcement said. It has a higher climb rate than the F-80B, the previous model of the Shooting Star series, the Air Force said.

Two Men Are Fined

William M. Barts and Jackie McDonald, both of 323 Bedford Street, were fined $5 each in police court Saturday on disorderly conduct charges. Police said they were arrested after a brawl in front of a North Mechanic Street tavern Friday night. William Trozzo, 524, Essex Place, also involved in the fracas, forfeited $10 bond. William Radcliffe, 225 Maple Street, was committed to jail for five days in default of $5 fine Saturday on a drunk and disorderly charge.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

by Billy Rose

My missus is summering up at Mt. Kisco. I received the following note from her this morning:

Dear Billy:

I went to the village this afternoon to have my hair fixed, and almost got into a big fight. As I was sitting in a booth under the hair-dryer, I heard some dames putting the zing on you. They had just read the first installment of "Wine, Women and Words" in Look Magazine and were gabbing nine to the dozen.

Billy Rose

"I wouldn't want to be Eleanor Holm," I heard one of them say. "I understand that since her husband wrote a book, there 's no living with him. The laundryman tells me that Rose wears a smoking jacket with blotting paper cuffs and pen-wiper lapels."

"Yea," said another of the cats. "And my maid tells me that their maid told her that he's having his shoes shined with printer's ink, and wears a pince nez suspended on a typewriter ribbon."

"That's a wonderful maid the Roses have," said cat No. 3. "When she heard her mahster was writing a book, she went to Eleanor and offered to take a cut in pay until her husband found himself a job."

Now, Billy, you're probably wondering why I didn't get out of the booth and tell these dames where they got off. Well, I couldn't. I was trapped under the hair-dryer.

Technically, $3,000,000,000 will be cut out of this year's surplus and in effect transferred to next year when President Truman signs the foreign aid appropriations bill, into which Congress wrote a provision for the transfer.

This provision requires that $3,000,000,000 of the money that actually is to be paid out for recovery abroad in the 12 months beginning July 1 be charged as "expense" in this fiscal year's budget, upping the book figure on spending this year by $3,000,000,000 and reducing the surplus a like amount.

Purpose of the bookkeeping shift is to bolster next fiscal year's budget, which otherwise might show a deficit. This will be done at the expense of the current year's surplus. The latter, even if cut $3,000,000,000, will still be more than double the old record.

Dewey And Warren Make A Well-Rounded Ticket

By the measurement of decibels, the Republican convention at Philadelphia which nominated Governor Dewey and Governor Warren for president and vice president, respectively, was not as noisy as some. The delegates were too well aware of the serious business in hand. They not only had to choose a nominee from a number of exceptionally able candidates. They were certain that they were naming the next President of the United States, for the first time in 16 long years. Rarely have delegates stuck to their tasks with less merry-making or more earnestness of purpose.

There were, of course the usual demonstrations after the nominating speeches and the cries of triumph throughout the balloting. To the spectator on the convention floor, these varying crowd reactions depicted, as no words could, the varying appeals of the candidates. The loudest noise, on the floor and in the galleries, were made by the Stassen following. They were the only ones who marched with banners through the galleries—a perilous business. Here, one thought, is the exuberant and assertive spirit of American youth.

The shouts and whistle-blowing for Governor Warren had the lusty spirit of the old West, and, we are happy to say, only a touch of Hollywood. The cheering for Vandenberg, at his request, was brief and was also muted by the fact that his followers realized their man had no chance. The MacArthur tribute, though it came upon a crowd half-drugged with fatigue, was a moving gesture of esteem for a great general who needs no political reward.

The most important and interesting demonstrations of course, were the first two. Dewey's was, like his campaign, smooth, efficient and elaborately organized. The cheering for Taft was a heartfelt tribute to an American statesman whose words brush away sham and dishonesty in American public life and whose moral courage, no less than his great abilities, will be at the service of the next—and Republican—administration at Washington.

The ovation for Gov. Warren, when he was nominated by acclamation, was a stirring scene. The resounding cheers and shouts were the climax to a great political gathering, and they expressed the satisfying thought that in Gov. Warren, as running-mate of Gov. Dewey, the nation was being presented a ticket around which every American may rally with pride and confidence. The convention delegates have presented the nation with not only a well balanced ticket but also a platform of exceptional quality.

In securing Governor Warren as his candidate for Vice President, Governor Dewey scored a major service for the county just as he has done for the people of New York during the gubernatorial administration—bringing ability into his official family. Governor Warren's leadership in California and on the west coast in general has been of high standard. He will prove a great asset for the American people when he takes up the duties of Vice President next January.

Prizes are being offered by Kansas for additional verses to the state song, "Home on the Range," but it is not revealed whether the natives have learned to sing the original ones.

Another Season Has Come To Cumberland

Summer, as it always does once a year, has arrived at Cumberland. The calendar says so, and so does the weather, if you have been reading the thermometer the past few days. In the face of dates, wilting collars and perspiring brows, there is no argument.

The official arrival time was Monday at 7:11 A. M. Eastern Standard Time. At that instant the sun reached its farthest point in its annual journey north, and was directly overhead at noon along the Tropic of Cancer, 27 degrees and 27 minutes north of the Equator. In other words, that was the time of the summer solstice, making Monday the longest day in the year. From now on the days grow progressively shorter.

This shortening of the days, unfortunately, doesn't tie in with a diminishing of the heat. On the contrary the days will get hotter for another month, the reason being that the earth, receiving more heat by day than it does at night, builds up warmth for quite a while after the dawn of Summer. Not until the latter part of July does it start to lose more heat than it gains.

Thus we face the hot months, with days when the mercury nears or passes the 100 mark, when the humidity, such as Cumberland has been experiencing the past week rises and the countryside takes on the aspects of an oven. But there are compensations. In the lushness of vegetation, the growing crops, the hum of the insects and the light eerie mist that fills the valleys at night, there is proof that the promise of Spring has been fulfilled and life is at full tide.

Who wants to be President, at $35,000 a year after taxes, when it is possible to pick up that sum on a radio quiz and have a refrigerator thrown in?

The New Ford

It is always national news when a new Ford comes out, although it is no longer America's cheapest car. Other manufacturers cannot deny that it was old Henry Ford who put America on motorized wheels for the first time.

The Model T was the car for the millions, and 15,000,000 of them were made. Once Mr. Ford got the price down to less than $300. It was in 1909 that he told his prospective customers that they shouldn't be particular about what they got in an automobile for that money.

"Any customer," he said, "can have a car painted any color he wants so long as it's black."

Since the days of Fords available in all shades of black there have been the Model A and the newer models that have taken color and many other aspects in addition to price into consideration. By announcing 1949 models in June, Ford has beaten his competitors to the draw, but they, too, can be expected to bring out lines with new contours before the end of the year.

In the minds of the car-hungry, however, the most appropriately named part of any automobile agency's headquarters is still the waiting room.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Tracing The Source Of Nosebleed

Nosebleed (epistaxis) is common because the membranes of the old proboscis are alive with blood vesels. Moreover, the organ is easily injured and extremely susceptible to infection. There are probably only a handful of individuals who have never encountered bleeding from this structure at some time or other. The disorder comes on at all periods in life but children are most frequently afflicted, especially during the age of puberty.

In the majority of cases, hemorrhage stops spontaneously. This takes place more readily if the individual will lie down, apply a cold compress and refrain from blowing or sneezing. On the other hand, if the flow continues, help is required because there is a limit to how much vital fluid can be lost safely.

Nature has been kind in this respect as the bleeding point, in most instances, is located on the septum (partition) just within the nostrils. Consequently, by inserting a pledget of cotton and pinching the nose, oozing is controlled readily. If this fails, the physician generally searches elsewhere for the ruptured vessel and either cauterize the area or introduces a more formidable nasal plug which is left in place for several hours until clotting occurs. Occasionally nothing seems to cause cessation of the flow and blood transfuions may be necessary.

When the nose is bumped or struck bleeding is a common aftermath. Certain individuals are more prone to the condition than others, and there are some in whom a trivial accident is sure to produce blood. These persons apparently have fragile vessels or regions where they are more numerous and near the surface. There is an abnormality, known as "heriditary telangiectasis," in which blood channels of this type are passed from one generation to another.

When nosebleed arises habitually, examination is always desirable. An ulcer or tumor may be present in the passageway. In children, the adenoids may be enlarged or the youngster may have inserted a peanut, eraser or other small object which has failed to come out. It may mean also that something is amiss with the blood; the clotting mechanism could be disturbed because of anemia; or leucemia, scurvy, or hemophilia may exist. On the other hand, occasionally it is a sign that the child has rheumatic fever or heart disease. In oldsters, the blood pressure should be checked. Now and then a vessel has ruptured and here the oozing is welcomed because rupture or an artery or vein in this location is better than in the brain. Furthermore, loss of blood lowers the tension temporarily.

Epistaxis is something noted during acute illnesses such a typhoid, scarlet fever Brights' disease, or whooping cough. In the latter, bleeding is usually caused by the severe paroxysms of coughing; but in the others, the capillaries are often involved by the original malady. Hemorrhage from the nose after a head injury may denote skull fracture and as such offers a clew as to the severity of the damage.

Prostatic Stones

G. M. writes: Is there such a thing as prostate stones? Can they be removed without taking out the gland?

Reply

Yes, the condition is probably more common than is realized. If symptoms are not present, nothing need be done except a periodic examination to make sure that complications are not developing. But if they obstruct the organ or encourage infection, surgery is advised. If the man is in the older age brackets, extirpation of the entire prostate is advised; otherwise, removal of the stones will suffice.

Nose Blowing

Mrs. J. F. writes: A small son of mine never blows his nose. Is there something I can do to help correct this matter?

Reply

So long as drainage occurs it makes little difference whether the mucus escapes from the front or the back of the nose. Blowing is preferred but if the mouth is not kept open, the increased pressure within the nose may force the secretion into the sinuses.

Nothing. The reaction of the urine varies from specimen to specimen and day to day. It is influenced by what is eaten and many other innocent factors. The next time you have an analysis made, it may be acid.

Six Flouted Will Of Congress By Blocking Housing Bill; Rep. Cox Ducked Promise to Support Housing Bill; New FCC Commissioner Amazes Senators

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, June 27 — One of the most important votes in the closing days of Congress was held in strictest secrecy, though it affected several million people. It was the vote of the House Rules Committee to prevent the Housing Bill from reaching the floor of the Congress where other congressmen could vote on it. However, this column has now obtained that secret vote.

The Taft Housing Bill, with provisions for slum-clearance and low-cost housing, had long before passed the Senate. It also passed the House Banking and Currency Committee after Congresman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan pigeonholed it for weeks.

Finally it went to the Rules committee, which has the power to decide whether any bill can come out before the full House for a vote. And that was as far as it got. While thousands of veterans waited for long-promised housing to materialize, six Republicans on the Rules Committee voted thumbs down.

Naturally they tried to keep their names secret. However, here is the rollcall of the six men who flouted the will of the majority of Congress and wouldn't even let 400 odd other congressmen vote:

Leo Allen of Illinois, Chairman of the Rules Committee; James Wadsworth of New York, who while voting with the real-estate interests on this, simultaneously demanded that young men be drafted; Edgar Chenoweth of Colorado; Ross Rizley of Oklahoma whose law firm represented some of the big natural gas companies while he authored a rate-increase bill for the gas companies; Forest Harness of Indiana; and Robert Rich of Pennsylvania.

Two Democrats present voted for the Housing Bill: Howard Smith of Virginia and Adolph Sabath of Illinois.

Congressman Breaks Pledge

Run-out Cox — One interesting gentleman who walked out at the last minute on the Housing Bill was Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia.

Cox is a key man on the Rules Committee, claims to have great influence. Before the vote came off, Cox sent a telegram to his home district promising to support the Housing Bill.

"You may assure all interested that I will do everything in my power to see that a rule is granted promptly for House consideration," Cox wired Hudson Malone, Director of the Albany, Ga., Housing Authority.

"The Bill will have my strongest support with the hope that it will be passed before adjournment."

But just before the vote came, Cox got up and ducked out of the Rules Committee. News of his run-out, of course, did not get back home to his home voters.

Woman Commissioner Amazes

Forthright Lady — One of the few Truman appointees to be confirmed by the Senate during the last-minute rush of Congress was Miss Freida Hennock, the first lady ever appointed to the Federal Communications Commission. Miss Hennock was confirmed not only because of her ability but because of her amazing frankness.

Called before the Republican-dominated Interstate Commerce Committee, Miss Hennock, appointed as a Democrat, told the Senators.

"I'm against you and I always have been. I have done my best to collect money for Roosevelt and have probably taken a lot of good Republican money away from what you wanted to collect."

"Do you know anything about radio?" asked one Republican Senator.

"Only that I've raised a lot of money for radio programs for Roosevelt," replied Miss Hennock.

Senator Brewster of Maine wanted to know what Miss Hennock thought of Mary Martin of Maine, who last year was considered as a possible appointee to the FCC.

"I don't know her," replied the lady Democrat from New York. "But I think that women haven't had nearly the recognition they deserved since they got suffrage. It they have brains and ability they should not be penalized merely because they wear a skirt."

The amazed Senators taken back by Miss Hennock's frankness, asked many questions, all of them courteous and friendly. When the hearing was over, the prospective FCC commissioner told the committee:

"You're much too nice. I hope you don't confirm me and that you'll call me back here every week."

But they didn't, they confirmed her right away.

Note — The FCC is composed of a certain number of Democrats and a certain number of Republicans so that Miss Hennock's political affiliation as a Democrat was not held against her by the Republicans.

Politics In Education Office

Education Blowup — The U. S. Office of Education, which for long years under Roosevelt was kept out of partisan politics, is now headed for a blowup.

E. B. Norton, Deputy Commissioner of Education, has resigned in a huff over political censorship. He is sore at energetic Oscar Ewing, new Federal Security Administrator, who is the over-all boss of the Office of Education.

Ewing was former Vice-Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and is an all-out Truman man. Another resignation in the offing is that of Educational Commissioner John Studebaker himself.

Deputy Commissioner Norton in a letter of resignation laid it right on the line against Oscar Ewing's political interferences:

"I would be less than frank . . . if I should neglect to say that one major factor in my decision to leave the Office of Education has been my dissatisfaction and deep concern . . . over the rate at which the political administration of the Federal Security Agency is taking over . . . I cannot look with complacency upon rapidly developing trends to subject the professional bureau that is the Office of Education to increasing controls on the part of numerous persons planted in the structural organization at levels between the Commissioner of Education and the Administrator of the Federal Security Agency . . .

"Nor can I be pleased," continued Norton, "with the extent to which administrative decisions have been made and subsequent executive orders arbitrarily issued without adequate opportunity for democratic discussion of the principles involved."

Statistician Probes Future; Great Role Seen For "A" Energy

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 25— During the month of June many important forecasts have been made by scientists in connection with the graduating exercises of the 169 engineering schools of the United States. Some of these seem fantastic; but if we will look back 50 years and compare the things which we have today with what we had 50 years ago, these forecasts will not seem strange.

Thus far we have been able to insulate against heat, cold, sound, light and even atomic waves. We, however, have been unable to insulate against gravity. Someday this secret will be discovered. It can be applied to hundreds of things from stair treads to airplanes. It naturally will be rather bearish upon the stocks of certain companies and bullish on others.

We are hearing of all kinds of practical uses for atomic energy; but the one that seems most revolutionary is its use in blowing off mountain tops and in redirecting ocean currents. This would open the way for vast changes in weather conditions making the arid parts of this country and, in fact, the world blossom like a rose. This might make new irrigation projects unnecessary.

What We Eat

In the years ahead we certainly will have "no world" or One World. Believing that we then will have One World, we must assume that there will be no tariffs nor further talk about nationalism. Then our food will be raised where God intended it to be raised which is the only way that world peace can be established and maintained. If such a system were adopted at once, it could reduce the cost of agricultural products 50%. Furthermore, if the homes, schools and food advertisers would cooperate to get the American people to eat what and as we should, we all would live to be 100 years old

Scientists tell us that with every rainfall vitamins and minerals are being washed from the soil. These flow down the streams into the ocean. Hence, while the land and its products are constantly getting poorer, the ocean and its products are constantly getting richer Today the ocean is controlled only within three miles of the different countries which it borders. When we have One World, this control will apply to the entire ocean. With the same attention given to the fisheries as is now given to agriculture, the products of the ocean could supply sufficient proteins to every man, woman and child on the earth.

Clothing And Shelter

The weaving of cloth will in all probability be eliminated in the not too distant future. All of our clothing, rugs and upholstery will be made the same as paper is made today. Raincoat manufacturers are already using such material. Our new houses will sometime be prefabricated and would be today were it not for the crazy rules of labor unions and the antiquated building codes. Then there will be a reduction in the cost of living from which wageworkers will get a real benefit far exceeding anything which the union labor leaders have thus far given them.

Before too many years a start will have been made towards using water and soil as fuel. Wireless and television will have been developed so as to enable—for all practical purposes—the instantaneous transmission or transportation of us as individuals. We will no longer need to take a train, automobile or airplane for a conference a thousand miles away. We can get the same result by sitting in a television booth at or near our home.

Importance Of Decentralization

Another very important development will come with decentralization. In fact, I have almost decided to devote the rest of my life to aiding the decentralization of cities, industries and large educational institutions. Not only is decentralization the only defense against atomic and bacteriological attacks, but it is fundamental to efficient, economical and democratic living. We, moreover, must not be content with these material developments but make certain that we progress spiritually as well. The greatest need now is for better mental motivation.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Thomas E. Dewey

IT WILL be a change when and if Thomas E. Dewey is elected President of the United States. In the first place, in the White House will be a quiet family, all the members of which, including father, project themselves in the public eye with difficulty. Mrs. Dewey is in no manner competing with her husband for public acclaim. As a wife she goes along, but her major interest is family life —the normal family life of the average American home in the middle West.

These Deweys are not New Yorkers, although Tom made his career there. He is from Owosso, Mich.; she from Sapulpa, Okla. Those are small towns and if they produce small town personalities, Tom Dewey is just that and so is his lady. If they prefer to stay at home nights, maybe it is because New York night life loses its thrill on acquaintance except for those who would rather be barflies than not be seen. Anyhow, Tom Dewey succeeded in making a career in the Big City without giving up the simple ways of small town life. And up through success after success to the governorship of the Empire State, he and Frances continued their quiet and modest life.

In their personal friendships, the Deweys are much the same. Herbert Brownell, who has managed all of Dewey's political campaigns, is just a country boy from Indiana who made good in the Big City. Herb once ran for State Senator and Tom Dewey was his campaign manager. Then it came to be the other way about.

His two principal intellectual advisers, John Foster Dulles and Elliot Bell, are scholarly men. Dulle's grandfather, John Foster, was Secretary of State, I believe out of Indiana; his uncle, Robert Lansing, was Woodrow Wilson's Secretary of State; his father was a clergyman, and Foster, as he is called, is one of the principal Protestant laymen in America.

Elliott Bell is a New Yorker, a product of Columbia University, a newspaperman and an economist.

These are wholesome human beings who think in terms of a spiritual as well as a material America. Dewey has no kitchen cabinet of playboys, no retailers of night club gossip. These men and their colleagues are devoted people, all of whom have been with Dewey from the start. Many of them were with him in the gang-buster days. As a group of young men who stuck together long, they molded each other; they influenced each other, in a sense they grew up together.

It has often been said that no one can break through this coterie, that it will be an iron band around the White House. That is, of course, nonsense. Men who make talent and character their test always attract men of talent and character. Birds of a feather, you know. Everyone remarked in Philadelphia how smoothly the Dewey machine worked. But few realized that it was not so much a machine as a devoted camaraderie who were accustomed to association and who set a pattern of unexcited, efficient work for any newcomers.

And the camaraderie, the most hard-working is that tall, Brooklyn lawyer who always is where Dewey is, a sort of guardian angel, Paul Lockwood, who even more than Tom Dewey was rewarded by Dewey's nomination. For Paul sacrificed an important career of his own to serve Dewey as his secretary. His confidence paid off Thursday night in the satisfaction of knowing that it was not in vain.

I can go on describing the Dewey circle, but these examples suffice. It is a good, clean American crowd of devoted men who serve not only Dewey but their country. If they seem very quiet and simple after the gay nightclub Roosevelts, the country will, I am sure, be better for the change.

For Dewey will give it a sober administration, with few tricks and fewer still attempts to cover error by another error. It will, as he said, be done by teamwork, for never assuming the role of a know-it-all, he always delegates authority while he assumes full responsibility. He produced an excellent administration in New York State; he will do the same for America.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The New Republicanism

Philadelphia.

IN THE LONG run, the public emergence of a new kind of Republicanism is likely to be considered the most important event of this convention. It was because the Republican party had already changed greatly, without many people really noticing it, that Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren were so quickly chosen as the standard bearers. Dewey and Warren symbolize the final triumph of the modern-minded Republicans, whose very existence has sometimes been obscured by the disproportionate number of men like Representative John Taber in the Republican majority in Congress.

The proof of these conclusions is to be found, curiously enough, in the miscalculation in the strategy of the small political underground that proposed to draft Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg for the Presidency. So astute a politician as Senator Henry Cabot Lodge firmly believed, until the very day the convention opened, that the forces of Governor Dewey and Senator Robert A. Taft would be so evenly balanced as to produce a deadlock. It is ancient history that the idea then was to offer Vandenberg as a compromise.

What in fact happened was that the forces of Senator Taft, who commanded the support of the Republican right wing, turned out to be much weaker than had been expected. Senator Taft himself comes out of the convention, as one could have anticipated, with increased stature. From start to finish, he showed unfailing strength of character, good sportsmanship and an odd, attractive kind of impersonal common sense.

No deadlock materialized, not because Taft failed as a leader, but simply because of the increasing rarity of the men designed in the classical image of the old-fashioned Republicanism—men like Taft's Texan supporter, Colonel R. B. Creager, who became master of the party in Texas under Warren Gamaliel Harding; or old Harrison Spangler of Iowa, or Taft's manager, Clarence Brown of Ohio. Although very different from Taft in character, these were the men who constituted the Taft bloc. And they were not only a relatively small minority of the whole convention; although they are reputed to be the practical masters of the political craft, they were also constantly outsmarted by Dewey's brilliant organization, headed by Herbert Brownell.

Look at the huge Brown, whose natural habitat seems to be a smoke-filled room. Then look at the slender, precise Brownell, who seems to be rather out of place away from a good law office or modernist professor's platform. You see at once the difference between the old Republican party and the new.

The candidates themselves, of course, express the change in the Republican party better than any one else. Of Dewey's record, nothing needs to be said, because everythings has been said so often already. His character, however, remains surprisingly puzzling, considering the length and great importance of his public service.

He is not the sort of political leader who arouses any personal fervor of affection among his followers. It is hard to know why this is so, unless the cool, almost mechanical efficiency of the man strikes something of a chill into those who do not know him intimately. On the other hand, he has around him, as these correspondents reported at the time of his re-election to the New York Governorship, the best staff that any American political chieftain in a good many decades has ever possessed. And from this staff, he commands really passionate loyalty. In short, he must be much more likable at close range than on a platform, and this is important, for a man's personal staff must inevitably know all his seamy sides.

More important still, Dewey and his staff possess really remarkable experince and competence in the art of government. In this respect, political leadership is a little like a plumbing fixture—it may be nice to have it orchid-colored, but what matters is that it should work. The working effectiveness of Dewey leadership is, finally, greatly enhanced by the choice of Earl Warren as his running mate.

Warren is by long odds the most progressive of all the Republicans of national stature. He is an easy-tempered, genial man, but a fighter when aroused. And the thing that most strongly arouses his fighting spirit is the greatest danger for the Republicans—the grabbing for anything that is not nailed down, by the large special interests that still regard the Republican party as their very own. From this, under Dewey and Warren, there is reason to hope the country should be safe.

The Republican majority of Congress may still wish to celebrate a carnival of reaction, as President Truman charges. But Dewey, leading his party back to the good fruits of office after many hungry years, should long enjoy the same control of Congress that Franklin Roosevelt enjoyed for similar reasons from 1936 to 1938.

A Dewey-Warren administration will be a conservative administration, for if the word means anything at all, the Republican party is certainly the party of American conservatism. But the Dewey-Warren brand of conservatism should also be intelligent conservatism, which means that the jobs that really need to be done will be done efficiently, and the messes that really need to be tidied up will be tidied up neatly.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

An entire government-owned town has been auctioned off in Tennessee. The minute Vera Vague heard about it she put in a bid for the YMCA.

The government auctioned everything but the town laundry. They still want to use the wringers so they can get that last cent out of the taxpayers.

In some instances the government can do even better than auctioning off a town. Considering the rough time he's been having with Congress, President Truman will give you Washington.

I am going to put in a bid for one of the streets. Some day when another driver yells at me, "Hey, do you think you own the street?" I can really say, "Yes."

And I am going to buy all the traffic lights and put them on my Christmas tree. When my relatives hang around too long, I'll just switch on the "go" signals.

I also put in a bid for the town library, but they rejected it. I don't know why. It's only fair. If I buy the library it should include the librarians, too.

The government built the town during a Democratic administration and it's really a model community. But I think it's carrying partisan politics too far when they put in a donkey for mayor.

And when a man is arrested in the town and brought to court, the judge always asks, "How do you plead, Republican or not guilty?"

Dewey And Warren Make A Well-Rounded Ticket

By the measurement of decibels, the Republican convention at Philadelphia which nominated Governor Dewey and Governor Warren for president and vice president, respectively, was not as noisy as some. The delegates were too well aware of the serious business in hand. They not only had to choose a nominee from a number of exceptionally able candidates. They were certain that they were naming the next President of the United States, for the first time in 16 long years. Rarely have delegates stuck to their tasks with less merry-making or more earnestness of purpose.

There were, of course the usual demonstrations after the nominating speeches and the cries of triumph throughout the balloting. To the spectator on the convention floor, these varying crowd reactions depicted, as no words could, the varying appeals of the candidates. The loudest noise, on the floor and in the galleries, were made by the Stassen following. They were the only ones who marched with banners through the galleries—a perilous business. Here, one thought, is the exuberant and assertive spirit of American youth.

The shouts and whistle-blowing for Governor Warren had the lusty spirit of the old West, and, we are happy to say, only a touch of Hollywood. The cheering for Vandenberg, at his request, was brief and was also muted by the fact that his followers realized their man had no chance. The MacArthur tribute, though it came upon a crowd half-drugged with fatigue, was a moving gesture of esteem for a great general who needs no political reward.

The most important and interesting demonstrations of course, were the first two. Dewey's was, like his campaign, smooth, efficient and elaborately organized. The cheering for Taft was a heartfelt tribute to an American statesman whose words brush away sham and dishonesty in American public life and whose moral courage, no less than his great abilities, will be at the service of the next—and Republican—administration at Washington.

The ovation for Gov. Warren, when he was nominated by acclamation, was a stirring scene. The resounding cheers and shouts were the climax to a great political gathering, and they expressed the satisfying thought that in Gov. Warren, as running-mate of Gov. Dewey, the nation was being presented a ticket around which every American may rally with pride and confidence. The convention delegates have presented the nation with not only a well balanced ticket but also a platform of exceptional quality.

In securing Governor Warren as his candidate for Vice President, Governor Dewey scored a major service for the county just as he has done for the people of New York during the gubernatorial administration—bringing ability into his official family. Governor Warren's leadership in California and on the west coast in general has been of high standard. He will prove a great asset for the American people when he takes up the duties of Vice President next January.

Prizes are being offered by Kansas for additional verses to the state song, "Home on the Range," but it is not revealed whether the natives have learned to sing the original ones.

Another Season Has Come To Cumberland

Summer, as it always does once a year, has arrived at Cumberland. The calendar says so, and so does the weather, if you have been reading the thermometer the past few days. In the face of dates, wilting collars and perspiring brows, there is no argument.

The official arrival time was Monday at 7:11 A. M. Eastern Standard Time. At that instant the sun reached its farthest point in its annual journey north, and was directly overhead at noon along the Tropic of Cancer, 27 degrees and 27 minutes north of the Equator. In other words, that was the time of the summer solstice, making Monday the longest day in the year. From now on the days grow progressively shorter.

This shortening of the days, unfortunately, doesn't tie in with a diminishing of the heat. On the contrary the days will get hotter for another month, the reason being that the earth, receiving more heat by day than it does at night, builds up warmth for quite a while after the dawn of Summer. Not until the latter part of July does it start to lose more heat than it gains.

Thus we face the hot months, with days when the mercury nears or passes the 100 mark, when the humidity, such as Cumberland has been experiencing the past week rises and the countryside takes on the aspects of an oven. But there are compensations. In the lushness of vegetation, the growing crops, the hum of the insects and the light eerie mist that fills the valleys at night, there is proof that the promise of Spring has been fulfilled and life is at full tide.

Who wants to be President, at $35,000 a year after taxes, when it is possible to pick up that sum on a radio quiz and have a refrigerator thrown in?

The New Ford

It is always national news when a new Ford comes out, although it is no longer America's cheapest car. Other manufacturers cannot deny that it was old Henry Ford who put America on motorized wheels for the first time.

The Model T was the car for the millions, and 15,000,000 of them were made. Once Mr. Ford got the price down to less than $300. It was in 1909 that he told his prospective customers that they shouldn't be particular about what they got in an automobile for that money.

"Any customer," he said, "can have a car painted any color he wants so long as it's black."

Since the days of Fords available in all shades of black there have been the Model A and the newer models that have taken color and many other aspects in addition to price into consideration. By announcing 1949 models in June, Ford has beaten his competitors to the draw, but they, too, can be expected to bring out lines with new contours before the end of the year.

In the minds of the car-hungry, however, the most appropriately named part of any automobile agency's headquarters is still the waiting room.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Nosebleed (epistaxis) is common because the membranes of the old proboscis are alive with blood vessels. Moreover, the organ is easily injured and extremely susceptible to infection. There are probably only a handful of individuals who have never encountered bleeding from this structure at some time or other. The disorder comes on at all periods in life but children are most frequently afflicted, especially during the age of puberty.

In the majority of cases, hemorrhage stops spontaneously. This takes place more readily if the individual will lie down, apply a cold compress and refrain from blowing or sneezing. On the other hand, if the flow continues, help is required because there is a limit to how much vital fluid can be lost safely.

Nature has been kind in this respect as the bleeding point, in most instances, is located on the septum (partition) just within the nostrils. Consequently, by inserting a pledget of cotton and pinching the nose, oozing is controlled readily. If this fails, the physician generally searches elsewhere for the ruptured vessel and either cauterize the area or introduces a more formidable nasal plug which is left in place for several hours until clotting occurs. Occasionally nothing seems to cause cessation of the flow and blood transfuions may be necessary.

When the nose is bumped or struck bleeding is a common aftermath. Certain individuals are more prone to the condition than others, and there are some in whom a trivial accident is sure to produce blood. These persons apparently have fragile vessels or regions where they are more numerous and near the surface. There is an abnormality, known as "heridiatary telangiectasis," in which blood channels of this type are passed from one generation to another.

When nosebleed arises habitually, examination is always desirable. An ulcer or tumor may be present in the passageway. In children, the adenoids may be enlarged or the youngster may have inserted a peanut, eraser or other small object which has failed to come out. It may mean also that something is amiss with the blood; the clotting mechanism could be disturbed because of anemia; or leucemia, scurvy, or hemophilia may exist. On the other hand, occasionally it is a sign that the child has rheumatic fever or heart disease. In oldsters, the blood pressure should be checked. Now and then a vessel has ruptured and here the oozing is welcomed because rupture or an artery or vein in this location is better than in the brain. Furthermore, loss of blood lowers the tension temporarily.

Epistaxis is something noted during acute illnesses such a typhoid, scarlet fever Brights' disease, or whooping cough. In the latter, bleeding is usually caused by the severe paroxysms of coughing; but in the others, the capillaries are often involved by the original malady. Hemorrhage from the nose after a head injury may denote skull fracture and as such offers a clew as to the severity of the damage.

Yes, the condition is probably more common than is realized. If symptoms are not present, nothing need be done except a periodic examination to make sure that complications are not developing. But if they obstruct the organ or encourage infection, surgery is advised. If the man is in the older age brackets, extirpation of the entire prostate is advised; otherwise, removal of the stones will suffice.

So long as drainage occurs it makes little difference whether the mucus escapes from the front or the back of the nose. Blowing is preferred but if the mouth is not kept open, the increased pressure within the nose may force the secretion into the sinuses.

It was the vote of the House Rules Committee to prevent the Housing Bill from reaching the floor of the Congress where other congressmen could vote on it. However, this column has now obtained that secret vote.

The Taft Housing Bill, with provisions for slum-clearance and low-cost housing, had long before passed the Senate. It also passed the House Banking and Currency Committee after Congresman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan pigeonholed it for weeks.

Finally it went to the Rules committee, which has the power to decide whether any bill can come out before the full House for a vote. And that was as far as it got. While thousands of veterans waited for long-promised housing to materialize, six Republicans on the Rules Committee voted thumbs down.

Naturally they tried to keep their names secret. However, here is the rollcall of the six men who flouted the will of the majority of Congress and wouldn't even let 400 odd other congressmen vote:

Leo Allen of Illinois, Chairman of the Rules Committee; James Wadsworth of New York, who while voting with the real-estate interests on this, simultaneously demanded that young men be drafted; Edgar Chenoweth of Colorado; Ross Rizley of Oklahoma whose law firm represented some of the big natural gas companies while he authored a rate-increase bill for the gas companies; Forest Harness of Indiana; and Robert Rich of Pennsylvania.

Two Democrats present voted for the Housing Bill: Howard Smith of Virginia and Adolph Sabath of Illinois.

Congressman Breaks Pledge

Run-out Cox — One interesting gentleman who walked out at the last minute on the Housing Bill was Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia.

Cox is a key man on the Rules Committee, claims to have great influence. Before the vote came off, Cox sent a telegram to his home district promising to support the Housing Bill.

"You may assure all interested that I will do everything in my power to see that a rule is granted promptly for House consideration," Cox wired Hudson Malone, Director of the Albany, Ga., Housing Authority.

"The Bill will have my strongest support with the hope that it will be passed before adjournment."

But just before the vote came, Cox got up and ducked out of the Rules Committee. News of his run-out, of course, did not get back home to his home voters.

Woman Commissioner Amazes

Forthright Lady — One of the few Truman appointees to be confirmed by the Senate during the last-minute rush of Congress was Miss Freida Hennock, the first lady ever appointed to the Federal Communications Commission. Miss Hennock was confirmed not only because of her ability but because of her amazing frankness.

Called before the Republican-dominated Interstate Commerce Committee, Miss Hennock, appointed as a Democrat, told the Senators.

"I'm against you and I always have been. I have done my best to collect money for Roosevelt and have probably taken a lot of good Republican money away from what you wanted to collect."

"Do you know anything about radio?" asked one Republican Senator.

"Only that I've raised a lot of money for radio programs for Roosevelt," replied Miss Hennock.

Senator Brewster of Maine wanted to know what Miss Hennock thought of Mary Martin of Maine, who last year was considered as a possible appointee to the FCC.

"I don't know her," replied the lady Democrat from New York. "But I think that women haven't had nearly the recognition they deserved since they got suffrage. It they have brains and ability they should not be penalized merely because they wear a skirt."

The amazed Senators taken back by Miss Hennock's frankness, asked many questions, all of them courteous and friendly. When the hearing was over, the prospective FCC commissioner told the committee:

"You're much too nice. I hope you don't confirm me and that you'll call me back here every week."

But they didn't, they confirmed her right away.

Note — The FCC is composed of a certain number of Democrats and a certain number of Republicans so that Miss Hennock's political affiliation as a Democrat was not held against her by the Republicans.

Politics In Education Office

Education Blowup — The U. S. Office of Education, which for long years under Roosevelt was kept out of partisan politics, is now headed for a blowup.

E. B. Norton, Deputy Commissioner of Education, has resigned in a huff over political censorship. He is sore at energetic Oscar Ewing, new Federal Security Administrator, who is the over-all boss of the Office of Education.

Ewing was former Vice-Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and is an all-out Truman man. Another resignation in the offing is that of Educational Commissioner John Studebaker himself.

Deputy Commissioner Norton in a letter of resignation laid it right on the line against Oscar Ewing's political interferences:

"I would be less than frank . . . if I should neglect to say that one major factor in my decision to leave the Office of Education has been my dissatisfaction and deep concern . . . over the rate at which the political administration of the Federal Security Agency is taking over . . . I cannot look with complacency upon rapidly developing trends to subject the professional bureau that is the Office of Education to increasing controls on the part of numerous persons planted in the structural organization at levels between the Commissioner of Education and the Administrator of the Federal Security Agency . . .

"Nor can I be pleased," continued Norton, "with the extent to which administrative decisions have been made and subsequent executive orders arbitrarily issued without adequate opportunity for democratic discussion of the principles involved."

Statistician Probes Future; Great Role Seen For "A" Energy

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 25—During the month of June many important forecasts have been made by scientists in connection with the graduating exercises of the 169 engineering schools of the United States. Some of these seem fantastic; but if we will look back 50 years and compare the things which we have today with what we had 50 years ago, these forecasts will not seem strange.

Thus far we have been able to insulate against heat, cold, sound, light and even atomic waves. We, however, have been unable to insulate against gravity. Someday this secret will be discovered. It can be applied to hundreds of things from stair treads to airplanes. It naturally will be rather bearish upon the stocks of certain companies and bullish on others.

We are hearing of all kinds of practical uses for atomic energy; but the one that seems most revolutionary is its use in blowing off mountain tops and in redirecting ocean currents. This would open the way for vast changes in weather conditions making the arid parts of this country and, in fact, the world blossom like a rose. This might make new irrigation projects unnecessary.

What We Eat

In the years ahead we certainly will have "no world" or One World. Believing that we then will have One World, we must assume that there will be no tariffs nor further talk about nationalism. Then our food will be raised where God intended it to be raised which is the only way that world peace can be established and maintained. If such a system were adopted at once, it could reduce the cost of agricultural products 50%. Furthermore, if the homes, schools and food advertisers would cooperate to get the American people to eat what and as we should, we all would live to be 100 years old

Scientists tell us that with every rainfall vitamins and minerals are being washed from the soil. These flow down the streams into the ocean. Hence, while the land and its products are constantly getting poorer, the ocean and its products are constantly getting richer Today the ocean is controlled only within three miles of the different countries which it borders. When we have One World, this control will apply to the entire ocean. With the same attention given to the fisheries as is now given to agriculture, the products of the ocean could supply sufficient proteins to every man, woman and child on the earth.

Clothing And Shelter

The weaving of cloth will in all probability be eliminated in the not too distant future. All of our clothing, rugs and upholstery will be made the same as paper is made today. Raincoat manufacturers are already using such material. Our new houses will sometime be prefabricated and would be today were it not for the crazy rules of labor unions and the antiquated building codes. Then there will be a reduction in the cost of living from which wageworkers will get a real benefit far exceeding anything which the union labor leaders have thus far given them.

Before too many years a start will have been made towards using water and soil as fuel. Wireless and television will have been developed so as to enable—for all practical purposes—the instantaneous transmission or transportation of us as individuals. We will no longer need to take a train, automobile or airplane for a conference a thousand miles away. We can get the same result by sitting in a television booth at or near our home.

Importance Of Decentralization

Another very important development will come with decentralization. In fact, I have almost decided to devote the rest of my life to aiding the decentralization of cities, industries and large educational institutions. Not only is decentralization the only defense against atomic and bacteriological attacks, but it is fundamental to efficient, economical and democratic living. We, moreover, must not be content with these material developments but make certain that we progress spiritually as well. The greatest need now is for better mental motivation.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Thomas E. Dewey

IT WILL be a change when and if Thomas E. Dewey is elected President of the United States. In the first place, in the White House will be a quiet family, all the members of which, including father, project themselves in the public eye with difficulty. Mrs. Dewey is in no manner competing with her husband for public acclaim. As a wife she goes along, but her major interest is family life—the normal family life of the average American home in the middle West.

These Deweys are not New Yorkers, although Tom made his career there. He is from Owosso, Mich.; she from Sapulpa, Okla. Those are small towns and if they produce small town personalities, Tom Dewey is just that and so is his lady. If they prefer to stay at home nights, maybe it is because New York night life loses its thrill on acquaintance except for those who would rather be barflies than not be seen. Anyhow, Tom Dewey succeeded in making a career in the Big City without giving up the simple ways of small town life. And up through success after success to the governorship of the Empire State, he and Frances continued their quiet and modest life.

In their personal friendships, the Deweys are much the same. Herbert Brownell, who has managed all of Dewey's political campaigns, is just a country boy from Indiana who made good in the Big City. Herb once ran for State Senator and Tom Dewey was his campaign manager. Then it came to be the other way about.

His two principal intellectual advisers, John Foster Dulles and Elliot Bell, are scholarly men. Dulle's grandfather, John Foster, was Secretary of State, I believe out of Indiana; his uncle, Robert Lansing, was Woodrow Wilson's Secretary of State; his father was a clergyman, and Foster, as he is called, is one of the principal Protestant laymen in America.

Elliott Bell is a New Yorker, a product of Columbia University, a newspaperman and an economist.

These are wholesome human beings who think in terms of a spiritual as well as a material America. Dewey has no kitchen cabinet of playboys, no retailers of night club gossip. These men and their colleagues are devoted people, all of whom have been with Dewey from the start. Many of them were with him in the gang-buster days. As a group of young men who stuck together long, they molded each other; they influenced each other, in a sense they grew up together.

It has often been said that no one can break through this coterie, that it will be an iron band around the White House. That is, of course, nonsense. Men who make talent and character their test always attract men of talent and character. Birds of a feather, you know. Everyone remarked in Philadelphia how smoothly the Dewey machine worked. But few realized that it was not so much a machine as a devoted camaraderie who were accustomed to association and who set a pattern of unexcited, efficient work for any newcomers.

And the camaraderie, the most hard-working is that tall, Brooklyn lawyer who always is where Dewey is, a sort of guardian angel, Paul Lockwood, who even more than Tom Dewey was rewarded by Dewey's nomination. For Paul sacrificed an important career of his own to serve Dewey as his secretary. His confidence paid off Thursday night in the satisfaction of knowing that it was not in vain.

I can go on describing the Dewey circle, but these examples suffice. It is a good, clean American crowd of devoted men who serve not only Dewey but their country. If they seem very quiet and simple after the gay nightclub Roosevelts, the country will, I am sure, be better for the change.

For Dewey will give it a sober administration, with few tricks and fewer still attempts to cover error by another error. It will, as he said, be done by teamwork, for never assuming the role of a know-it-all, he always delegates authority while he assumes full responsibility. He produced an excellent administration in New York State; he will do the same for America.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The New Republicanism

Philadelphia.

IN THE LONG run, the public emergence of a new kind of Republicanism is likely to be considered the most important event of this convention. It was because the Republican party had already changed greatly, without many people really noticing it, that Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren were so quickly chosen as the standard bearers. Dewey and Warren symbolize the final triumph of the modern-minded Republicans, whose very existence has sometimes been obscured by the disproportionate number of men like Representative John Taber in the Republican majority in Congress.

The proof of these conclusions is to be found, curiously enough, in the miscalculation in the strategy of the small political underground that proposed to draft Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg for the Presidency. So astute a politician as Senator Henry Cabot Lodge firmly believed, until the very day the convention opened, that the forces of Governor Dewey and Senator Robert A. Taft would be so evenly balanced as to produce a deadlock. It is ancient history that the idea then was to offer Vandenberg as a compromise.

What in fact happened was that the forces of Senator Taft, who commanded the support of the Republican right wing, turned out to be much weaker than had been expected. Senator Taft himself comes out of the convention, as one could have anticipated, with increased stature. From start to finish, he showed unfailing strength of character, good sportsmanship and an odd, attractive kind of impersonal common sense.

No deadlock materialized, not because Taft failed as a leader, but simply because of the increasing rarity of the men designed in the classical image of the old-fashioned Republicanism — men like Taft's Texan supporter, Colonel R. B. Creager, who became master of the party in Texas under Warren Gamaliel Harding; or old Harrison Spangler of Iowa, or Taft's manager, Clarence Brown of Ohio. Although very different from Taft in character, these were the men who constituted the Taft bloc. And they were not only a relatively small minority of the whole convention; although they are reputed to be the practical masters of the political craft, they were also constantly outsmarted by Dewey's brilliant organization, headed by Herbert Brownell.

Look at the huge Brown, whose natural habitat seems to be a smoke-filled room. Then look at the slender, precise Brownell, who seems to be rather out of place away from a good law office or modernist professor's platform. You see at once the difference between the old Republican party and the new.

The candidates themselves, of course, express the change in the Republican party better than any one else. Of Dewey's record, nothing needs to be said, because everythings has been said so often already. His character, however, remains surprisingly puzzling, considering the length and great importance of his public service.

He is not the sort of political leader who arouses any personal fervor of affection among his followers. It is hard to know why this is so, unless the cool, almost mechanical efficiency of the man strikes something of a chill into those who do not know him intimately. On the other hand, he has around him, as these correspondents reported at the time of his re-election to the New York Governorship, the best staff that any American political chieftain in a good many decades has ever possessed. And from this staff, he commands really passionate loyalty. In short, he must be much more likable at close range than on a platform, and this is important, for a man's personal staff must inevitably know all his seamy sides.

More important still, Dewey and his staff possess really remarkable experince and competence in the art of government. In this respect, political leadership is a little like a plumbing fixture—it may be nice to have it orchid-colored, but what matters is that it should work. The working effectiveness of Dewey leadership is, finally, greatly enhanced by the choice of Earl Warren as his running mate.

Warren is by long odds the most progressive of all the Republicans of national stature. He is an easy-tempered, genial man, but a fighter when aroused. And the thing that most strongly arouses his fighting spirit is the greatest danger for the Republicans—the grabbing for anything that is not nailed down, by the large special interests that still regard the Republican party as their very own. From this, under Dewey and Warren, there is reason to hope the country should be safe.

The Republican majority of Congress may still wish to celebrate a carnival of reaction, as President Truman charges. But Dewey, leading his party back to the good fruits of office after many hungry years, should long enjoy the same control of Congress that Franklin Roosevelt enjoyed for similar reasons from 1936 to 1938.

A Dewey-Warren administration will be a conservative administration, for if the word means anything at all, the Republican party is certainly the party of American conservatism. But the Dewey-Warren brand of conservatism should also be intelligent conservatism, which means that the jobs that really need to be done will be done efficiently, and the messes that really need to be tidied up will be tidied up neatly.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

An entire government-owned town has been auctioned off in Tennessee. The minute Vera Vague heard about it she put in a bid for the YMCA.

The government auctioned everything but the town laundry. They still want to use the wringers so they can get that last cent out of the taxpayers.

In some instances the government can do even better than auctioning off a town. Considering the rough time he's been having with Congress, President Truman will give you Washington.

I am going to put in a bid for one of the streets. Some day when another driver yells at me, "Hey, do you think you own the street?" I can really say, "Yes."

And I am going to buy all the traffic lights and put them on my Christmas tree. When my relatives hang around too long, I'll just switch on the "go" signals.

I also put in a bid for the town library, but they rejected it. I don't know why. It's only fair. If I buy the library it should include the librarians, too.

The government built the town during a Democratic administration and it's really a model community. But I think it's carrying partisan politics too far when they put in a donkey for mayor.

And when a man is arrested in the town and brought to court, the judge always asks, "How do you plead, Republican or not guilty?"

Garrett County Master School Plan Endorsed

Clergyman Asks Partial Resurvey

OAKLAND—Hearty endorsement of the proposed modern educational program for the county has been indicated since the program was presented to the people, concluding with a public meeting in Oakland High School. At that time a number of individuals and organizations took a definite stand for the adoption of the master plan.

The master plan calls for construction of two high schools in the county, one in the Keyser Ridge area, one within a five-mile radius of Oakland, possibly near Mt. Lake Park; the use of the present high school buildings with the exception of Oakland, as permanent elementary centers, the gradual reduction of the number of schools in the county from 47 to 18, and the improvement of the remaining small schools into modern buildings.

Last Friday's meeting was the culmination of a group of regional meetings held since R. Bowen Hardesty, assistant superintendent of schools, assumed his duties here February 1.

The program was projected to the public on June 9, and since then there have been meetings at Grantsville, Friendsville, Accident and Kitzmiller and six other meetings, prior to the general meeting in Oakland High School when Hardesty, John J. Siedel, assistant superintendent of schools, members of the General Assembly and the Board of County Commissioners, were in attendance.

Many of those who expressed their backing to the program declared it was vitally necessary that the program be started as soon as possible and said their groups were in favor of legislation to provide funds without referendum.

A referendum to any legislation empowering the County Commissioners to provide necessary funds, it was pointed out, could not be voted upon for two years, and it was essential that the program be in operation by that time when the full 12-year system went into effect.

Rev. Jonathan Edwards, speaking for a number of Kitzmiller citizens, said they favored an enriched program of education for their children but requested a resurvey of the plan for the southern end of the county with the possibility of schools being retained at Oakland and Kitzmiller, the one at Oakland eventually also being made available for a junior college. He pointed out the master plan "was not necessarily the only plan."

Garrett County Master School Plan Endorsed

Clergyman Asks Partial Resurvey

OAKLAND—Hearty endorsement of the proposed modern educational program for the county has been indicated since the program was presented to the people, concluding with a public meeting in Oakland High School. At that time a number of individuals and organizations took a definite stand for the adoption of the master plan.

The master plan calls for construction of two high schools in the county, one in the Keyser Ridge area, one within a five-mile radius of Oakland, possibly near Mt. Lake Park; the use of the present high school buildings with the exception of Oakland, as permanent elementary centers, the gradual reduction of the number of schools in the county from 47 to 18, and the improvement of the remaining small schools into modern buildings.

Last Friday's meeting was the culmination of a group of regional meetings held since R. Bowen Hardesty, assistant superintendent of schools, assumed his duties here February 1.

The program was projected to the public on June 9, and since then there have been meetings at Grantsville, Friendsville, Accident and Kitzmiller and six other meetings, prior to the general meeting in Oakland High School when Hardesty, John J. Siedel, assistant superintendent of schools, members of the General Assembly and the Board of County Commissioners, were in attendance.

Many of those who expressed their backing to the program declared it was vitally necessary that the program be started as soon as possible and said their groups were in favor of legislation to provide funds without referendum.

A referendum to any legislation empowering the County Commissioners to provide necessary funds, it was pointed out, could not be voted upon for two years, and it was essential that the program be in operation by that time when the full 12-year system went into effect.

Rev. Jonathan Edwards, speaking for a number of Kitzmiller citizens, said they favored an enriched program of education for their children but requested a resurvey of the plan for the southern end of the county with the possibility of schools being retained at Oakland and Kitzmiller, the one at Oakland eventually also being made available for a junior college. He pointed out the master plan "was not necessarily the only plan."

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, June 27—(INS)—Betty Hutton, who took to vaudeville because Paramount has nothing ready for her, wants to do the outside movie she is permitted for Buddy De Sylva.

Gertrude Niesen

Buddy has the perfect picture for the wham-bam blonde, the life of Eva Tanguay, herself a wham-bam blonde of old vaudeville days. Now that he is well enough to be up and around after a long illness, Buddy can see no one but Betty in the Tanguay movie titled "I Don't Care."

Meanwhile, Betty, in San Francisco for the act, is planning a "cute" stunt. She is tossing a party on one of the old cable cars with a tamale man and popcorn man aboard and a quartet to sing "the trolley song."

Philip Dorn is out of "Little Women" at his own request.

The Dutch actor asked Mervyn Leroy to release him from his MGM contract because of an offer just received to co-star with Holland's most popular woman star, Henrietta Davis, in his native country.

"It means everything to my country to re-establish picture production," he told Mervyn, "things had just begun importantly there when the war broke."

Plenty of tangles over Osa Massen changing her name to Stephanie Paull in mid-career. Gene Raymond and Matty Kemp, co-producers of her newest "Million Dollar Weekend," are willing to re-sign all her contracts under the new moniker, but Eagle-Lion exhibitors insist on "Massen."

"For years everybody mixed me up with Ilona Massey or Ona Munson," Ona, pardon me, Stephanie says, "But the minute I take a new name everyone remembers the old one!"

Round-ups: Gertrude Niesen held out for star billing over Rudy Vallee in "Anything Goes" and got it.

The Norman Taurogs—he is one of MGM's top directors and Sue is just top people—have adopted a little girl ten months old.

If Bill Perlberg, in London producing "Britannia Mews," has his way, Van Heflin will be flown over for the male lead. And if Van goes he is taking Fran (Mrs. Heflin) and the two children.

Irene Selznick will probably come back to Hollywood with her father, Louis B. Mayer, when the latter flies out of New York Wednesday.

The Alan Curtis marriage is headed for the rocks unless there is a change of plans after he returns to the Argentine.

Alan told me today that he and the former Sandra Lucas, ex-Conover model, have been having trouble and that they are trying a trial separation before taking legal steps.

Is it possible we have had 25 years of "Tarzan" movies? Must be, because Sol Lesser is getting out an anniversary short titled "A Quarter Of a Century Of Tarzan" with clips from the 24 past films, plus a preview look at the 25th coming up, "Tarzan And The Arrow Of Death."

Nine actors have played Edgar Rice burrough's original jungle boy and you will get a look at them from Elmo Lincoln, through Johnny Weissmuller up to the newly undraped Lex Barker.

Hollywood in shorts:

Report Frances Farmer very ill in a Washington hospital. Her ex, Lief Erickson, now happily married again, leaves Hollywood next week for the Broadway musical, "That's The Ticket."

Now that Barbara Lawrence has filed for divorce, Johnny Fontaine doesn't care who knows that the girl making his heart beat faster is Luba Molina, musical comedy actress.

Oscar Levant, coming out of a preview, ran into the conceited producer. "What did you think of it?" inquired the producer. Levant said, "Frankly, I was disappointed."

"So, who are you to be disappointed?" snapped the irate biggie. Says Oscar, "Wh[illegible] do I have to be to be disappointed?"

Linda Darnell brought her five-month-old baby on the set of "Three Wives." She was a doll while her mother emoted, but screamed like mad when Jeanne Crain started.

Otto Preminger who used to concentrate on Arlene Dahl was concentrating on candy toxton at the Mocambo while Arlene concentrated on Greg Juarez at the next table.

Did anyone toss a bouquet to the Fred MacMurrays quietly celebrating their 12th wedding anniversary last week?

Dennis Morgan is trying to keep it quiet, but he is in the rumba class at Arthur Murray's.

That's all today.

Who Pays for Telephone Expansion?
INVESTORS DO.
They buy telephone bonds and stocks and we use the money to build new telephone facilities.
On the other hand, the money you pay us for telephone service is used for wages, taxes, depreciation and other day-by-day operating costs.
So when you read about the millions of dollars we are putting into our expansion program—or see a new telephone building going up—you can be sure that investors' money is being put to work to expand and improve the telephone service you use.
Thus, we use two kinds of dollars: Customers' dollars—payments received for telephone service—are used to meet day-by-day operating costs.
Investors' dollars—savings of people from all walks of life who invest in the telephone business—are used to put up buildings and buy new equipment.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, June 27—(INS)—Betty Hutton, who took to vaudeville because Paramount has nothing ready for her, wants to do the outside movie she is permitted for Buddy De Sylva.

Buddy has the perfect picture for the wham-bam blonde, the life of Eva Tanguay, herself a wham-bam blonde of old vaudeville days. Now that he is well enough to be up and around after a long illness, Buddy can see no one but Betty in the Tanguay movie titled "I Don't Care."

Gertrude Niesen

Meanwhile, Betty, in San Francisco for the act, is planning a "cute" stunt. She is tossing a party on one of the old cable cars with a tamale man and popcorn man aboard and a quartet to sing "the trolley song."

•–•–•

Philip Dorn is out of "Little Women" at his own request.

The Dutch actor asked Mervyn Leroy to release him from his MGM contract because of an offer just received to co-star with Holland's most popular woman star, Henrietta Davis, in his native country.

"It means everything to my country to re-establish picture production," he told Mervyn, "things had just begun importantly there when the war broke."

Hambletonian Officials Are Looking Ahead

GOSHEN, N. Y., (AP)—Although the 1948 running of the classic Hambletonian race for trotters is on August 11, officials are looking ahead to the 1950 meeting; predicting an all-time record purse of $80,000.

A record total of 404 yearlings has been nominated for the '50 event and if their eligibility is maintained on the same percentage basis as in previous years, the value of the stake will approximate $80,000. Highest previous number of nominations for the race was 376 and the greatest money value it has ever carried was $73,451, in 1926.

It's been 27 years since the Chicago White Sox won the American League pennant. The longest any team in the American League has gone without taking first place. They won in 1919.

Dan Lurie, Brooklyn, did a total of 1,225 parallel bar dips in 1½ hours to set an endurance mark in 1943.

Hambletonian Officials Are Looking Ahead

GOSHEN, N. Y., (AP)—Although the 1948 running of the classic Hambletonian race for trotters is on August 11, officials are looking ahead to the 1950 meeting; predicting an all-time record purse of $80,000.

A record total of 404 yearlings has been nominated for the '50 event and if their eligibility is maintained on the same percentage basis as in previous years, the value of the stake will approximate $80,000. Highest previous number of nominations for the race was 376 and the greatest money value it has ever carried was $73,451, in 1926.

It's been 27 years since the Chicago White Sox won the American League pennant. The longest any team in the American League has gone without taking first place. They won in 1919.

Dan Lurie, Brooklyn, did a total of 1,225 parallel bar dips in 1½ hours to set an endurance mark in 1943.

Bob Mathias Wins A.A.U. Decathlon

By MILTON MARMOR

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., June 27 (AP)—Bob Mathias, 17-year-old Tulare, Calif., high school boy, became the National A.A.U. decathlon champion today and earned the right to head the U. S. Olympic team of three all-around athletes in London this summer.

Competing in his second decathlon event since he grew to 6 feet 1½ inches and 190 pounds of athletic talent, Mathias piled up an unofficial total of 7,224 points in the ten-event grind yesterday and today.

Making the Olympic team with the west coast sensation were two of America's most durable iron men—Irv Mondschein of the New York Pioneer Club, the former champion, and Floyd Simmons of the Los Angeles A. C.

Mondschein had 7,101 points to Simmons' 7,054 total for second and third places.

It was almost dark when the first flight of 20 of this country's iron men sloshed through the water-covered foley field track to finish the 1,500 meter run—last of today's five events.

The meet was run under almost impossible weather conditions. A severe thunderstorm had made a swamp of the midfield where the field events were held and the pole vault pit runaway was thick mud.

Nevertheless, the durables of the track and field world decided to finish up the final olympic tryouts.

PHILS, CUBS DIVIDE

PHILADELPHIA, June 27. (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago Cubs split a doubleheader today, the Cubs copping the opener 6-2 and the Phils taking the nightcap 7-4 with the contest called after eight innings because of the Sunday Curfew. The Phils' bonus rookies had an even break. Curt Simmons lost his sixth game and Robin Roberts won his second.

A crowd of 27,470 watched the twin bill as the Phils ended their current home stand with a mark of five victories and eight defeats. Score:

"JACK" MANLEY MAKES HOLE-IN-ONE DURING COUNTRY CLUB MATCH

John R. "Jack" Manley yesterday became the third member of the Cumberland Country Club to make a hole-in-one over the local course this year.

Manley accomplished the feat during the match between teams of the Opequon Country Club of Martinsburg, W. Va., and the C.C.C.

He made his ace on the 15th, a 170-yard hole, and used a No. 5 iron.

Wilfred "Bill" Norman and George Young were the other members of the C.C.C. who enrolled in the hole-in-one club earlier this season. Norman made his on the 10th while Young's ace was registered on No. 6.

Three holes-in-one in a single season is believed to be an all-time record for the local club course.

At Loch Lynn, the Oakland aggregation extended its winning streak to seven games by walloping the home team to the tune of 13-2.

The winners pounded out 18 hits, Ted James heading the assault with four singles while Dempsey Sharpless rapped three singles, "Bink" Compton collected two doubles and a single and Bob Glaze hit safely three times and drove in four runs. Glaze pitched six-hit ball for Oakland, four of Loch Lynn's blows being shared by Stewart and C. Calhoun. The Amvets' twirler fanned six.

Crellin broke a five-game losing streak by defeating Elk Garden to the tune of 8-3. The Red Sox racked up 13 safeties. Nordeck Shaffer, Don Williams, Harry Sanders, Darrel Lewis, Dorsey Ashby and Denver Sanders banged two hits apiece for the winners while Neel, Rodeheaver and Kelly shared six of the eight blows yielded by Harding and Iser. Neel's shoestring stab of Shaffer's fly in right field was the best fielding play.

Kitzmiller took Klondyke into camp at Kitzmiller by the score of 6-4. The Vets held a 6-0 lead until the 6th when Klondyke rallied in the late innings to make it a close finish. Droppleman of Kitzmiller and Yates of Klondyke paced the hitters with two blows each. There were only two extra base hits in the game—doubles by Leatherman of Klondyke and Comp of Kitzmiller.

Robinson Must Make Weight Or Relinquish Welter Title

Bout With Docusen Is Set For Tonight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Another attempt to hold the welterweight title scrap between Champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson and New Orleans' young Bernie Docusen will be made tomorrow night in Comiskey Park.

The 15 rounder has been twice postponed, once because of rain and again because Robinson failed to make the 147-pound weight limit.

Robinson shed some nine pounds to hit 147 on the original date June 17, but the fight was washed out. He was overweight last Monday and the bout was rescheduled for tomorrow. At last reports, the Harlem sugar boy was down to only 149 and would have to do a lot of sweating to get under the wire in tomorrow's scaling.

Should the champion fail to make weight, the Illinois Athletic Commission threatens to declare the welter title vacant and Robinson will forfeit a $5,000 bond. If bad weather stalls the show it will be held Tuesday night. If it cannot be held then, it will be cancelled.

Otis Guichet and Bonny Geigerman, managers of Docusen, argue that Robinson should have been stripped of his crown when he failed to make weight last Monday. They said they have entered a protest with the National Boxing Association and the New York State Commission and are now claiming the title for Docusen. All this, however, apparently will be smoothed over if the Harlem puncher can click at 147 pounds or under in tomorrow's ceremonies.

Robinson, himself, says this is his last defense of the welter crown.

"It's just too much for me to try to make 147 pounds," he declares. "I'm moving up to the middleweight class."

He hopes to meet Champion Tony Zale in a middleweight title match in September. But first he must get by Docusen, a 22-year-old polished fighter with a world of confidence.

81 Boxers Will Vie For Olympic Berths

Army, Navy Fighters Enter Boston Tests

By BILL KING

BOSTON, June 27. (AP)—Eighty-one survivors of months of gruelling preliminary tests, not only all over this country but also the entire world, will swing into the U. S. Olympic boxing final tryouts tomorrow afternoon at the Boston Garden.

Outstanding in post-war amateur boxing's best field were five National A.A.U. champions who were crowned here in April, Johnny Gonsalves, the San Francisco lightweight titlist; Bantamweight Bill Morgan of Newark, N. J.; flyweight Frankie Sodano of Philadelphia; Grant Butcher, San Francisco light heavy, and Coley Wallace, the pulverizing New York heavyweight.

But none of these, however, appeared assured of one of the coveted Olympic team berths. The U. S. Army team's selectors, after watching 50,000 eager battlers compete in service tourneys all over the world, has put together a powerful eight-man lineup.

And the Navy also was thorough before making its final selections from 17,500 aspirants. Coach "Spike" Webb, one of boxing's outstanding authorities, is convinced he has an Olympic champion in Hank Herring, who entered the Navy six years ago from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Cleveland Splits With Washington, Holds Slim Lead

Nats Take First, 5-2, Then Lose Second, 4-1

CLEVELAND, June 27 (AP)—Home runs by Allie Clark and Joe Gordon enabled the Cleveland Indians to defeat the Washington Nationals, 4 to 1, today for an even split of a doubleheader before 35,980 fans.

That meant the Indians retained their slender lead in the American League race. Washington took the opener, 5 to 2.

The nightcap win was ex-St. Louis Brown pitcher Sam Zoldak's second straight since he slipped into a Cleveland uniform. He alloted the Nationals seven spaced hits.

Cleveland's big inning in that one was the first.

Dale Mitchell led off with a single and shortstop Lou Boudreau shot out another. Then Allie Clark scored three runs with his third home run of the season, and Joe Gordon followed up with his 12th round tripper into the left field stands.

Cleveland's negro centerfielder, Larry Doby, injured his right foot sliding into second base in the sixth inning of that contest and was carried off the diamond in a stretcher.

Later, Tribe officials said X-rays showed it was a sprain and estimated he would be unable to play for about 10 days. They said he would not make the trip to Detroit. Box:

Dave "Boo" Ferriss, making his first start since May 18, was credited with the victory in the second game as he scattered eight Brownie hits.

Wallace "Wally" Carr, a pinch-hitter, belted a homer with one aboard in the eighth inning to account for the only runs in the game as the Ridgeley American Legion defeated the Hyndman V.F.W. in an Interstate Baseball League game yesterday at Ridgeley. The score was 2-0.

Carr's four-base swat enabled Jack Grove to gain the verdict over Glenn Evans in a neat pitching duel.

The Romney Rockets unloosed a 22-hit barrage to sink Barrelville at Romney by the score of 20 to 5.

"Buck" Corbin hit a grand slam homer in the first inning, Dick McElwee homered in the 6th with one aboard, drove in five runs with three hits and scored four runs himself, Dane McGee larruped a triple and two singles and Pete Loy garnered three singles and crossed the platter four times. Romney used 14 players in the game and all hit safely.

Allen Swick notched his third straight mound triumph for the Rockets and added 10 strikeout victims to his growing list which now numbers 66 in six games, an average of 11 per game. Bridges obtained three of Barrelville's ten bingles. It took two hours and 50 minutes to play the game.

Centerville's Reds defeated the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose at Centerville, 7-2. After leading the Reds' attack with two doubles and a single, Catcher Holobinko, was forced to withdraw from the game in the 8th inning when he suffered an ankle injury in a play at second base. H. Dwight Rose of Centerville and Williams and Moler of the Moose collected two hits each. Darl "Ace" Jewell, who relieved Homer Rose in the 5th, received credit for the victory, his second since joining the Bedford County team. Jim Clingan went the route for the Moose. Scores:

Lonaconing's Republican Club added to the woes of the Frostburg V.F.W. yesterday when Charley Cooke hoisted one of Bob Cook's pitches far over the fence in left-center at the Lonaconing Ball Park to give Claude Steele and the home team a 3 to 2 victory over the Mountain City aggregation in a Bi-State Baseball League contest.

As a result Frostburg fell three full games back of Westvaco's league leaders when the Papermakers eked out a 1-0 triumph over the Hyndman Firemen on the latter's field. This game was also decided in the ninth inning when "Pete" Deremer, last year's Hyndman shortstop, sent his former teammates down to defeat by delivering the hit that scored the deciding tally. A single and an error put Westvaco in a scoring position before Deremer nicked Henry Salyan for the hit that broke the 2-2 deadlock and gave Leo Ryan a pitching victory.

Had Struck Out Thrice

Charley Cooke, hero of the game at Lonaconing, whiffed three times before he hit one for keeps. He was first up in the ninth and the count was two balls and no strikes when he teed off. Muir's double drove in the first 'Coney run in the third but Frostburg took a 2-0 lead in the 5th on singles by "Pete" Cook, Klinhammer and Raines sandwiched with a sacrifice. Steele singled over the tying run in the 5th after Fazenbaker had doubled.

Cook struck out nine while Steele fanned four. Cameron, 'Coney shortstop, starred afield and Jim Shockey turned in a nice catch in the 8th with two out and two aboard when he snared Raines' foul near the 'Coney dugout.

The Cumberland Amvets moved closer to second place by defeating Mt. Savage by the score of 6-3 in Mt. Savage.

Playing minus their manager, Norman Gerdeman, the Amvets rapped an even dozen hits, including doubles by Danny Drew and Joe Geatz. Art "Lefty" Donata kept Mt. Savage's seven hits well spaced. Riehl, Scarpelli, Joe Geatz, and Donata of the Amvets and Walters and Don Blank of Mt. Savage had two hits each.

Keyser Drops 15th In Row

Queen City's Brewers moved into a fifth place tie with Mt. Savage by handing the Keyser A. C. its 15th consecutive setback at Stitcher Field, 13-6.

The teams gathered 28 hits—17 for the winners and 11 for the visitors. Shears with a homer and double, Rotruck with two doubles and Maiden with three singles were Keyser's big guns. Jimmie Manges, Nick Perlozzo and Lou Baker shared nine of Queen City's safeties. Manges and Coher featured afield for the locals. The scores:

Bob Mathias Wins A.A.U. Decathlon

By MILTON MARMOR

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., June 27 (AP)—Bob Mathias, 17-year-old Tulare, Calif., high school boy, became the National A.A.U. decathlon champion today and earned the right to head the U. S. Olympic team of three all-around athletes in London this summer.

Competing in his second decathlon event since he grew to 6 feet 1½ inches and 190 pounds of athletic talent, Mathias piled up an unofficial total of 7,224 points in the ten-event grind yesterday and today.

Making the Olympic team with the west coast sensation were two of America's most durable iron men—Irv Mondschein of the New York Pioneer Club, the former champion, and Floyd Simmons of the Los Angeles A. C.

Mondschein had 7,101 points to Simmons' 7,054 total for second and third places.

It was almost dark when the first flight of 20 of this country's iron men sloshed through the water-covered foley field track to finish the 1,500 meter run—last of today's five events.

The meet was run under almost impossible weather conditions. A severe thunderstorm had made a swamp of the midfield where the field events were held and the pole vault pit runaway was thick mud.

Nevertheless, the durables of the track and field world decided to finish up the final olympic tryouts.

PHILS, CUBS DIVIDE

PHILADELPHIA, June 27. (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago Cubs split a doubleheader today, the Cubs copping the opener 6-2 and the Phils taking the nightcap 7-4 with the contest called after eight innings because of the Sunday Curfew. The Phils' bonus rookies had an even break. Curt Simmons lost his sixth game and Robin Roberts won his second.

A crowd of 27,470 watched the twin bill as the Phils ended their current home stand with a mark of five victories and eight defeats. Score:

"JACK" MANLEY MAKES HOLE-IN-ONE DURING COUNTRY CLUB MATCH

John R. "Jack" Manley yesterday became the third member of the Cumberland Country Club to make a hole-in-one over the local course this year.

Manley accomplished the feat during the match between teams of the Opequon Country Club of Martinsburg, W. Va., and the C.C.C.

He made his ace on the 15th, a 170-yard hole, and used a No. 5 iron.

Wilfred "Bill" Norman and George Young were the other members of the C.C.C. who enrolled in the hole-in-one club earlier this season. Norman made his on the 10th while Young's ace was registered on No. 6.

Three holes-in-one in a single season is believed to be an all-time record for the local club course.

At Loch Lynn, the Oakland aggregation extended its winning streak to seven games by walloping the home team to the tune of 13-2.

The winners pounded out 18 hits, Ted James heading the assault with four singles while Dempsey Sharpless rapped three singles, "Bink" Compton collected two doubles and a single and Bob Glaze hit safely three times and drove in four runs. Glaze pitched six-hit ball for Oakland, four of Loch Lynn's blows being shared by Stewart and C. Calhoun. The Amvets' twirler fanned six.

Crellin broke a five-game losing streak by defeating Elk Garden to the tune of 8-3. The Red Sox racked up 13 safeties. Nordeck Shaffer, Don Williams, Harry Sanders, Darrel Lewis, Dorsey Ashby and Denver Sanders banged two hits apiece for the winners while Neel, Rodeheaver and Kelly shared six of the eight blows yielded by Harding and Iser. Neel's shoestring stab of Shaffer's fly in right field was the best fielding play.

Kitzmiller took Klondyke into camp at Kitzmiller by the score of 6-4. The Vets held a 6-0 lead until the 6th when Klondyke rallied in the late innings to make it a close finish. Droppleman of Kitzmiller and Yates of Klondyke paced the hitters with two blows each. There were only two extra base hits in the game—doubles by Leatherman of Klondyke and Comp of Kitzmiller.

Alpha Brazle, who was knocked out in the seventh, was the winner, but it was Ted Wilks' sterling relief pitching the rest of the way that finished the Dodgers. It was Brazle's fifth victory against three losses. Box:

Robinson Must Make Weight Or Relinquish Welter Title

Bout With Docusen Is Set For Tonight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, June 27 (AP)—Another attempt to hold the welterweight title scrap between Champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson and New Orleans' young Bernie Docusen will be made tomorrow night in Comiskey Park.

The 15 rounder has been twice postponed, once because of rain and again because Robinson failed to make the 147-pound weight limit.

Robinson shed some nine pounds to hit 147 on the original date June 17, but the fight was washed out. He was overweight last Monday and the bout was rescheduled for tomorrow. At last reports, the Harlem sugar boy was down to only 149 and would have to do a lot of sweating to get under the wire in tomorrow's scaling.

Should the champion fail to make weight, the Illinois Athletic Commission threatens to declare the welter title vacant and Robinson will forfeit a $5,000 bond. If bad weather stalls the show it will be held Tuesday night. If it cannot be held then, it will be cancelled.

Otis Guichet and Bonny Geigerman, managers of Docusen, argue that Robinson should have been stripped of his crown when he failed to make weight last Monday. They said they have entered a protest with the National Boxing Association and the New York State Commission and are now claiming the title for Docusen. All this, however, apparently will be smoothed over if the Harlem puncher can click at 147 pounds or under in tomorrow's ceremonies.

Robinson, himself, says this is his last defense of the welter crown.

"It's just too much for me to try to make 147 pounds," he declares. "I'm moving up to the middleweight class."

He hopes to meet Champion Tony Zale in a middleweight title match in September. But first he must get by Docusen, a 22-year-old polished fighter with a world of confidence.

81 Boxers Will Vie For Olympic Berths

Army, Navy Fighters Enter Boston Tests

By BILL KING

BOSTON, June 27. (AP)—Eighty-one survivors of months of gruelling preliminary tests, not only all over this country but also the entire world, will swing into the U. S. Olympic boxing final tryouts tomorrow afternoon at the Boston Garden.

Outstanding in post-war amateur boxing's best field were five National A.A.U. champions who were crowned here in April, Johnny Gonsalves, the San Francisco lightweight titlist; Bantamweight Bill Morgan of Newark, N. J.; flyweight Frankie Sodano of Philadelphia; Grant Butcher, San Francisco light heavy, and Coley Wallace, the pulverizing New York heavyweight.

But none of these, however, appeared assured of one of the coveted Olympic team berths. The U. S. Army team's selectors, after watching 50,000 eager battlers compete in service tourneys all over the world, has put together a powerful eight-man lineup.

And the Navy also was thorough before making its final selections from 17,500 aspirants. Coach "Spike" Webb, one of boxing's outstanding authorities, is convinced he has an Olympic champion in Hank Herring, who entered the Navy six years ago from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Nats Take First, 5-2, Then Lose Second, 4-1

CLEVELAND, June 27 (AP)—Home runs by Allie Clark and Joe Gordon enabled the Cleveland Indians to defeat the Washington Nationals, 4 to 1, today for an even split of a doubleheader before 35,980 fans.

That meant the Indians retained their slender lead in the American League race. Washington took the opener, 5 to 2.

The nightcap win was ex-St. Louis Brown pitcher Sam Zoldak's second straight since he slipped into a Cleveland uniform. He alloted the Nationals seven spaced hits.

Cleveland's big inning in that one was the first.

Dale Mitchell led off with a single and shortstop Lou Boudreau shot out another. Then Allie Clark scored three runs with his third home run of the season, and Joe Gordon followed up with his 12th round tripper into the left field stands.

Cleveland's negro centerfielder, Larry Doby, injured his right foot sliding into second base in the sixth inning of that contest and was carried off the diamond in a stretcher.

Later, Tribe officials said X-rays showed it was a sprain and estimated he would be unable to play for about 10 days. They said he would not make the trip to Detroit. Box:

BOSOX COP PAIR

ST. LOUIS, June 27. (INS)—Boston's Red Sox whipped the St. Louis Browns in both ends of a rain-abbreviated double-header today in St. Louis before 10,024 fans.

Joe Dobson hurled 2-hit ball for the Sox in the opener to win 2 to 0. Rain halted the nightcap with the Browns at bat in the last half of the eighth, giving Boston a 6 to 3 victory.

Dave "Boo" Ferriss, making his first start since May 18, was credited with the victory in the second game as he scattered eight Brownie hits.

Ted Williams hit his 16th home run of the season in the first inning with Dom DiMaggio and Johnny Pesky on base. Box:

Wallace "Wally" Carr, a pinch-hitter, belted a homer with one aboard in the eighth inning to account for the only runs in the game as the Ridgeley American Legion defeated the Hyndman V.F.W. in an Interstate Baseball League game yesterday at Ridgeley. The score was 2-0.

Carr's four-base swat enabled Jack Grove to gain the verdict over Glenn Evans in a neat pitching duel.

The Romney Rockets unloosed a 22-hit barrage to sink Barrelville at Romney by the score of 20 to 5.

"Buck" Corbin hit a grand slam homer in the first inning, Dick McElwee homered in the 6th with one aboard, drove in five runs with three hits and scored four runs himself, Dane McGee larruped a triple and two singles and Pete Loy garnered three singles and crossed the platter four times. Romney used 14 players in the game and all hit safely.

Allen Swick notched his third straight mound triumph for the Rockets and added 10 strikeout victims to his growing list which now numbers 66 in six games, an average of 11 per game. Bridges obtained three of Barrelville's ten bingles. It took two hours and 50 minutes to play the game.

Centerville's Reds defeated the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose at Centerville, 7-2. After leading the Reds' attack with two doubles and a single, Catcher Holobinko, was forced to withdraw from the game in the 8th inning when he suffered an ankle injury in a play at second base. H. Dwight Rose of Centerville and Williams and Moler of the Moose collected two hits each. Darl "Ace" Jewell, who relieved Homer Rose in the 5th, received credit for the victory, his second since joining the Bedford County team. Jim Clingan went the route for the Moose. Scores:

FROSTBURG, June 27.—Wellersburg, leader of the County Softball League, and the Aristocrats of the Frostburg Softball League split even in a doubleheader today at Community Park

The Aristocrats won the opener 9 to 0 behind the three-hit pitching of Charley Taylor. Niles Harper belted a homer with the bases loaded in the 4th. He and Williams garnered two hits apiece. Capt. Waites, Aristocrats' shortstop, was the fielding star.

Frank Toler's relief pitching featured Wellersburg's 6-3 victory in the five-inning nightcap.

Lonaconing's Republican Club added to the woes of the Frostburg V.F.W. yesterday when Charley Cooke hoisted one of Bob Cook's pitches far over the fence in left-center at the Lonaconing Ball Park to give Claude Steele and the home team a 3 to 2 victory over the Mountain City aggregation in a Bi-State Baseball League contest.

As a result Frostburg fell three full games back of Westvaco's league leaders when the Papermakers eked out a 1-0 triumph over the Hyndman Firemen on the latter's field. This game was also decided in the ninth inning when "Pete" Deremer, last year's Hyndman shortstop, sent his former teammates down to defeat by delivering the hit that scored the deciding tally. A single and an error put Westvaco in a scoring position before Deremer nicked Henry Salyan for the hit that broke the 2-2 deadlock and gave Leo Ryan a pitching victory.

Had Struck Out Thrice

Charley Cooke, hero of the game at Lonaconing, whiffed three times before he hit one for keeps. He was first up in the ninth and the count was two balls and no strikes when he teed off. Muir's double drove in the first 'Coney run in the third but Frostburg took a 2-0 lead in the 5th on singles by "Pete" Cook, Klinhammer and Raines sandwiched with a sacrifice. Steele singled over the tying run in the 5th after Fazenbaker had doubled.

Cook struck out nine while Steele fanned four. Cameron, 'Coney shortstop, starred afield and Jim Shockey turned in a nice catch in the 8th with two out and two aboard when he snared Raines' foul near the 'Coney dugout.

The Cumberland Amvets moved closer to second place by defeating Mt. Savage by the score of 6-3 in Mt. Savage.

Playing minus their manager, Norman Gerdeman, the Amvets rapped an even dozen hits, including doubles by Danny Drew and Joe Geatz. Art "Lefty" Donata kept Mt. Savage's seven hits well spaced. Riehl, Scarpelli, Joe Geatz, and Donata of the Amvets and Walters and Don Blank of Mt. Savage had two hits each.

Keyser Drops 15th In Row

Queen City's Brewers moved into a fifth place tie with Mt. Savage by handing the Keyser A. C. its 15th consecutive setback at Stitcher Field, 13-6.

The teams gathered 28 hits—17 for the winners and 11 for the visitors. Shears with a homer and double, Rotruck with two doubles and Maiden with three singles were Keyser's big guns. Jimmie Manges, Nick Perlozzo and Lou Baker shared nine of Queen City's safeties. Manges and Coher featured afield for the locals. The scores:

More Samples Of Summer Shows On Networks Today

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 27—More samples of summer shows will show up for the nets on Monday, as some others are hiking off on vacation.

Among the new ones, but not actually so, is Sink Along, the Landt t[illegible] presentation of song, etc., even including quizzes, which gets back on CBS with a morning Monday-Friday sehries at 10:30 a. m. Carol Ames also will help out. This one is a former CBS regular.

In the way of a new serial, NBC is offering "We Love and Learn" for 11:15 a. m. It's described as a "new comedy serial," but with each daily episode complete as it stands.

After about a year's trial, ABC is dropping the Paul Whiteman afternoon record show. One of the replacements at 3:30 p. m. is to be a half-hour Johnny Olsen program for the audience titled "Second Honeymoon." Otherwise, the network has not issued any details, hoping the listeners will hune in anyway.

Bill Henry and his five-minute news spot, ex-CBS, shows up at 9:55 on MBS, an hour later than his former schedule. That means all MBS 9:30 programs will have their last five minutes lopped off.

The CBS Radio Theater is winding up another year with "You Were Meant for Me" at 9 on CBS. Jeanne Crain and Dan Dailey will do some of the acting . . . Hilltop House, an a. m. serial, becomes a p. m. on CBS at 3:15 p. m., with David Harum going into 3. Tnis half-hour former housed Double or Nothing, now a straight NBC feature . . . Gregory Hood with his casebook of who-dun-its, is now occupying MBS at 9:30 after a shift from Tuesdays.

Housing Shortage Responsible For Many Matrimonial Breakups

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There's no doubt that the housing shortage has been responsible for a vast number of matrimonial breakups.

To live in cramped quarters, or crowded in with relatives, inevitably results in frayed nerves that twist everything out of all proportion. Small happenings become large-sized crises, and minor frictions grow into major misunderstandings, so that things which, under normal conditions, would be sooned passed over and forgotten seem to become permanent stumbling blocks over which husbands and wives constantly fall.

I have a letter from a woman signing herself "Very Unhappy" which describes a situation typical of all this.

She says: "I am desperate. My husband and I have been arguing and fighting and I know we are breaking up. We are living with my parents and you know how that is. My husband does not get along with them at all. We have turned the town upside down hunting for a home but we have two children, one 11 and one 12, and nobody wants children. I am terribly worried and don't know which way to turn. What can we do, if anything?"

Well, what can she do?

The first thing she and her husband should do is to make sure they have explored every possible avenue through which they might be able to find a home of their own. It may be that they have. On the other hand, perhaps they have overlooked some person or some organization that might be able to help them.

Have they consulted their priest or their minister or somebody else in their church who might be in a position to hear of available rooms or houses? Have they gone to the YWCA or the YMCA, to whatever welfare agency there is in their town? Have they gone to every real estate office? And how about putting an advertisement in the paper?

If they have done all these things and still haven't found anything, then I think the next thing they should do is to consider whether or not they could move to another town where things might be easier. Could this husband find work of the kind he is equipped to do somewhere else? Help is still urgently needed in many industrial plants, and in other fields, and it might well be that he could find even a better opportunity than he now has if the family moved to another city.

If, on the other hand, there are reasons why he cannot make a change but must stay where he is, and if every way of hunting a home has been tried, then the only thing that remains is for them to do what so many thousands of other couples are doing today and try and make the best of things until the housing situation improves. If they will keep always in mind the fact that their present situation is a temporary one, and that it, in itself, is responsible for the friction that arises between them, it may be just a little easier to bear with their difficulties. It is a hard problem, but one that can be lived through if they make up their minds to it.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Convention: Summing Up

John Crosby

Now that the tumult and the shouting have died, at least temporarily, and the captains and their newly crowned king have departed from Philadelphia, I should like to sum up television's contribution to its greatest and most important event, if only to counteract to some extent a number of journalists who, I think, ganged up on television a little unfairly.

A couple of

A couple of syndicated columnists, Frederick Othman and Robert Ruark, expressed such unbridled horror at what the television screen did to Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce's extraordinarily pretty features that she may take to the woods and live on roots and nuts for the rest of her life. Mr. Othman suggested Mrs. Luce looked like a scalped witch with arms six feet long. "Awful. . .washed out," mourned Mr. Ruark.

Now, take it easy, boys. I rather think you were in front of a defective or improperly tuned set. On my set, Mrs. Luce cut a very fetching figure, so much so that she passed with honors a most stringent test—the critical scrutiny of my wife. In fact, she wrung from her the highest accolade a woman can win from another woman—the phrase "simply darling." Don't let 'em scare you, Mrs. Luce.

That distinguished journalist, Rebecca West, grumbled not only about the television cameras but also about the movie cameras, the microphones, the loudspeakers, and even the flashbulbs of the news photographers. All this technological paraphernalia, she said, should be banished from Convention Hall so the delegates could proceed with their business in comfort. There's no doubt that the move would contribute much to the comfort of the delegates. In fact, if they banished the 1,000 reprters who were in there, jostling and contributing their body heat, national conventions would be far less crowded and hectic. But the presence of the reporters and the cameras and the microphones is part of the processes of democracy, to permit as many Americans as possible to witness the selection of their Presidents. Not every one has a press pass, Miss West.

The television audience, it must be emphasized, witnessed an entirely different scene from that of the people present at the convention. Easily the most pictorial—though its importance was small—was the nominating session with its parades and screeching and hullabaloo, all of it phony and, in spite of it, oddly exciting. The great contribution of a television camera is the power of selection, the ability to pick up a face here, a group there, to emphasize here and eliminate there.

The shouting, singing, sweating men and women looked and sounded a great deal as historical novels read. The demonstration for Dewey, for example, started slowly and, it seemed to me, almost reluctantly. But the noise and the power of a crowd to hypnotize itself into paroxysms of excitement soon made the emotion as genuine as any crowd action ever is, as genuine, let us say, as New Year's Eve on Times Square or a college rally the night before the big game. It reminded me a little of a revival meeting once described by John Steinback, the ritualistic release of a bunch of men and women whose motives are somewhat suspect but whose enthusiasm is unquestioned. The cameras at one point picked up a young couple clutching each other with wild abandon—sex rearing its pretty, hysterical head—in a close-up that would never have passed the Johnston office.

As the evening wore on, Speaker of the House Joseph Martin, the chairman, took on the appearance of Savonarola, grim, demonic, consumed by inner fire—conceivably disappointment—and just a little spooky. To switch metaphors in mid-paragraph, he might have been a character actor in the motion picture "San Francisco," predicting imminent destruction for the sin-laden city. Any moment, I expected the walls to totter and Clark Gable to rush to the rescue of Clare Booth Luce.

By television, the oratory is entirely secondary to the pictures and, while Miss West deplores with some justice this loss of eloquence, it's only fair to point out that the oratory reflects little of either the character or convictions of the orator. Long, long ago I swore off the speech-making of Senator John W. Bricker; consequently, when Senator Bricker took the podium to nominate Senator Taft, I turned off the sound and just looked at the picture. It was a stirring sight. The outstretched forefinger, the glaring eye, the pumping jaws, the thick mane of white hair which fell into confusion after the first six paragraphs and through which the Senator kept running his fingers, the outthrust chin—a trick he may or may not have learned from Bob Hope — the working, angry face muscles. There hasn't been anything like it since the late Edwin Booth and, to me at least, it was far more revelatory of the inner workings of John W. Bricker than anything he might have said.

Today's Talk

Footnotes

In the reading of a book I never pass over the footnotes. They often tell more than the entire page upon which they appear. They probably wer invented to elaborate or to explain or to add to what has preceded, but often they are revealing in a most significant manner.

I may even say that these daily talks are but footnotes to life — simple comments and suggestions about the everyday things, thoughts, books, beauty, nature. They comprise comments upon people and upon much that has been significant in my own personal life. I like to pass on news of discoveries and help stimulate others to gain a bit of the joy that has so enriched my own life.

In talking to a person I like to imagine that I am reading a footnote to that one, as he or she talks—little asides that add glow to the character, or that reveal inner kindness, or even greatness. We all have these footnotes that are ready for discovery. The entire background of a life can often be suggested by some chance remark—a footnote to that one's happiness or success. Footnotes give light to things and to character.

Talk to an extensively travelled man and he will constantly throw in little so-called footnotes about his experiences, thrills, and discoveries. If you are interested in art, music, or books, and listen to another who is an outstanding authority on any of these, you will pick the little footnotes out as the talk goes on. And they are the illuminating sparks.

I might almost say that the evident footnotes to a person are the A, B, C's of his character or his way of life. They explain so much. A great many books are now being published, and have been published, about the late Henry Ford. Someone is yet to publish one that has footnotes to it—explaining his love of children, his genuine interest in his fellow man, his unpublished acts of kindness, his humility, his deep religious convictions, his unblemished family life, and his educational investments. These are the things of permanence.

Note the footnotes of the book that you read. And gain the habit of looking for them in the story of human lives. Then you will love more people, see fewer of their faults, and appraise mankind more fairly and more truthfully.

Excavating Roman London

LONDON—(AP)—Americans will be asked to help finance the search among London's Bomber areas for remains of Roman Londinium and the later medieval city.

The Roman and Medieval London Excavation Council has allotted $2,000 for the publication of a leaflet, with photographs and a reconstructed drawing of the Cripplegate area now under excavation. The British government has contributed $12,000 and the Bank of England $4,000 for the excavation work. Search for remains of the Jews' Garden, original Jewish cemetery, will be started with $1,200 donated by the Jewish Historical Society.

The main search will be made in the area east of St. Paul's Cathedral, where structural finds have already been uncovered. It is this region, where acres of buildings were flattened by bombers, that was the center of Roman London.

New Shrimp Beheader

CHARLESTON, S. C.—(AP)—Fred Elrod, navy yard machinist here, has invented a shrimp be-heading machine that he says will guillotine a pound of shrimp every two seconds. Pinching off the heads has been a hand job for years. Elrod has a model completed and hopes to put the machine on the market soon.

Pakistan Tabus English

KARACHI, India—(AP)—The inter-university board of Pakistan has decided that English should no longer be the medium of instruction in Pakistan's universities, and that it should be replaced by Urdu.

More Samples Of Summer Shows On Networks Today

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, June 27—More samples of summer shows will show up for the nets on Monday, as some others are hiking off on vacation.

Among the new ones, but not act[illegible]lly so, is Sink Along, the Landt t[illegible] presentation of song, etc., even including quizzes, which gets back on CBS with a morning Monday-Friday sehries at 10:30 a. m. Carol Ames also will help out. This one is a former CBS regular.

In the way of a new serial, NBC is offering "We Love and Learn" for 11:15 a. m. It's described as a "new comedy serial," but with each daily episode complete as it stands.

After about a year's trial, ABC is dropping the Paul Whiteman afternoon record show. One of the replacements at 3:30 p. m. is to be a half-hour Johnny Olsen program for the audience titled "Second Honeymoon." Otherwise, the network has not issued any details, hoping the listeners will hune in anyway.

Bill Henry and his five-minute news spot, ex-CBS, shows up at 9:55 on MBS, an hour later than his former schedule. That means all MBS 9:30 programs will have their last five minutes lopped off.

The CBS Radio Theater is winding up another year with "You Were Meant for Me" at 9 on CBS. Jeanne Crain and Dan Dailey will do some of the acting . . . Hilltop House, an a. m. serial, becomes a p. m. on CBS at 3:15 p. m., with David Harum going into 3. Tnis half-hour former housed Double or Nothing, now a straight NBC feature . . . Gregory Hood with his casebook of who-dun-its, is now occupying MBS at 9:30 after a shift from Tuesdays.

Housing Shortage Responsible For Many Matrimonial Breakups

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There's no doubt that the housing shortage has been responsible for a vast number of matrimonial breakups.

To live in cramped quarters, or crowded in with relatives, inevitably results in frayed nerves that twist everything out of all proportion. Small happenings become large-sized crises, and minor frictions grow into major misunderstandings, so that things which, under normal conditions, would be sooned passed over and forgotten seem to become permanent stumbling blocks over which husbands and wives constantly fall.

I have a letter from a woman signing herself "Very Unhappy" which describes a situation typical of all this.

She says: "I am desperate. My husband and I have been arguing and fighting and I know we are breaking up. We are living with my parents and you know how that is. My husband does not get along with them at all. We have turned the town upside down hunting for a home but we have two children, one 11 and one 12, and nobody wants children. I am terribly worried and don't know which way to turn. What can we do, if anything?"

Well, what can she do?

The first thing she and her husband should do is to make sure they have explored every possible avenue through which they might be able to find a home of their own. It may be that they have. On the other hand, perhaps they have overlooked some person or some organization that might be able to help them.

Have they consulted their priest or their minister or somebody else in their church who might be in a position to hear of available rooms or houses? Have they gone to the YWCA or the YMCA, to whatever welfare agency there is in their town? Have they gone to every real estate office? And how about putting an advertisement in the paper?

If they have done all these things and still haven't found anything, then I think the next thing they should do is to consider whether or not they could move to another town where things might be easier. Could this husband find work of the kind he is equipped to do somewhere else? Help is still urgently needed in many industrial plants, and in other fields, and it might well be that he could find even a better opportunity than he now has if the family moved to another city.

If, on the other hand, there are reasons why he cannot make a change but must stay where he is, and if every way of hunting a home has been tried, then the only thing that remains is for them to do what so many thousands of other couples are doing today and try and make the best of things until the housing situation improves. If they will keep always in mind the fact that their present situation is a temporary one, and that it, in itself, is responsible for the friction that arises between them, it may be just a little easier to bear with their difficulties. It is a hard problem, but one that can be lived through if they make up their minds to it.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

John Crosby

Now that the tumult and the shouting have died, at least temporarily, and the captains and their newly crowned king have departed from Philadelphia, I should like to sum up television's contribution to its greatest and most important event, if only to counteract to some extent a number of journalists who, I think, ganged up on television a little unfairly. A couple of

A couple of syndicated columnists, Frederick Othman and Robert Ruark, expressed such unbridled horror at what the television screen did to Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce's extraordinarily pretty features that she may take to the woods and live on roots and nuts for the rest of her life. Mr. Othman suggested Mrs. Luce looked like a scalped witch with arms six feet long. "Awful. . .washed out," mourned Mr. Ruark.

Now, take it easy, boys. I rather think you were in front of a defective or improperly tuned set. On my set, Mrs. Luce cut a very fetching figure, so much so that she passed with honors a most stringent test—the critical scrutiny of my wife. In fact, she wrung from her the highest accolade a woman can win from another woman—the phrase "simply darling." Don't let 'em scare you, Mrs. Luce.

That distinguished journalist, Rebecca West, grumbled not only about the television cameras but also about the movie cameras, the microphones, the loudspeakers, and even the flashbulbs of the news photographers. All this technological paraphernalia, she said, should be banished from Convention Hall so the delegates could proceed with their business in comfort. There's no doubt that the move would contribute much to the comfort of the delegates. In fact, if they banished the 1,000 reprters who were in there, jostling and contributing their body heat, national conventions would be far less crowded and hectic. But the presence of the reporters and the cameras and the microphones is part of the processes of democracy, to permit as many Americans as possible to witness the selection of their Presidents. Not every one has a press pass, Miss West.

The television audience, it must be emphasized, witnessed an entirely different scene from that of the people present at the convention. Easily the most pictorial—though its importance was small—was the nominating session with its parades and screeching and hullabaloo, all of it phony and, in spite of it, oddly exciting. The great contribution of a television camera is the power of selection, the ability to pick up a face here, a group there, to emphasize here and eliminate there.

The shouting, singing, sweating men and women looked and sounded a great deal as historical novels read. The demonstration for Dewey, for example, started slowly and, it seemed to me, almost reluctantly. But the noise and the power of a crowd to hypnotize itself into paroxysms of excitement soon made the emotion as genuine as any crowd action ever is, as genuine, let us say, as New Year's Eve on Times Square or a college rally the night before the big game. It reminded me a little of a revival meeting once described by John Steinback, the ritualistic release of a bunch of men and women whose motives are somewhat suspect but whose enthusiasm is unquestioned. The cameras at one point picked up a young couple clutching each other with wild abandon—sex rearing its pretty, hysterical head—in a close-up that would never have passed the Johnston office.

As the evening wore on, Speaker of the House Joseph Martin, the chairman, took on the appearance of Savonarola, grim, demonic, consumed by inner fire—conceivably disappointment—and just a little spooky. To switch metaphors in mid-paragraph, he might have been a character actor in the motion picture "San Francisco," predicting imminent destruction for the sin-laden city. Any moment, I expected the walls to totter and Clark Gable to rush to the rescue of Clare Booth Luce.

By television, the oratory is entirely secondary to the pictures and, while Miss West deplores with some justice this loss of eloquence, it's only fair to point out that the oratory reflects little of either the character or convictions of the orator. Long, long ago I swore off the speech-making of Senator John W. Bricker; consequently, when Senator Bricker took the podium to nominate Senator Taft, I turned off the sound and just looked at the picture. It was a stirring sight. The outstretched forefinger, the glaring eye, the pumping jaws, the thick mane of white hair which fell into confusion after the first six paragraphs and through which the Senator kept running his fingers, the outthrust chin—a trick he may or may not have learned from Bob Hope — the working, angry face muscles. There hasn't been anything like it since the late Edwin Booth and, to me at least, it was far more revelatory of the inner workings of John W. Bricker than anything he might have said.

Today's Talk

Footnotes

In the reading of a book I never pass over the footnotes. They often tell more than the entire page upon which they appear. They probably wer invented to elaborate or to explain or to add to what has preceded, but often they are revealing in a most significant manner.

I may even say that these daily talks are but footnotes to life — simple comments and suggestions about the everyday things, thoughts, books, beauty, nature. They comprise comments upon people and upon much that has been significant in my own personal life. I like to pass on news of discoveries and help stimulate others to gain a bit of the joy that has so enriched my own life.

In talking to a person I like to imagine that I am reading a footnote to that one, as he or she talks —little asides that add glow to the character, or that reveal inner kindness, or even greatness. We all have these footnotes that are ready for discovery. The entire background of a life can often be suggested by some chance remark—a footnote to that one's happiness or success. Footnotes give light to things and to character.

Talk to an extensively travelled man and he will constantly throw in little so-called footnotes about his experiences, thrills, and discoveries. If you are interested in art, music, or books, and listen to another who is an outstanding authority on any of these, you will pick the little footnotes out as the talk goes on. And they are the illuminating sparks.

I might almost say that the evident footnotes to a person are the A, B, C's of his character or his way of life. They explain so much. A great many books are now being published, and have been published, about the late Henry Ford. Someone is yet to publish one that has footnotes to it—explaining his love of children, his genuine interest in his fellow man, his unpublished acts of kindness, his humility, his deep religious convictions, his unblemished family life, and his educational investments. These are the things of permanence.

Note the footnotes of the book that you read. And gain the habit of looking for them in the story of human lives. Then you will love more people, see fewer of their faults, and appraise mankind more fairly and more truthfully.

Excavating Roman London

LONDON — (AP) — Americans will be asked to help finance the search among London's Bomber areas for remains of Roman Londinium and the later medieval city.

The Roman and Medieval London Excavation Council has allotted $2,000 for the publication of a leaflet, with photographs and a reconstructed drawing of the Cripplegate area now under excavation. The British government has contributed $12,000 and the Bank of England $4,000 for the excavation work. Search for remains of the Jews' Garden, original Jewish cemetery, will be started with $1,200 donated by the Jewish Historical Society.

The main search will be made in the area east of St. Paul's Cathedral, where structural finds have already been uncovered. It is this region, where acres of buildings were flattened by bombers, that was the center of Roman London.

New Shrimp Beheader

CHARLESTON, S. C.—(AP)—Fred Elrod, navy yard machinist here, has invented a shrimp be-heading machine that he says will guillotine a pound of shrimp every two seconds. Pinching off the heads has been a hand job for years. Elrod has a model completed and hopes to put the machine on the market soon.

Woman Injured In Auto Crash

A local woman was slightly injured last night when the car in which she was riding near Grantsville was struck by a car which went out of control and crashed.

Trooper Glen Folk, who investigated, said the accident occurred early last night two miles west of Grantsville on Route 40.

He said a car operated by Robert Venney, 238 Farragut Street, Uniontown, was traveling west down Negro Mountain, apparently at excessive speed, when it went out of control and struck the guard rail.

The car, he said, made a complete turn after bouncing from the guard rail and struck an eastbound car driven by Oliver M. Bell, 517 Forester Avenue, this city.

Bell, the trooper said, reported he saw the oncoming car was out of control and pulled to the far side of the road and stopped before the crash occurred.

Mrs. Beatrice Smith, Winchester Road, Cumberland, riding in the Bell car, was treated by Dr. N. R. Davis, Grantsville physician, for abrasions on the left arm.

Venney, Trooper Folk said, was charged with reckless driving and operating without a driver's license. Damage to each of the cars was estimated at about $250.

"Peeping Tom" Still Sought By Police

Ridgeley Police were reported still searching last night for a bicycle-riding "Peeping Tom" who was nearly apprehended there Friday night.

Police Chief Jesse Elkins said complaints have been received on several occasions in recent months of a "Peeping Tom" in several sections of the town.

Police reported they saw him peeping into the home of Herbert Davis, a Western Maryland Railway employe. When officers approached the youth he leaped on his bicycle and sped away through a narrow alley. The officers were within 10 feet of the youth when he escaped.

The "Peeper" was described as being about six feet tall. He was wearing a light coat and blue jeans when last seen. Chief Elkins said he is about 19 or 20, but due to the darkness, could not be recognized.

Four Escape Injury In Car Mishap

Four persons escaped serious injury last night shortly after 9 o'clock when the 1930 Model A Ford in which they were riding was forced off the highway by another machine and went into a field near the stone house on Route 50 west of Burlington, W. Va., according to Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff of the Keyser State Police barracks.

Cpl. Karickhoff identified the quartet as Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hershey, Keyser, and their two children. They were "shaken up" but not otherwise injured, he said, adding that they were examined at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Hershey was driving east at the time of the accident, Cpl. Karickhoff said. Occupants of the other machine, which was traveling in the opposite direction, were not identified. No charges were preferred.

Crash Is Reported Near Kitzmiller

Occupants of three cars involved in a crash near the intersection of Vindex Road, about three miles north of Kitzmiller yesterday at 5:30 p. m. escaped injury, Maryland State Police reported last night.

Trooper Robert Henline said a car driven by Orville Tasker, Vindex, stopped to make a left turn. The car behind him, driven by William Lohr, Oakland, also stopped but the third car, operated by Ellis Harvey, Swanton, failed to stop in time and crashed against the rear of Lohr's car.

24 Area Youths Will Attend Boys State

A chartered bus will leave Cumberland July 5 at 9 a. m. and arrive at Camp Meade at 2 p. m. The same bus, he added, will bring the lads back to Cumberland after the camp closes.

Gunmen Wound

ed patrons not to spread the alarm for 10 minutes.

Girl Spots Armed Men

A small girl near the cottage had spotted the armed men, however. She ran to a gas station and the owner alerted police.

Sgt. Charles Peterson, alone in a squad car, answered the alarm. As he alighted from his car a burst of machine-gun fire sent him sprawling, gravely wounded in the abdomen.

Buehl pulled up seconds later and quickly radioed for an ambulance. He also set in motion the manhunt in which 100 policemen, the airplanes and tracking dogs participated.

The gunmen were spotted speeding through Lagrange by Sgt. Howard Heinen and Lt. Joseph Glegg, of the Legrange force, each driving a police car. The bandits outdistanced Sgt. Heinen but Lt. Glegg drew near them. One robber knocked a hole in the rear window of the bandit car and sprayed Glegg's auto with machine-gun bullets. One grazed Glegg's arm, but he was not seriously hurt. He stopped and the gunmen sped on.

German Farmers Are Turning In More Food

FRANKFURT, (AP) — German farmers are turning in more food, according to Stanley Andrews, American head of the Anglo-American Food and Agriculture Department. Farmers who formerly were accused of hoarding their crops have "responded remarkably to the 'bring in more food' campaign," he says.

He says he expects "no trouble in collecting a maximum of the year's indigenous food products. This will provide 1050 calories per person per day for the 45 million Germans in the combined zone.

Food imports from ERP and other appropriated funds including dollar revenues from German exports are estimated in the current year's food budget at $819 million. Andrews says the Food Control Office aims to raise the daily normal consumer's ration.

Bernadotte's Proposals To Be Given Jews, Arabs

RHODES, June 27 (AP) — Count Folke Bernadotte said tonight his suggestions for a "basis for further discussion" for peace in Palestine will be given to Arab and Jewish leaders tomorrow or Tuesday.

The United Nations mediator for the Holy Land told newsmen that "both parties must be notified of my suggestions at the same time."

"I have asked both parties not to comment on the suggestions or publish them until I have received their answers," Bernadotte said. "After that we will decide in consultation with them when they will be published."

The United Nations Mediator said "both parties have the right to come forward with counter suggestions."

Firemen Are Called

Central Fire Company was called to Centre Street Methodist Church last night at 6:25 o'clock after the recreation center of the church filled with smoke. Firemen said someone had been rendering meat rinds on the stove and grease became overheated and began to smoke.

Motor Overheats

Central Fire Company was summoned to the Savoy Bowling Alleys, 168 Baltimore Street, yesterday at 10:40 a. m. when the motor of a refrigeration unit in the basement of the building became overheated. Firemen said there was no damage except to the motor.

Gets Second Wind

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand —(AP)—The Franz Josef glacier in the Southern Alps, which had been receding for several years, is now moving forward more than 21 feet weekly. The reason for the sudden spurt has not been determined, and snowfalls in the higher ranges have not been considered heavy enough to have had any effect.

At its present pace of three feet daily, it would take about two years for the glacier to reach the spot some 600 yards downgrade from where it began to recede in 1932.

Health Plans Pushed

PARIS—(AP)—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and Finland have signed agreements to conduct anti-tuberculosis campaigns among their children under auspices of the Danish Red Cross and the UN International Children's Emergency Fund, which hopes to examine a total of 50,000,000 youth in Europe.

Retirement Board To Act On Teacher Pensions

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 27 About 50 applications for teacher pensions will be acted on at a meeting of the State Teacher Retirement Board here Tuesday, Executive Secretary Richard E. Hyde said today.

Most of them are from persons who retired from their classrooms at the close of the school term last month. Approval of the annuity payments is usually a routine matter after necessary documents have been filed.

The board also will tabulate officially the results of state-wide balloting among teachers for a new board member. Arthur V. Upton, Harrison County school superintendent, was unopposed for reelection to the board in the balloting conducted last April.

The board will consider a large number of requests from county school systems for permission to continue employment of teachers over 65 years of age, and will act on some 2,000 applications for membership in the retirement system, Hyde said.

Petroleum Institute Meetings Scheduled

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., June 27 (AP)—The Eastern District spring meeting of the American Petroleum Institute's Division of Production will be held here June 30 to July 2, it was announced today.

Speakers will include W. R. Boyd, Jr., New York, president of the Institute, and H. S. Turner, Library, Pa., assistant director of research and development for the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company.

Virgil F. Bowyer of the Peoples Natural Gas Company of Pittsburgh will preside at the annual banquet. He is a member of the Eastern District Advisory Committee.

Emery Bus Service To Begin Wednesday

The Emery Motor Coach Lines will resume operations Wednesday morning as a result of settlement of a strike which tied up the line in this area since May 5.

Mrs. Margaret W. Kimble, deputy commissioner of the State Department of Labor and Industry, announced that an agreement had been reached in the long-drawn out dispute.

Willis M. Sams, chairman of the union committee, said exact terms of the back-to-work agreement will be worked out at a conference today.

Her younger brother, Robert Allen Lookabaugh, who will be 16 next month, has just completed his sophomore year at Allegany. Both her parents are employed at the Celanese plant, her father as a foreman in the textile department and her mother in the warp knitting department.

Juanita's fiance is 20-year-old Richard Lee Bucy, son of Mrs. Walter Bucy, Memorial Avenue.

Met At Football Game

They have been "going steady" since a year last May, but they first met a year before that at a football game at Fort Hill Stadium. Juanita had gone to the game with a younger girl, a cousin, and both were wearing blue jeans.

"Dick thought I was just a kid, and he didn't pay much attention to me," Juanita recalled, smiling.

Later, however, they met again at a Rec Club dance, and their romance started.

Dick was a senior at Fort Hill when he entered the Navy in 1945. After a year's service, he completed his high school studies and was graduated with the class of 1947.

Juanita said she was afraid to tell Dick that she was thinking of entering the Miss Cumberland contest, but after she signed up as a contestant she called him and told him about it.

Dick's comment was, "It will be good for you. Maybe you'll stand up straighter!" On the night of the contest, he was just as nervous as Juanita was, she said.

One thing Juanita has noticed since becoming Miss Cumberland is the friendly interest which she attracts wherever she goes.

"People come up and talk to me as if they had known me for years," she said, adding with a smile, "It's wonderful!"

business."

From time to time, it was recalled here, rumors have started about prize winning numbers inside cigaret packages; saving of parts of wrappers; looking for pictures inside; and all other types of ideas which start people saving things

Tobacco men in this district emphasize the fact that "if the cigaret manufacturers introduce any such schemes as business-getters, they will spend thousands of dollars by newspaper, radio, billboard and other forms of advertising to let the public in on it."

Woman Injured In Auto Crash

A local woman was slightly injured last night when the car in which she was riding near Grantsville was struck by a car which went out of control and crashed.

Trooper Glen Folk, who investigated, said the accident occurred early last night two miles west of Grantsville on Route 40.

He said a car operated by Robert Venney, 238 Farragut Street, Uniontown, was traveling west down Negro Mountain, apparently at excessive speed, when it went out of control and struck the guard rail.

The car, he said, made a complete turn after bouncing from the guard rail and struck an eastbound car driven by Oliver M. Bell, 517 Forester Avenue, this city.

Bell, the trooper said, reported he saw the oncoming car was out of control and pulled to the far side of the road and stopped before the crash occurred.

Mrs. Beatrice Smith, Winchester Road, Cumberland, riding in the Bell car, was treated by Dr. N. R. Davis, Grantsville physician, for abrasions on the left arm.

Venney, Trooper Folk said, was charged with reckless driving and operating without a driver's license. Damage to each of the cars was estimated at about $250.

"Peeping Tom" Still Sought By Police

Ridgeley Police were reported still searching last night for a bicycle-riding "Peeping Tom" who was nearly apprehended there Friday night.

Police Chief Jesse Elkins said complaints have been received on several occasions in recent months of a "Peeping Tom" in several sections of the town.

Police reported they saw him peeping into the home of Herbert Davis, a Western Maryland Railway employe. When officers approached the youth he leaped on his bicycle and sped away through a narrow alley. The officers were within 10 feet of the youth when he escaped.

The "Peeper" was described as being about six feet tall. He was wearing a light coat and blue jeans when last seen. Chief Elkins said he is about 19 or 20, but due to the darkness, could not be recognized.

Four Escape Injury In Car Mishap

Four persons escaped serious injury last night shortly after 9 o'clock when the 1930 Model A Ford in which they were riding was forced off the highway by another machine and went into a field near the stone house on Route 50 west of Burlington, W. Va., according to Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff of the Keyser State Police barracks.

Cpl. Karickhoff identified the quartet as Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hershey, Keyser, and their two children. They were "shaken up" but not otherwise injured, he said, adding that they were examined at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Hershey was driving east at the time of the accident, Cpl. Karickhoff said. Occupants of the other machine, which was traveling in the opposite direction, were not identified. No charges were preferred.

Crash Is Reported Near Kitzmiller

Occupants of three cars involved in a crash near the intersection of Vindex Road, about three miles north of Kitzmiller yesterday at 5:30 p. m. escaped injury, Maryland State Police reported last night.

Trooper Robert Henline said a car driven by Orville Tasker, Vindex, stopped to make a left turn. The car behind him, driven by William Lohr, Oakland, also stopped but the third car, operated by Ellis Harvey, Swanton, failed to stop in time and crashed against the rear of Lohr's car.

Girl Spots Armed Men

A small girl near the cottage had spotted the armed men, however. She ran to a gas station and the owner alerted police.

Sgt. Charles Peterson, alone in a squad car, answered the alarm. As he alighted from his car a burst of machine-gun fire sent him sprawling, gravely wounded in the abdomen.

Buehl pulled up seconds later and quickly radioed for an ambulance. He also set in motion the manhunt in which 100 policemen, the airplanes and tracking dogs participated.

The gunmen were spotted speeding through Lagrange by Sgt. Howard Heinen and Lt. Joseph Glegg, of the Legrange force, each driving a police car. The bandits outdistanced Sgt. Heinen but Lt. Glegg drew near them. One robber knocked a hole in the rear window of the bandit car and sprayed Glegg's auto with machine-gun bullets. One grazed Glegg's arm, but he was not seriously hurt. He stopped and the gunmen sped on.

German Farmers Are Turning In More Food

FRANKFURT, (AP) — German farmers are turning in more food, according to Stanley Andrews, American head of the Anglo-American Food and Agriculture Department. Farmers who formerly were accused of hoarding their crops have "responded remarkably to the 'bring in more food' campaign," he says.

He says he expects "no trouble in collecting a maximum of the year's indigenous food products. This will provide 1050 calories per person per day for the 45 million Germans in the combined zone.

Food imports from ERP and other appropriated funds including dollar revenues from German exports are estimated in the current year's food budget at $819 million. Andrews says the Food Control Office aims to raise the daily normal consumer's ration.

Bernadotte's Proposals To Be Given Jews, Arabs

RHODES, June 27 (AP) — Count Folke Bernadotte said tonight his suggestions for a "basis for further discussion" for peace in Palestine will be given to Arab and Jewish leaders tomorrow or Tuesday.

The United Nations mediator for the Holy Land told newsmen that "both parties must be notified of my suggestions at the same time."

"I have asked both parties not to comment on the suggestions or publish them until I have received their answers," Bernadotte said. "After that we will decide in consultation with them when they will be published."

The United Nations Mediator said "both parties have the right to come forward with counter suggestions."

Firemen Are Called

Central Fire Company was called to Centre Street Methodist Church last night at 6:25 o'clock after the recreation center of the church filled with smoke. Firemen said someone had been rendering meat rinds on the stove and grease became overheated and began to smoke.

Motor Overheats

Central Fire Company was summoned to the Savoy Bowling Alleys, 168 Baltimore Street, yesterday at 10:40 a. m. when the motor of a refrigeration unit in the basement of the building became overheated. Firemen said there was no damage except to the motor.

Gets Second Wind

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand —(AP)—The Franz Josef glacier in the Southern Alps, which had been receding for several years, is now moving forward more than 21 feet weekly. The reason for the sudden spurt has not been determined, and snowfalls in the higher ranges have not been considered heavy enough to have had any effect.

At its present pace of three feet daily, it would take about two years for the glacier to reach the spot some 600 yards downgrade from where it began to recede in 1932.

Health Plans Pushed

PARIS—(AP)—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and Finland have signed agreements to conduct anti-tuberculosis campaigns among their children under auspices of the Danish Red Cross and the UN International Children's Emergency Fund, which hopes to examine a total of 50,000,000 youth in Europe.

Retirement Board To Act On Teacher Pensions

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 27 About 50 applications for teacher pensions will be acted on at a meeting of the State Teacher Retirement Board here Tuesday, Executive Secretary Richard E. Hyde said today.

Most of them are from persons who retired from their classrooms at the close of the school term last month. Approval of the annuity payments is usually a routine matter after necessary documents have been filed.

The board also will tabulate officially the results of state-wide balloting among teachers for a new board member. Arthur V. Upton, Harrison County school superintendent, was unopposed for reelection to the board in the balloting conducted last April.

The board will consider a large number of requests from county school systems for permission to continue employment of teachers over 65 years of age, and will act on some 2,000 applications for membership in the retirement system, Hyde said.

Willis M. Sams, chairman of the union committee, said exact terms of the back-to-work agreement will be worked out at a conference today.

Her younger brother, Robert Allen Lookabaugh, who will be 16 next month, has just completed his sophomore year at Allegany. Both her parents are employed at the Celanese plant, her father as a foreman in the textile department and her mother in the warp knitting department.

Juanita's fiance is 20-year-old Richard Lee Bucy, son of Mrs. Walter Bucy, Memorial Avenue.

Met At Football Game

They have been "going steady" since a year last May, but they first met a year before that at a football game at Fort Hill Stadium. Juanita had gone to the game with a younger girl, a cousin, and both were wearing blue jeans.

"Dick thought I was just a kid, and he didn't pay much attention to me," Juanita recalled, smiling.

Later, however, they met again at a Rec Club dance, and their romance started.

Dick was a senior at Fort Hill when he entered the Navy in 1945. After a year's service, he completed his high school studies and was graduated with the class of 1947.

Juanita said she was afraid to tell Dick that she was thinking of entering the Miss Cumberland contest, but after she signed up as a contestant she called him and told him about it.

Dick's comment was, "It will be good for you. Maybe you'll stand up straighter!" On the night of the contest, he was just as nervous as Juanita was, she said.

One thing Juanita has noticed since becoming Miss Cumberland is the friendly interest which she attracts wherever she goes.

"People come up and talk to me as if they had known me for years," she said, adding with a smile, "It's wonderful!"

business."

From time to time, it was recalled here, rumors have started about prize winning numbers inside cigaret packages; saving of parts of wrappers; looking for pictures inside; and all other types of ideas which start people saving things.

Tobacco men in this district emphasize the fact that "if the cigaret manufacturers introduce any such schemes as business-getters, they will spend thousands of dollars by newspaper, radio, billboard and other forms of advertising to let the public in on it."

Westernport Man Held Up; Trio Arrested

Robbery Occurs On Vale Summit Road

A 26-year-old Westernport Army veteran was held up and robbed early yesterday morning on the Vale Summit Road, and county authorities reported last night three men are being held in County Jail for investigation in connection with the case.

The young man, Edward Welsh, son of Mrs. Rose Welsh, Vine Street, Westernport, told authorities he left the Oriole Club in Midland about midnight after playing the piano with Jack Powers' band there, and starting hitchhiking toward the Clary Club along the Vale Summit Road.

Three men offered him a ride, he told authorities, and after driving three or four miles they stopped the car and ordered him out, forcing him to turn over his wallet, which contained about $10.

The men then searched him and took some loose change which Welsh carried in another pocket, and returned his empty wallet, Welsh said, adding that he did not know whether they were armed.

Authorities said Welsh told them the men then ordered him to "get going," and he went into the woods as they turned the car around and headed toward Midland. They seemed to be having engine trouble, he said, and in a few minutes the car again passed him, heading toward Claryville.

A passing motorist picked Welsh up and took him to the LaVale State Police barracks, where he reported the holdup. As he was leaving the barracks to try to get a ride to Frostburg, authorities said, Welsh recognized the alleged holdup car and ran back into the barracks to notify State Police, who pursued the car and arrested the occupants.

State Police said the trio denied ever having seen Welsh.

They were identified by county authorities as Charles and Earl Collins, brothers, of 18 Euclid Place, this city, and Donald Mullin, Short Gap.

Authorities said the trio will be questioned this morning at 10 o'clock in the State's Attorney's office.

Hagerstown Man Named VFW Head

HAGERSTOWN, June 27 (AP)—George Ridenour of Hagerstown was elected state commander of the Maryland Veterans of Foreign Wars at a concluding session of their convention today.

A memorial service and election of officers were the sole orders of business on the final day of the session. Yesterday, the group approved a resolution committee report opposing outlawing of the Communist party.

The Mundt-Nixon bill which so far has failed of enactment in Congress, and which would outlaw the Communists, would be "the wrong approach, to the problem," the committee report said.

Other officers elected today included:

Francis Valle of Baltimore, senior vice commander; Charles Kreatchman, Baltimore, junior vice commander; Joseph A. McLaughlin, Baltimore, judge advocate; James Duffy, Bel Alton chaplain; Reginald H. Murphy, Jr., Baltimore, quartermaster; and Dr. Floyd Carter, Bethesda, surgeon.

The retiring state commander was Charles Buscher of Silver Spring.

The drum corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Cumberland VFW, won a prize in the opening-day parade Saturday, in which some 2,000 marchers participated.

Other parade prizes went to the Hagerstown Moose Lodge Drum and Bugle Corps, the Williamsport Fire Company band and the St. James VFW Post Junior Corps.

The Weather

More than 1,200 persons swam in the Constitution Park pool here yesterday and hundreds of others sought relief from the heat in other outdoor recreation areas, as mercury climbed to 94 for the warmest day this year. The low temperature yesterday was 67 with mercury at 74 at 11 p. m. It was an ideal summer day, and only a mere trace of rain fell, not enough to record on the guage. The forecast for today is partly cloudy, continued warm, with possible thunder showers in some sections.

Kelly Wage Talks To Resume Today

Wage and contract negotiations between Local 26, United Rubber Workers, CIO, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, will be resumed this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A union spokesman said some progress was made in a negotiating session held Friday but declined to divulge figures used in the wage discussions.

The national wage increase pattern in the rubber industry is being established at 11 cents. Firestone, Goodyear and Goodrich workers have settled for that figure and negotiations between the union and the last of the "Big Four," the United States Rubber Company, are now in session in New York City.

The Goodrich agreement, signed Saturday, provided a 11 cent increase, retroactive to June 21 and effective until June 25, 1949. Three weeks vacation for workers with 15 years service is also provided.

L. S. Buckmaster, international president, said the Goodrich agreement "will afford some degree of relief to over 17,000 members in these days of inflation" and added the fact the union had reached a peaceful settlement demonstrated "the effectiveness of collective bargaining.

S. A. Outpost To Hold Bible School

The first of two Vacation Bible Schools to be conducted here by the Salvation Army will open in the Salvation Army Outpost, 511 Virginia Avenue, this morning, Major Elmer Wall, commander, announced yesterday.

Classes will be held Monday through Friday from 9:30 a. m. to 12 noon and will end with graduation exercises to be held Friday, July 2, at 7:30 p. m.

Lt. Everett Case, assistant officer of the Outpost, will be superintendent of the school and all local officers will assist in the program which will consist of regular courses of Bible study, recreation and craft work.

Mrs. Wall will be superintendent of the Bible School to be held at the Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street, July 5 through 9. Schedules to be followed will be identical to those at the Outpost.

Major Wall said registration at the Citadel will be held Friday and Saturday. He said the faculty hopes to have about 100 in attendance at the Outpost and 75 at the Citadel.

This year will mark the first time in a number of years that Vacation Bible School has been held at the Citadel.

Radio Operator Loses Race With Stork

A 29-year-old Trans-World Airline radio operator Robert Simpson, crossed and recrossed the Atlantic in 37 hours last week in a frantic effort to be on hand when his wife, the former Jeanne Sparks, Cash Valley, gave birth to a daughter.

Simpson left New York City last Sunday evening for Madrid, Spain. Upon arriving there he learned another Constellation was taking off within an hour for Washington, where the baby was about to be born.

He gave up his regular two-day rest period, switched flights with another radio operator, and was back in Washington 37 hours after leaving New York. But, all to no avail.

The baby, a girl named Nancy Diana, had beaten him by 10 hours. The father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Simpson, 342 Bedford Street, and the mother is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Sparks, Tucson, Ariz., formerly of Cash Valley, and now on a visit here with relatives and friends.

Miss Eleanor Louise Andrews, daughter of James E. Andrews, 789 Fayette Street, and the late Mrs. Mary Louise Andrews, received a bachelor of science degree in education recently at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va. She majored in public school music and was a member of the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority.

Cigaret Bands Cannot Be Redeemed For Seeing-Eye Dogs, Firms Explain

Salvage Idea Termed Unfounded Rumor

For several weeks, a number of people here have been saving the little red cellophane bands that are used to open a package of popular brand cigarets, believing they would be redeemed for a "seeing-eye" dog.

At the Court House, some of the office girls have been collecting them and one has a cigar box full. At several clubs and bars operated by fraternal organizations, each little red band is carefully salvaged and saved.

Just where these little red strips were to be redeemed seemed to be something of a mystery and since no cigaret or tobacco company had advertised any such program, the News investigated.

Major tobacco companies deny any such campaigns and say they do not know how such rumors get started.

One letter quotes, "More or less similar rumors have sprung up from time to time in other localities, sometimes with relation to this company and sometimes having to do with other companies. How they originate is impossible to say, but once they have started, they seem to spread like wildfire. Whenever such a rumor relates to our company and is brought to our attention, we always endeavor to prevent its spread, because we strongly disapprove of such methods of getting business.

"Our company does not believe in commercializing misfortune."

A similar letter from another company said, "no tobacco company would exploit the unfortunate condition of the blind to gain

Charles Bramble Named To Rent Advisory Board

Housing Expediter Makes Appointment

The appointment of Charles E. Bramble as a tenant interest representative to the Rent Advisory Board for the Cumberland Defense-Rental area by Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods has been announced by Walter R. Heath, area rent director.

Other members of the Advisory Board are David Kauffman, attorney; Ralph R. Race, Frostburg banker; William Morgan, Frostburg labor representative; W. J. Jones, and Ralph C. Beard, both local labor representatives.

The complete board includes one tenant representative, one landlord representative, and four public interest representatives. Kauffman is the landlord representative, and the others are public interest representatives.

The appointments were made from nominations received from Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., in order to effect balanced representation on the board.

The board is authorized to recommend to the housing expediter that rent controls be removed or adjusted, and to make recommendations to local rent officials on individual adjustment cases.

However, the law requires the board to give notice to the parties affected, and hold a hearing at the request of either party before making any such individual recommendations.

Heath explained the duties of the board to the members at a meeting Saturday in the club room of Central Y.M.C.A.

1948 Postal Receipts May Break Record

Postal receipts for the first four months of 1948 were 20 per cent higher than receipts of the same period last year, according to Acting Postmaster William C. McDermott.

If the current rush of business continues at the Cumberland Postoffice, a new high will be established, he declared.

In 1945 receipts hit a record total of $331,000. McDermott estimates that 1948 receipts may reach $380,000 if the present pace continues.

Greatest increase is in parcel post and advertising matter, but three additional clerks were hired this month to aid in handling postal work.

Another truck to handle parcel post and at least one more letter carrier were recommended for the Cumberland Postoffice by postal inspectors, who have just completed a city-wide survey of postal problems.

Miss Cumberland, Like Other Girls, Planning Matrimony As Her Career

Fiance Is Young Navy Veteran

Miss Cumberland of 1948, like most other girls, is planning to make matrimony her career.

Pretty, dark-haired Juanita Lookabaugh, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lookabaugh, Narrows Park, has been engaged since last September to a young Navy veteran who was graduated last year from Fort Hill High School.

"But it will probably be a couple of years before we'll be able to get married," Juanita said in an interview.

In the meantime, she hasn't made up her mind where she'd like to work, although it definitely won't be a secretarial job.

"I'd like to design clothes or do some kind of fashion work," Juanita said.

Took Sewing Courses

Her interest in clothes designing developed when she took a required course in sewing in her freshman year at Allegany High School. The advanced course was optional during the remaining three years, but Juanita continued taking sewing instruction until completing high school this month.

Cooking is something else again. She confesses that she doesn't have much aptitude for it and that she's never prepared an entire meal by herself, although she does help out in the kitchen.

Juanita comes naturally by her talent for sewing and designing clothes. Her mother made the chocolate-colored rayon gabardine suit Juanita was wearing at the interview, while Juanita herself made the trim yellow blouse which completed her costume.

The four-piece white tailored sports outfit which she made and modeled in the talent event at the "Miss Cumberland" contest held last week under the sponsorship of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce was the first suit she ever made, Juanita said.

However, she has made a number of dresses, blouses and other items for her wardrobe.

For the "Miss Maryland" contest to be held here August 2, Juanita is planning to make an entirely different costume to model in the talent event. She can't say yet exactly what the costume will be, however.

Juanita, who will observe her 18th birthday July 28, less than a week before the state finals, attended LaVale School until reaching the fifth grade, when her family resided in Bowling Green for a short time.

During that period she completed the fifth grade as a pupil at Mt. Royal School, and when the family went back to LaVale to live, she re-entered LaVale School for the sixth grade, after which she went to Allegany for junior and

Optimist Club Adopts Penny Machine Plan

Gum Devices To Aid Boys' Work Program

The Cumberland Optimist Club has adopted a nation-wide project of raising funds for their Boys' Work program, which involves the installation of penny-operated chewing gum machines in business places throughout the city and area.

According to Robert M. Arrington, Optimist president, committees, under the leadership of F. Newton Evans, chairman, are busy contacting merchants, asking them to donate one-square foot of space each, for the machines.

The club has been awarded the Ford Gum Machine franchise for this area, and profits from the machines go toward financing Boys' Work programs of the club. Throughout the country, the plan has grown rapidly and it has been approved by Optimist International as well as other service and civic clubs, Arrington said.

The plan was adopted by Junior Association of Commerce groups in various cities and has proven successful, it is claimed. Arrington said the individual merchant receives no compensation from the machine and all profits go to the club.

The only thing the merchant gets out of this program is the satisfaction that he is doing something to help underprivileged boys in the community. Profit from each machine is small, but the accumulated total makes a steady income for the club's Boys' Work committee, Arrington said.

Optimist directors declare they have investigated the plan thoroughly and in Hagerstown and other communities where it has been adopted, it has received wide endorsement and has been successful.

Each machine carries the Optimist Club emblem and a message saying, "Your Penny Helps Build Better Men from Underprivileged Boys."

Lions Installation Scheduled Tomorrow

New officers of the Cumberland Lions Club will be installed at a dinner and dance tomorrow at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Because of the installation, the Wednesday luncheon meeting of the club will not be held this week.

Just Between Us

SUMMER DAYS PRESENT ENDLESS OPPORTUNITIES FOR FAVORITE PLANS

By NANCY MOTTRAM

If you haven't boxed away your history and geometry yet, or stacked all those early morning classes and term papers in the file marked "Just Memories," that day is almost here.

When you dash out the school exit for the last time, for a while at least, you'll have no routine to be bothered with. And after all those final exams, a day or two of just plain loafing looks pretty good.

Nancy Mottram

Either you've planned to concentrate on a job this summer, or gritting your teeth, you've signed up for summer school to clear up a tense situation among you, your parents and Latin. But if you're scot free with two months at the lake, a short trip away from home, or just sitting around and soaking up the sun in your own back yard to occupy you, take advantage of the time to clear up all those little things you never had time for last winter.

With all this on your hands, you could do a few odd chores around the house yourself, and perhaps work on a couple of personal projects that can be fun and wothwhile, too. If one of your pet peeves is the way your allowance seems to evaporate into thin air, and therefore, your clothes budget just won't stretch to include even half the things you'd like, why not take up the art of the needle?

Get together with a couple of your friends who have the same problem, and do your best to learn and put your knowledge into practice. It's not hard, and you'll be pleased with the wardrobe you'll shape up for yourself. You might spend some time getting yourself in trim, too. New ideas for a different hairdo. or getting rid of a few extra pounds to go with your new look for summer. When you set out seriously to turn a toast brown, use some caution. Too much sunning or a sudden lot of swimming, tennis or hiking can be unkind to your system—and your appearance.

If your last days in high school were filled with graduation announcements, caps, gowns and a farewell to Miss Jones in chemistry, your next destination might be college. If there are books to read, or arrangements to be made, don't leave them all till the last possible minute. Contact girls you know who've had a term or two at the place you're planning to attend. Or, if you can't locate anyone from that particular place, it wouldn't be a bad idea to get a few general pointers on what you can expect in the way of social and academic life, and you won't be starting out from scratch. Those two months represent a lot of precious time. And if you put your imagination in gear, and do a little plotting and figuring, you can really make it count.

Miss Mottram wants to help with your problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Five Are Injured When Cars Crash At Intersection

Reckless Driving Charge Is Preferred

Five persons were injured early yesterday morning when the cars in which they were riding collided at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Valley Streets.

Police said the accident occurred at 12:50 a. m. when a car driven by Carl M. Pownall, 22, Springfield, W. Va., Celanese worker crashed against a car driven by James C. Miller, 44, 518 Marshall Street, a member of East Side Fire Company.

Lt. James E Van, who investigated, preferred a charge of reckless driving against Pownall who was released after he posted $16.45 bond for a hearing in trial magistrates court Wednesday morning.

Police said Pownall, driving west on Henderson Avenue, failed to observe a stop sign and collided with Miller's car which was traveling east on Henderson Avenue.

Injuries listed on the accident report included Pownall, lacerated forehead; George Williams, 28, 3 East First Street, riding with him, laceration above the left eye, and Mildred Wagoner, 24, 214 Columbia Street, a fractured nose and a broken right ankle.

Roberta I. Miller 40, 518 Marshall Street, was treated for a neck injury. Miller suffered a severe shaking up but did not require medical attention.

Police said the front of Pownall's car was damaged and the right side of Miller's car was smashed.

B & O Exhibition Train Stops Here

A Baltimore and Ohio railroad exhibition train laid over here last night for about 20 minutes, enroute from Baltimore to Chicago, Ill. where it will be shown at the big Railroad Jubilee until September 6.

Several hundred people were attracted by the train at Queen City Station here last night. The train, which included the famous Tom Thumb, William Mason, Thatcher Perkins, Lafayette and other early engines, was drawn by Engine No. 7618, a Class EM-L mallet, which was completely overhauled here for the special train.

The huge locomotive is 125 feet three and five-eighth inches long and weighs 1,010,700 pounds. It was built in 1944 and has traveled 137,500 miles hauling freight over the line.

The name of Cumberland, Maryland, will be prominently displayed on the engine before millions of spectators. This results from a requirement under federal law that all reservoirs of locomotives be stenciled with the station name or point on the railroad performing the necessary tests required by law.

All major railroads will have exhibits at the railroad show, with each line featuring its earliest, and most modern equipment.

Juveniles Held For Court Action

Two minor youths are being held in the city jail for a hearing in juvenile court and police said they will be charged with the violation of their parole as a result of damage to a bulldozer which was clearing a channel below the old canal towpath.

Police said the same boys early this month were taken to Juvenile Court after confessing they stole some $400 from the Reynolds and Mendenhall Cigar Store here.

Police said damage to the bulldozer was estimated at about $51, adding that the boys smashed most of the gauges on the vehicle.

The youthful pair also used the vehicle to damage some of the work Ray Crider, LaVale, had been doing on the towpath. Police added that the boys hooked the cable on the dozer to a tree and were trying to pull that down but were not successful.

The contractor found the damaged vehicle Saturday and notified police of the depredations.

Fulton Meyers Post To Install Officers

Fulton Meyers Post No. 153, American Legion will install officers tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the post home, North Mechanic Street. James E. Kenny, district vice-commander, will be the installing officer.

Charles E. Trimble, new post commander who succeeds Willie M. Woods, said committees will be announced and refreshments will be served.

Police Are Seeking Altar Bound Minors

City police were alerted yesterday to be on the lookout for a 15-year-old Waynesburg, Pa., girl who left her home near that city Saturday night in the company of a young man. Police were told the pair were on their way to this city to be married.

The girl, Joyce Moore, was described as five feet, two inches tall with light brown hair hanging to her shoulders. Her companion, listed as Tom Stewart, 15, five feet, five inches tall, was wearing neither coat nor hat.

Underwriters Honored

Henry K. Duke, of the Penn. Mutual Life Insurance Company, and George W. Barnard, of the Equitable Life Insurance Society of New York, have each been granted one of the life insurance profession's highest honors—the National Quality Award. It was conferred on these Underwriters jointly by the National Association of Life Underwriters and the Life Insurance Agency Management Association. Only about one out of every 20 underwriters received the award in 1948.

Charter Meeting Set Tomorrow

Cumberland residents are invited to attend a public meeting to be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the council chamber of City Hall by the Cumberland Charter Commission, according to Isaac Hirsch, chairman.

Roy W. Ash, city manager of Clarksburg, W. Va., will be present to answer questions concerning the workings of a city charter.

"We are anxious for citizens interested in their city to express their views of the proposed new charter," Hirsch stated. Letters have been sent by the commission to various city organizations, inviting them to send delegates to the meeting.

Hirsch said that the public is invited to submit written suggestions to the commission, care of Postoffice Box No. 327.

Walsh Elected Head Of State Bar Association

William C. Walsh, Cumberland attorney and former Maryland attorney general during the administration of Herbert R. O'Conor, was elected president of the Maryland State Bar Association for the coming year at the closing session of the association's annual convention Saturday in Atlantic City, N. J.

Walsh, whose father and grandfather were prominent local attorneys, served as state insurance commissioner under the late Gov. Albert C. Ritchie. He was appointed associate judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit b yGov. Ritchie in 1921 when Judge Robert R. Henderson resigned because of ill health.

Later Walsh served as chief judge and as a member of the Maryland Court of Appeals, which at that time was composed of chief judges in the various judicial circuits. He resigned as Cumberland's city attorney upon his appointment to the bench as associate judge.

When he was installed Saturday night, Walsh was escorted to the rostrum by Former Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan, this-city, and Judge Eli Frank of Superior Court, Baltimore.

Chief speaker was Gwen J. Roberts, associate justice of the United State Supreme Court.

If peace is to be secured, Roberts said, a confederacy of western democracies must be formed, with majority rule and no power of veto.

Besides Walsh and Sloan, other area residents attending the convention were Mr. and Mrs. W. Earle Cobey, William A. Gunter, Sr., Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, Leslie Clark, Albert Doub, and Rep. J. Glenn Beall (R-Allegany).

United States Attorney General Tom Clark and Governor Lane also attended the sessions.

Girl Struck By Car Remains Unconscious

Allegany Hospital attaches reported late last night that Kathleen Mullaney, 10-year-old girl who was struck by an automobile Friday on McMullen Highway near the Celanese swimming pool, has not yet recovered consciousness and that her condition remains unchanged.

The girl, who is believed to have suffered a fractured skull, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mullaney, 208 Washington Street.

Another accident victim, Mary Imes, 7, Barrelville, who was struck by a car on Barrelville Road Friday, was reported resting well and in good condition. She suffered a broken collarbone.

Memorial Hospital reported that Shirley Davis, 3-year-old Keyser, W. Va., girl who suffered cuts on the head and arms when she fell from a moving car Friday, was in good condition last night.

Parole Board Will Act On Ex-GI's Case

The Pennsylvania Parole Board will meet tomorrow to consider the case of Wilbur Eugene Baldwin, 22, Winchester Road, who was released from the Allegany County jail Saturday morning after posting $500 bond in Circuit Court.

The World War II veteran, arrested at the request of Pennsylvania authorities on a charge of violating his parole, was released pending action of the Pennsylvania authorities.

Baldwin was paroled in Pennsylvania to enter the Army. After he completed his war service he came here and married.

Local authorities are attempting to have the parole lifted, or at least transferred to Maryland probation officers, so that his home here will not be broken up. Baldwin formerly resided in Meyersdale, Pa.

Ohio Woman Dies After Car Hits Bus In Frostburg

Three Others Hurt In Terrific Crash

A 77-year-old Ohio woman was fatally injured and three other Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, persons were hurt, one of them seriously, when the car in which they were riding crashed against a C. and W. Transit Company bus in Frostburg Saturday morning.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, identified the woman as Mrs. Edna Burris, 77, of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio.

He said Mrs. Burris died yesterday morning at 6:20 o'clock in Miners Hospital as a result of a coronary thrombosis and shock suffered in the crash. Other injuries included a fracture of the upper left femur and fractures of both bones of the right leg above the ankle.

Condition Is Fair

Her granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Sterling, 25, who suffered a fractured skull, compound fracture of the right leg and cuts and bruises in the crash, was reported in fair condition yesterday in Miners Hospital.

Her son-in-law, Paul Sterling, 27, driver of the car, suffered a deep laceration below the left knee and his son, William Paul Sterling, 7, suffered a blow on the head. Their injuries were not considered serious.

Were Vacation Bound

Trooper Paul Long investigated for Maryland State Police.

Mrs. Burris, whose body was taken to Mt. Pleasant yesterday afternoon, was the widow of Edmund Burris, a general merchant in Mt. Pleasant for 51 years, was fatally injured in a fall on the ice at his home 4 months ago.

She leaves 8 children, Mrs. A. A. Mills and Mrs. A. E. Host, St. Clairsville, Ohio; Mrs. Eva Patterson, Bethesda, Ohio; Mrs. Fred Ruckman and Edmund Burris, Myrtle Beach, S. C.; Mrs. Earl Heburn, Mrs. George Haynes and Myron Burris, Mt. Pleasant, Ohio; 18 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren. She was a member of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Paul Sterling, her granddaughter, is a daughter of Mrs. Fred Ruckman.

The group was enroute to Myrtle Beach, S. C., from Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, to spend their vacation. Members of the family from Ohio also arrived here Sunday and are at the bedside of Mrs. Sterling.

Rev. Miller Speaker At Burning Of Grace Methodist Mortgage

Debt Incurred 26 Years Ago

Grace Methodist Church held a mortgage-burning service yesterday at the church. Rev. W. F. Miller, Eastport, former minister of the church, was guest speaker, assisted by Rev. Merritt Earl, Sparrows Point.

The burning service followed a litany by the minister and congregation, and was under the direction of Miss Lillian C. Compton, finance chairman of the board.

Fourteen members of various church organizations representing children, youth and adult groups, took part in the ceremony. Their colored candles were applied to a central taper and then to the suspended mortgage.

The debt was incurred 26 years ago during Rev. Miller's ministry, when the educational building of the church was started.

Rev. William F. Wright, Hagerstown, district superintendent, gave the message at the morning service, but had to return to Hagerstown before the burning service.

Those taking part in the burning were Robert Young, McKinley Dailey, John Park, Mrs. Agnes Apple, William Stevenson, Miss Gertrude Ranck, Miss Esther Beall, Jack Pierce, Miss Dolores Riggs, Joseph Kesecker, Edgar Dawson, Patricia Weaver, Robert Craze, and Mary Lee Callis.

A fellowship hour will be held in the sanctuary of the church at 8 o'clock tonight. Former ministers will recount their experiences while at Grace Church. Florian Wilson will be soloist. Following the fellowship hour, a social will be held in the junior room of the church. The WSCS will serve refreshments.

Westernport Man Held Up; Trio Arrested

Robbery Occurs On Vale Summit Road

A 26-year-old Westernport Army veteran was held up and robbed early yesterday morning on the Vale Summit Road, and county authorities reported last night three men are being held in County Jail for investigation in connection with the case.

The young man, Edward Welsh, son of Mrs. Rose Welsh, Vine Street, Westernport, told authorities he left the Oriole Club in Midland about midnight after playing the piano with Jack Powers' band there, and starting hitchhiking toward the Clary Club along the Vale Summit Road.

Three men offered him a ride, he told authorities, and after driving three or four miles they stopped the car and ordered him out, forcing him to turn over his wallet, which contained about $10.

The men then searched him and took some loose change which Welsh carried in another pocket, and returned his empty wallet, Welsh said, adding that he did not know whether they were armed.

Authorities said Welsh told them the men then ordered him to "get going," and he went into the woods as they turned the car around and headed toward Midland. They seemed to be having engine trouble, he said, and in a few minutes the car again passed him, heading toward Claryville.

A passing motorist picked Welsh up and took him to the LaVale State Police barracks, where he reported the holdup. As he was leaving the barracks to try to get a ride to Frostburg, authorities said, Welsh recognized the alleged holdup car and ran back into the barracks to notify State Police, who pursued the car and arrested the occupants.

State Police said the trio denied ever having seen Welsh.

They were identified by county authorities as Charles and Earl Collins, brothers, of 18 Euclid Place, this city, and Donald Mullin, Short Gap.

Authorities said the trio will be questioned this morning at 10 o'clock in the State's Attorney's office.

Hagerstown Man Named VFW Head

HAGERSTOWN, June 27 (AP)—George Ridenour of Hagerstown was elected state commander of the Maryland Veterans of Foreign Wars at a concluding session of their convention today.

A memorial service and election of officers were the sole orders of business on the final day of the session. Yesterday, the group approved a resolution committee report opposing outlawing of the Communist party.

The Mundt-Nixon bill which so far has failed of enactment in Congress, and which would outlaw the Communists, would be "the wrong approach, to the problem," the committee report said.

Other officers elected today included:

Francis Valle of Baltimore, senior vice commander; Charles Kreatchman, Baltimore, junior vice commander; Joseph A. McLaughlin, Baltimore, judge advocate; James Duffy, Bel Alton chaplain; Reginald H. Murphy, Jr., Baltimore, quartermaster; and Dr. Floyd Carter, Bethesda, surgeon.

The retiring state commander was Charles Buscher of Silver Spring.

The drum corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Cumberland VFW, won a prize in the opening-day parade Saturday, in which some 2,000 marchers participated.

Other parade prizes went to the Hagerstown Moose Lodge Drum and Bugle Corps, the Williamsport Fire Company band and the St. James VFW Post Junior Corps.

The Weather

More than 1,200 persons swam in the Constitution Park pool here yesterday and hundreds of others sought relief from the heat in other outdoor recreation areas, as mercury climbed to 94 for the warmest day this year. The low temperature yesterday was 67 with mercury at 74 at 11 p. m. It was an ideal summer day, and only a mere trace of rain fell, not enough to record on the guage. The forecast for today is partly cloudy, continued warm, with possible thunder showers in some sections.

Kelly Wage Talks To Resume Today

Wage and contract negotiations between Local 26, United Rubber Workers, CIO, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, will be resumed this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

A union spokesman said some progress was made in a negotiating session held Friday but declined to divulge figures used in the wage discussions.

The national wage increase pattern in the rubber industry is being established at 11 cents. Firestone, Goodyear and Goodrich workers have settled for that figure and negotiations between the union and the last of the "Big Four," the United States Rubber Company, are now in session in New York City.

The Goodrich agreement, signed Saturday, provided a 11 cent increase, retroactive to June 21 and effective until June 25, 1949. Three weeks vacation for workers with 15 years service is also provided.

L. S. Buckmaster, international president, said the Goodrich agreement "will afford some degree of relief to over 17,000 members in these days of inflation" and added the fact the union had reached a peaceful settlement demonstrated "the effectiveness of collective bargaining.

Radio Operator Loses Race With Stork

A 29-year-old Trans-World Airline radio operator Robert Simpson, crossed and recrossed the Atlantic in 37 hours last week in a frantic effort to be on hand when his wife, the former Jeanne Sparks, Cash Valley, gave birth to a daughter.

Simpson left New York City last Sunday evening for Madrid, Spain. Upon arriving there he learned another Constellation was taking off within an hour for Washington, where the baby was about to be born.

He gave up his regular two-day rest period, switched flights with another radio operator, and was back in Washington 37 hours after leaving New York. But, all to no avail.

The baby, a girl named Nancy Diana, had beaten him by 10 hours. The father is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Simpson, 342 Bedford Street, and the mother is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Sparks, Tucson, Ariz., formerly of Cash Valley, and now on a visit here with relatives and friends.

Miss Eleanor Louise Andrews, daughter of James E. Andrews, 789 Fayette Street, and the late Mrs. Mary Louise Andrews, received a bachelor of science degree in education recently at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va. She majored in public school music and was a member of the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority.

Cigaret Bands Cannot Be Redeemed For Seeing-Eye Dogs, Firms Explain

Salvage Idea Termed Unfounded Rumor

For several weeks, a number of people here have been saving the little red cellophane bands that are used to open a package of popular brand cigarets, believing they would be redeemed for a "seeing-eye" dog.

At the Court House, some of the office girls have been collecting them and one has a cigar box full. At several clubs and bars operated by fraternal organizations, each little red band is carefully salvaged and saved.

Just where these little red strips were to be redeemed seemed to be something of a mystery and since no cigaret or tobacco company had advertised any such program, the News investigated.

Major tobacco companies deny any such campaigns and say they do not know how such rumors get started.

One letter quotes, "More or less similar rumors have sprung up from time to time in other localities, sometimes with relation to this company and sometimes having to do with other companies. How they originate is impossible to say, but once they have started, they seem to spread like wildfire. Whenever such a rumor relates to our company and is brought to our attention, we always endeavor to prevent its spread, because we strongly disapprove of such methods of getting business.

"Our company does not believe in commercializing misfortune."

A similar letter from another company said, "no tobacco company would exploit the unfortunate condition of the blind to gain

Charles Bramble Named To Rent Advisory Board

Housing Expediter Makes Appointment

The appointment of Charles E. Bramble as a tenant interest representative to the Rent Advisory Board for the Cumberland Defense-Rental area by Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods has been announced by Walter R. Heath, area rent director.

Other members of the Advisory Board are David Kauffman, attorney; Ralph R. Race, Frostburg banker; William Morgan, Frostburg labor representative; W. J. Jones, and Ralph C. Beard, both local labor representatives.

The complete board includes one tenant representative, one landlord representative, and four public interest representatives. Kauffman is the landlord representative, and the others are public interest representatives.

The appointments were made from nominations received from Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., in order to effect balanced representation on the board.

The board is authorized to recommend to the housing expediter that rent controls be removed or adjusted, and to make recommendations to local rent officials on individual adjustment cases.

However, the law requires the board to give notice to the parties affected, and hold a hearing at the request of either party before making any such individual recommendations.

Heath explained the duties of the board to the members at a meeting Saturday in the club room of Central Y.M.C.A.

1948 Postal Receipts May Break Record

Postal receipts for the first four months of 1948 were 20 per cent higher than receipts of the same period last year, according to Acting Postmaster William C. McDermott.

If the current rush of business continues at the Cumberland Postoffice, a new high will be established, he declared.

In 1945 receipts hit a record total of $331,000. McDermott estimates that 1948 receipts may reach $380,000 if the present pace continues.

Greatest increase is in parcel post and advertising matter, but three additional clerks were hired this month to aid in handling postal work.

Another truck to handle parcel post and at least one more letter carrier were recommended for the Cumberland Postoffice by postal inspectors, who have just completed a city-wide survey of postal problems.

Miss Cumberland, Like Other Girls, Planning Matrimony As Her Career

Fiance Is Young Navy Veteran

Miss Cumberland of 1948, like most other girls, is planning to make matrimony her career.

Pretty, dark-haired Juanita Lookabaugh, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lookabaugh, Narrows Park, has been engaged since last September to a young Navy veteran who was graduated last year from Fort Hill High School.

"But it will probably be a couple of years before we'll be able to get married," Juanita said in an interview.

In the meantime, she hasn't made up her mind where she'd like to work, although it definitely won't be a secretarial job.

"I'd like to design clothes or do some kind of fashion work," Juanita said.

Took Sewing Courses

Her interest in clothes designing developed when she took a required course in sewing in her freshman year at Allegany High School. The advanced course was optional during the remaining three years, but Juanita continued taking sewing instruction until completing high school this month.

Cooking is something else again. She confesses that she doesn't have much aptitude for it and that she's never prepared an entire meal by herself, although she does help out in the kitchen.

Juanita comes naturally by her talent for sewing and designing clothes. Her mother made the chocolate-colored rayon gabardine suit Juanita was wearing at the interview, while Juanita herself made the trim yellow blouse which completed her costume.

The four - piece white tailored sports outfit which she made and modeled in the talent event at the "Miss Cumberland" contest held last week under the sponsorship of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce was the first suit she ever made, Juanita said.

However, she has made a number of dresses, blouses and other items for her wardrobe.

For the "Miss Maryland" contest to be held here August 2, Juanita is planning to make an entirely different costume to model in the talent event. She can't say yet exactly what the costume will be, however.

Juanita, who will observe her 18th birthday July 28, less than a week before the state finals, attended LaVale School until reaching the fifth grade, when her family resided in Bowling Green for a short time.

During that period she completed the fifth grade as a pupil at Mt. Royal School, and when the family went back to LaVale to live, she re-entered LaVale School for the sixth grade, after which she went to Allegany for junior and

Gum Devices To Aid Boys' Work Program

The Cumberland Optimist Club has adopted a nation-wide project of raising funds for their Boys' Work program, which involves the installation of penny-operated chewing gum machines in business places throughout the city and area.

According to Robert M. Arrington, Optimist president, committees, under the leadership of F. Newton Evans, chairman, are busy contacting merchants, asking them to donate one-square foot of space each, for the machines.

The club has been awarded the Ford Gum Machine franchise for this area, and profits from the machines go toward financing Boys' Work programs of the club. Throughout the country, the plan has grown rapidly and it has been approved by Optimist International as well as other service and civic clubs, Arrington said.

The plan was adopted by Junior Association of Commerce groups in various cities and has proven successful, it is claimed. Arrington said the individual merchant receives no compensation from the machine and all profits go to the club.

The only thing the merchant gets out of this program is the satisfaction that he is doing something to help underprivileged boys in the community. Profit from each machine is small, but the accumulated total makes a steady income for the club's Boys' Work committee, Arrington said.

Optimist directors declare they have investigated the plan thoroughly and in Hagerstown and other communities where it has been adopted, it has received wide endorsement and has been successful.

Each machine carries the Optimist Club emblem and a message saying, "Your Penny Helps Build Better Men from Underprivileged Boys."

Lions Installation Scheduled Tomorrow

New officers of the Cumberland Lions Club will be installed at a dinner and dance tomorrow at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Because of the installation, the Wednesday luncheon meeting of the club will not be held this week.

Just Between Us

By NANCY MOTTRAM

If you haven't boxed away your history and geometry yet, or stacked all those early morning classes and term papers in the file marked "Just Memories," that day is almost here.

When you dash out the school exit for the last time, for a while at least, you'll have no routine to be bothered with. And after all those final exams, a day or two of just plain loafing looks pretty good.

Nancy Mottram

Either you've planned to concentrate on a job this summer, or gritting your teeth, you've signed up for summer school to clear up a tense situation among you, your parents and Latin. But if you're scot free with two months at the lake, a short trip away from home, or just sitting around and soaking up the sun in your own back yard to occupy you, take advantage of the time to clear up all those little things you never had time for last winter.

With all this on your hands, you could do a few odd chores around the house yourself, and perhaps work on a couple of personal projects that can be fun and wothwhile, too. If one of your pet peeves is the way your allowance seems to evaporate into thin air, and therefore, your clothes budget just won't stretch to include even half the things you'd like, why not take up the art of the needle?

Get together with a couple of your friends who have the same problem, and do your best to learn and put your knowledge into practice. It's not hard, and you'll be pleased with the wardrobe you'll shape up for yourself. You might spend some time getting yourself in trim, too. New ideas for a different hairdo, or getting rid of a few extra pounds to go with your new look for summer. When you set out seriously to turn a toast brown, use some caution. Too much sunning or a sudden lot of swimming, tennis or hiking can be unkind to your system—and your appearance.

If your last days in high school were filled with graduation announcements, caps, gowns and a farewell to Miss Jones in chemistry, your next destination might be college. If there are books to read, or arrangements to be made, don't leave them all till the last possible minute. Contact girls you know who've had a term or two at the place you're planning to attend. Or, if you can't locate anyone from that particular place, it wouldn't be a bad idea to get a few general pointers on what you can expect in the way of social and academic life, and you won't be starting out from scratch. Those two months represent a lot of precious time. And if you put your imagination in gear, and do a little plotting and figuring, you can really make it count.

Miss Mottram wants to help with your problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Five Are Injured When Cars Crash At Intersection

Reckless Driving Charge Is Preferred

Five persons were injured early yesterday morning when the cars in which they were riding collided at the intersection of Henderson Avenue and Valley Streets.

Police said the accident occurred at 12:50 a. m. when a car driven by Carl M. Pownall, 22, Springfield, W. Va., Celanese worker crashed against a car driven by James C. Miller, 44, 518 Marshall Street, a member of East Side Fire Company.

Lt. James E Van, who investigated, preferred a charge of reckless driving against Pownall who was released after he posted $16.45 bond for a hearing in trial magistrates court Wednesday morning.

Police said Pownall, driving west on Henderson Avenue, failed to observe a stop sign and collided with Miller's car which was traveling east on Henderson Avenue.

Injuries listed on the accident report included Pownall, lacerated forehead; George Williams, 28, 3 East First Street, riding with him, laceration above the left eye, and Mildred Wagoner, 24, 214 Columbia Street, a fractured nose and a broken right ankle.

Denzil Largent, Romney, W. Va., posted $5 bond early yesterday morning for a hearing today on a charge of careless driving preferred by city police.

B & O Exhibition Train Stops Here

A Baltimore and Ohio railroad exhibition train laid over here last night for about 20 minutes, enroute from Baltimore to Chicago, Ill. where it will be shown at the big Railroad Jubilee until September 6.

Several hundred people were attracted by the train at Queen City Station here last night. The train, which included the famous Tom Thumb, William Mason, Thatcher Perkins, Lafayette and other early engines, was drawn by Engine No. 7618, a Class EM-L mallet, which was completely overhauled here for the special train.

The huge locomotive is 125 feet three and five-eighth inches long and weighs 1,010,700 pounds. It was built in 1944 and has traveled 137,500 miles hauling freight over the line.

The name of Cumberland, Maryland, will be prominently displayed on the engine before millions of spectators. This results from a requirement under federal law that all reservoirs of locomotives be stenciled with the station name or point on the railroad performing the necessary tests required by law.

All major railroads will have exhibits at the railroad show, with each line featuring its earliest, and most modern equipment.

Juveniles Held For Court Action

Two minor youths are being held in the city jail for a hearing in juvenile court and police said they will be charged with the violation of their parole as a result of damage to a bulldozer which was clearing a channel below the old canal towpath.

Police said the same boys early this month were taken to Juvenile Court after confessing they stole some $400 from the Reynolds and Mendenhall Cigar Store here.

Police said damage to the bulldozer was estimated at about $51, adding that the boys smashed most of the gauges on the vehicle.

The youthful pair also used the vehicle to damage some of the work Ray Crider, LaVale, had been doing on the towpath. Police added that the boys hooked the cable on the dozer to a tree and were trying to pull that down but were not successful.

The contractor found the damaged vehicle Saturday and notified police of the depredations.

Fulton Meyers Post To Install Officers

Police Are Seeking Altar Bound Minors

City police were alerted yesterday to be on the lookout for a 15-year-old Waynesburg, Pa., girl who left her home near that city Saturday night in the company of a young man. Police were told the pair were on their way to this city to be married.

The girl, Joyce Moore, was described as five feet, two inches tall with light brown hair hanging to her shoulders. Her companion, listed as Tom Stewart, 15, five feet, five inches tall, was wearing neither coat nor hat.

Underwriters Honored

Henry K. Duke, of the Penn. Mutual Life Insurance Company, and George W. Barnard, of the Equitable Life Insurance Society of New York, have each been granted one of the life insurance profession's highest honors—the National Quality Award. It was conferred on these Underwriters jointly by the National Association of Life Underwriters and the Life Insurance Agency Management Association. Only about one out of every 20 underwriters received the award in 1948.

Charter Meeting Set Tomorrow

Cumberland residents are invited to attend a public meeting to be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the council chamber of City Hall by the Cumberland Charter Commission, according to Isaac Hirsch, chairman.

Roy W. Ash, city manager of Clarksburg, W. Va., will be present to answer questions concerning the workings of a city charter.

"We are anxious for citizens interested in their city to express their views of the proposed new charter," Hirsch stated. Letters have been sent by the commission to various city organizations, inviting them to send delegates to the meeting.

Hirsch said that the public is invited to submit written suggestions to the commission, care of Postoffice Box No. 327.

William C. Walsh, Cumberland attorney and former Maryland attorney general during the administration of Herbert R. O'Conor, was elected president of the Maryland State Bar Association for the coming year at the closing session of the association's annual convention Saturday in Atlantic City, N. J.

Walsh, whose father and grandfather were prominent local attorneys, served as state insurance commissioner under the late Gov. Albert C. Ritchie. He was appointed associate judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit b yGov. Ritchie in 1921 when Judge Robert R. Henderson resigned because of ill health.

Later Walsh served as chief judge and as a member of the Maryland Court of Appeals, which at that time was composed of chief judges in the various judicial circuits. He resigned as Cumberland's city attorney upon his appointment to the bench as associate judge.

When he was installed Saturday night, Walsh was escorted to the rostrum by Former Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan, this city, and Judge Eli Frank of Superior Court, Baltimore.

Chief speaker was Gwen J. Roberts, associate justice of the United State Supreme Court.

If peace is to be secured, Roberts said, a confederacy of western democracies must be formed, with majority rule and no power of veto.

Girl Struck By Car Remains Unconscious

Allegany Hospital attaches reported late last night that Kathleen Mullaney, 10-year-old girl who was struck by an automobile Friday on McMullen Highway near the Celanese swimming pool, has not yet recovered consciousness and that her condition remains unchanged.

The girl, who is believed to have suffered a fractured skull, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mullaney, 208 Washington Street.

Another accident victim, Mary Imes, 7, Barrelville, who was struck by a car on Barrelville Road Friday, was reported resting well and in good condition. She suffered a broken collarbone.

Memorial Hospital reported that Shirley Davis, 3-year-old Keyser, W. Va., girl who suffered cuts on the head and arms when she fell from a moving car Friday, was in good condition last night.

Parole Board Will Act On Ex-GI's Case

The Pennsylvania Parole Board will meet tomorrow to consider the case of Wilbur Eugene Baldwin, 22, Winchester Road, who was released from the Allegany County jail Saturday morning after posting $500 bond in Circuit Court.

The World War II veteran, arrested at the request of Pennsylvania authorities on a charge of violating his parole, was released pending action of the Pennsylvania authorities.

Baldwin was paroled in Pennsylvania to enter the Army. After he completed his war service he came here and married.

Local authorities are attempting to have the parole lifted, or at least transferred to Maryland probation officers, so that his home here will not be broken up. Baldwin formerly resided in Meyersdale, Pa.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, identified the woman as Mrs. Edna Burris, 77, of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio.

He said Mrs. Burris died yesterday morning at 6:20 o'clock in Miners Hospital as a result of a coronary thrombosis and shock suffered in the crash. Other injuries included a fracture of the upper left femur and fractures of both bones of the right leg above the ankle.

Condition Is Fair
